

Index
To
The First Four Numbers of The Classical Journal
1869

Sas.
Librarian

Uttarpara Joykrishna Public Library
Govt. of West Bengal

INDEX

TO

THE FIRST FORTY NUMBERS

OF

The Classical Journal.

---

*. * The Roman numerals refer to the vol. and the Arabic to the page.

---

A, in Greek, when lengthened, is the most sonorous of the vowels, xi.

320.

Aaron's Rod, miracle of, xviii. 301.

Abbé du Bos, iv. 24. Sallier, iv. 475. Laire, iv. 479.

Abbott, Ld. Chief Justice, Prize Lat. Poem of, xviii. 391.

Abbreviations, on the Roman, iii. 225. v. 370. vii. 248. viii. 353. xii. 209.

———, instance of, ix. 38.

Abel, Adam's Elegy on the death of, xx. 394.

Aben Ezra, iii. 175, 389.

Ablative Case, have the Greeks one? xi. 148.

Abou Taleb Khan, Ring of, i. 65.

Abresch, a commentator on Æschylus, i. 21.

Absolute cases of the Greeks, xi. 146.

——— case, Jones on the, x. 388.

Abuschal Language, ten numerals of the, iv. 109.

Abyssinians, Hebrew descent of the, xii. 293. Language of the, 302.

Academia, on the quantity of its penultimate, xi. 221.

Academic Errors, notice of, xix. 290.

Académie des Inscriptions, Prix proposés par l', xvii. 207.

Accent and Quantity, difference of, i. 579.

———, affinity of, to music, iii. 82.

Ind. Cl. Jl.—Suppl. to No. XL.

Accentibus, de, v. 369.

———, de, Novi Testamenti, xv. 39.

———, Scaliger, xix. 191.

Accents, Essay on Greek, i. 357, 567, 843.

———, necessity of the knowledge of, v. 348.

———, rules of, by Lambert Bos, vi. 338.

———, utility of, ix. 41.

———, on Hebrew, ix. 401.

———, on Greek and Latin, xi. 72, 259. xii. 304. xiii. 124. •

——— and Metre, on Greek, iii. 476.

——— and Spirits generally introduced into MSS. about the 9th century, xi. 74. This opinion combated, xi. 76. Rules of Latin, 79.

Used by the Romans to denote quantity, 81, 84. Not particularly mentioned by Aristotle, 73.

Accorees, deformity of the, x. 243.

Achard, iv. 483.

• Acharnenses' of Aristophanes, remarks on the, i. 716. Bentley's Emendations of, xii. 360.

Achastlian language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 117.

Acheen language, iv. 349.

the Shield of, Sir William Drummond's Remarks on, vi. 6. viii. 409.

———, on, xix. 305.

———, Course of, a place so called, xiii. 21.

—, his body ransomed by the Greeks, xiii. 25.

Acridophages, miserable and singular death of, xii. 72.

• Acta, actare, ἀκτῆ, ἀκτάζω, —Barker on the words, ix. 320.

Actiacâ, de Inscriptione, auctoribus Boissonade et Dobree, xvii. 366.

Actian War, Fragment of a Poem on the, xix. 185.

• Action, Eastern mode of expressing sentiment by, iii. 141.

———, on the language of, vii. 142.

———, on the Principles of, among men, vi. 86. ix. 70.

• 'Actito,' 'actus,' with a long, from ago, xi. 81. •

Actors, on the number of, in the ancient Drama, viii. 433.

Acts of the Apostles, xvii. 21. Concio ad Clerum, from the, x. 43.

Adam, Dr. iii. 162. Roman Antiquities of, iii. 325. iv. 427. •

• Adam's Elegy on the Death of Abel, xx. 394.

Addington's, Mr., Prize Essay, iii. 219.

Addison's violations of the Rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 294.

———, Latin Inscription on, vi. 203. Notes on his translation of Ovid, vii. 240. Spectator of, iii. 6, 11. Lat. Essay of, on the Rom.

Elegiac Poets, ix. 346. Discourse of, on ancient and modern Learning, • xi. 229. Error of, respecting the decline of the Fine Arts, xi. 362.

- Adelphi of Terence, Westminster Prologue and Epilogue to the, xx. 383.
 Adelung, M., Mithridates of, v. 7. History of the Teutones, id.
 ———, on a universal Lexicon, xi. 68.
 Admiration defined, ix. 70.
 'Admonita Locorum,' Lat. vers. xv. 364.
 Adnotationes in quædam Horatii Loca, vi. 145.
 'Adolescens,' on, as synonymous with Juvenis, i. 473.
 Adonis the same as Osiris, xiv. 166.
 Adrian's Address to the departing Spirit, Gr. translation of, by Stevens, viii. 21.
 Adulari, on the expression, x. 386. xi. 297. xiii. 426. xv. 147.
 Adultic Inscription illustrated, i. 85.
 Adverbs, Gr., superlative degree in us very rare, ix. 58.
 ———, derived from adjectives, from what case formed, xiii. 75.
 Adversaria, notice of Porson's, xi. 329.
 Adversaria Litteraria, ix. 37, 583. x. 165, 172, 399. xi. 173, 358. xii. 209, 450. xiii. 196, 438. xiv. 381. xv. 131, 362. xvi. 183, 395. xvii. 204, 453. xviii. 198. xix. 185, 359. xx. 201, 387.
 'Adversariorum Criticorum Specimen,' notice of, viii. 389.
 'Advocate, the,' answered by Mr Bellamy, xviii. 219. xix. 6.
 Æetes, founder of the city Æa, xiii. 33.
 'Ægyptus,' Cambridge Tripos, 1803, xvi. 381.
 Ælianus, Emendationes in, xiii. 455. xiv. 289. xv. 359. xviii. 139.
 Æneas, the adventures of, fabulous, v. 17.
 ———, his possessions shared by the Greeks, xiv. 45.
 Æneid, 1758. comment on, xviii. 232.
 Ænigma, by Lord Byron, xviii. 198.
 Ænigmata Latina, xii. 214.
 Æolian dialect, ix. 365.
 Æschines, coincidence between, and Cambden, xii. 165.
 ——— corrected, xii. 202.
 Æschyl, in Cantus Chonicos, iv. 459. v. 10.
 ———, var. Lectiones, e MS. Emerici Bigot, xvii. 178.
 ———, e MS. Bibliotheca Publ. Cantabr. xvii. 340.
 ———, MS. No. 1, x. 100.
 Æschylus, commentators on — Porson, i. 17. Stanley, 18. Pauw, 19. Heath, 21. Giacomelli, 21. Abresch, 21. Schutz, 22. Bothe, 23. Canter, H. Stephens, Turnebus, Robertellus, Aldus, 23.
 ———, Philological Notes on, by Muller, i. 25. Praise of, iv. 180.
 ———, on the Philosophical sentiments of, xi. 207.
 ———, Notes on, by Porson, vii. 456. viii. 181.
 ———, Schutz's, notice of, by Porson, vii. 280. viii. 15

INDEX TO THE FIRST

- Æschylus, a MS. of the Persæ of, remarks on, i. 57. De Metris Æschyleis Tentamen, i. 643. Remarks on the Supplices of, i. 461, 801. iv. 154. Emendationes in Supplices, iii. 183, 414.
- , explained, Æv. 31, 33. illustrated by Husche, viii. 285.
- , on the Prometheus of, iii. 271. iv. 208. 33. xvii. 30. Metre restored to a passage in this play, xi. 63. Emend. of a passage, vii. 451.
- , Agamemnon of, illustrated, xi. 332.
- , Chœphoræ of, on a passage in the, vi. 221.
- , Septem contr. Thebas of, Barker's notes on, vii. 398. viii. 91.
- , Blomfield's, Strictures on, vi. 197. vii. 169, 398. viii. 91.
- On a verse in, viii. 347.
- , Butler's edition of, critical notice of, i. 16, 461. Arrangement of, i. 24.
- , Prof. Porson's Notes on, x. 114.
- , Emendations of, x. 162.
- , Blomfield's Edition of, notice of, v. 299. xi. 186, 318. xii. 90.
- , on the Epodes of, xi. 242. xii. 344.
- 'Æsopi Lucerna,' Lat. Epigr. xviii. 196.
- Æsop's Fables, xi. 220.
- Æsthetici Critici, xvii. 141.
- Æthiopic Lexicon, republication of an, viii. 336.
- Affections of the heart, vii. 8.
- Afghan Language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, iv. 107.
- 'Afræ benignitas,' Lat. verses, x. 339.
- Africa, extent of, iii. 22.
- Afridun, xv. 13. Fictitious history of, xvi. 89.
- Agamemnon of Æschylus, curious passage in the, i. 430. On a verse in, viii. 347.
- Agamemnon called Jupiter, and vice versâ, a mode of ancient flattery, xiv. 23.
- , Homer's account of his death different from that of the Tragedians, xiii. 37.
- Agapæ, on the nature of the early Christian, vi. 197. vii. 169.
- Age, old, on the respect paid by the ancients to, iii. 142, 319.
- of the Vestal virgins, xv. 200.
- Aggar, meaning of the word, xv. 198.
- Agra, i. 898.
- Agriculture, on, Oxford prize Essay, by Coplestone, v. 145.
- Agrirentum, time of its foundation, xi. 351.
- Agrippina, Nero's suspicions of, x. 1.
- Agutter's Sermon on Dr. Johnson, noticed, x. 368.
- Ahmet's Account of the Hermesians, and their ceremonies, i. 61.
- Aikin, Dr., Tacitus, i. 584. iii. 165. iv. 92.

- Ajaces, Emendationes in Sophoclis, xv. 371.
 Ajalon, derivation of the word, vi. 327.
 Alabastrum in Scripture, ix. 264.
 'Alarico Roma spoliata,' Oxf. Lat. Prize Poem, i. 121.
 Albert Durer, distich to, by Gaspard, xi. 180.
 'Albion, identified with the Hyperborean isle of Diodorus, iii. 176, 247.
 Alcaic Metre, observations on, iv. 79. xiv. 361. xv. 105, 221. xvi. 49.
 ——— verse of Horace, Essay on the, xi. 351.
 ——— Lat. verse, Rhythm of, xv. 234.
 Alchoder, xv. 13.
 Alchymy, on the antiquity of, by Thomas Taylor, xx. 75.
 Alcibiades, on the character of, xiv. 279.
 Alcutian Language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, iv. 113.
 Aldine Pindar, Preface to the, v. 171.
 Alexæ, de Ludo, v. 67.
 Alexander the Great, the Macedonian Lion, xiii. 2.
 Alexandra of Lycophron, on the, v. 113.
 Alexandri Itinerarium, notice of, xix. 374.
 Alexandria Troas, Inscription at, iv. 406.
 Alexandrie, Inscription sur la grande Colonne d', xiii. 152.
 'Alexandrine' verses, its derivation, x. 173.
 Alexis, coincidence between, and Locke, xiii. 165.
 ———, Epitaph on, Greek and English, iii. 234.
 'Alfader,' on, a god of the Goths, xiii. 413.
 Algebra unknown to the ancients, xvi. 155. Were the Egyptians acquainted with it? xvii. 27.
 Algebraic problem by Prof. Porson, i. 736. Solutions of, v. 201, 222, 411.
 Algerdi, iv. 27.
 Algernon Sidney, terminating passage in, compared with Tacitus, i. 120.
 Alison on taste, quotation from, i. 756.
 Allegory, scriptural, opinions of Origen, Aristobulus, Philo, and St. Austin, on, xviii. 229.
 Allen's English Grammar, notice of, vii. 318.
 Alliteration, Greek, Latin, and French, ix. 588.
 Alphâbet, Hebrew, iv. 404.
 Alphabeti Græci varîæ formæ, ix. 182. Origo, 220.
 Alphabetical distribution of words, its comparative utility, x. 193.
 Alphabets, on ancient, by Hammer, i. 61.
 ———, Greek, Hodgkin's Tables of, ix. 411.
 Alta vox, on the expression, x. 398. xii. 168. xiii. 424. xv. 145.
 Alterations of words, which occur in the old translations of the Bible, xviii. 154.

INDEX TO THE FIRST

- Althænus River, ablutions in the, xiv. 35.
 Amabæan Idyllia, on the, xx. 124.
 Amatory Latin Poets, Addison's remarks on a proposed version of the, ix. 349.
 Amelia, Poem on the death of the Princess, iii. 194.
 America, extent of, iii. 21. Whence peopled? v. 373. Obstacles to the prosecution of British discoveries there, vi. 183.
 ' American War,' Prize Greek Ode, Cambridge, x. 164.
 ' Amicitia, de,' Collatio Msti., from Barker's edition, iv. 301.
 ———, Barker's edition, additional notes to, vi. 155, 274.
 ———, Barker's edition of, noticed, v. 188, 421.
 Amico Neo, fábula Phædriana, iv. 489.
 Anianus Marcellinus, description of the Silk Worm from, iii. 296.
 ——— explained, xii. 212.
 Ammon, Dr., v. 6.
 Amœnitates Criticæ et Philologicæ, auctore Barker, xvi. 109.
 Amos, cap. 3. vers. 6, i. 301.
 Amphibrachys, the foot, effeminate and mean, xi. 123.
 Amphictyonic Council, on the, xi. 149.
 Amphiloehus, priest of Apollo, the death of, xiv. 2.
 Amphoræ, found at Pompeii, xv. 325.
 Amy Gertrude, Lat. Epitaph on, i. 82.
 An, aliquid violentum sit diuturnum? an detur in naturâ rerum absoluta quies? quicquid recipitur ad molum recipientis, recipiatur? quicquid recipitur, ad molum recipientis recipiatur? xv. 362, 363.
 Anacoluthon, on the figure, xvii. 206.
 Anacreon, on the Metres of, iii. 31, 60. iv. 196, 280. v. 174.
 ———, ode of, illustrated, vi. 94.
 ———, notice of Schäfer's edition of, xii. 27.
 ——— quoted, xv. 105. xvi. 225.
 ———, coincidence between an Ode of, and a passage of the Song of Solomon, xviii. 34.
 Anagramma Epiphonematicum ad Regem, x. 33.
 Analecta Critica in Anthologiam Græcam, Curâ Huschke, notice of, viii. 281.
 ———, Brunck's, Index to the three vols. x. 115.
 ——— Literaria, published by Professor Wolf, xviii. 204.
 Analogy, philological, dangerous reliance on, xi. 304.
 ———, definition of, xii. 171.
 Analyse du Premier Tome du Pausanias, xiii. 316.
 Analysis of Man's Active Principles, vi. 80.
 Anapest foot, grave and majestic, xi. 123.

- Anaxagoras on the Greek deities,, xiv. 115. Sketch of his Life and Philosophy, xvii. 173.
- Anaximander, Sketch of the Life of, xvii. 173.
- Anaximenes, —————, xvii. 174.
- Ancient Commerce, on, by Dr. Vincent, iii. 60.
- Customs, xi. 347.
- Geography, Walckenaer on, v. 24. xvi. 237.
- Ancients, in what Arts excelled by the Moderns, i. 439, 681.
- , their opinion of the Earth, v. 102. Destitute of a knowledge of Chemistry, 102. Their superior enjoyment of their own Writers, xi. 235. Their superior skill in Rhetoric and Composition, 236. Advantage accruing to their compositions from the desuetude of their language, 237, 239.
- , on the philosophical notions of the, xvi. 20. Their knowledge of Astronomy, xvi. 151. xvii. 20.
- , on the perfidy of the, xi. 7.
- , on the philosophical doctrines of the, xvi. 20.
- , Poetical Metres of, iii. 79.
- Andriam, Prologus ad, v. 157. Epilogus ad, 158.
- Andronicus Rhodius quoted, xvi. 304.
- Anecdote from Sir J. Carr's Travels in Spain, xvii. 349.
- Angelo, Michael, Inscription by, xiv. 386.
- Angerianus, xv. 61.
- Anglo-Saxon Language, iv. 349. Ten numerals of the, idem.
- Agora, the city described, ix. 634. Shawls of, id.
- Animadversiones in Longinum, iii. 64.
- Ruhnken, in Xenophontis Memorabilia, iii. 444.
- Animal that tempted Eve, remarks on the, v. 94.
- Animals, sagacity of, in discovering water, ix. 48.
- Anka, a fabulous Arabian Bird, viii. 281.
- Annales Encyclopédiques, announcement of, xv. 380
- Annius, John, anecdote of, xvi. 141.
- Annius Viserbensis, his forgeries, xvi. 131, 140.
- Announce de Xenophon, par M. Gail, xv. 175.
- Anonymi Epigrammata, xiii. 439.
- Anstey, Trin. Coll. Dublin, notice of Prize Poem by, xviii. 64.
- Answer to Mr. Bellamy, on Hebrew Points, xii. 77.
- to Dr. Crombie's Remarks on the Notice of the Gymnasium, xiii. 423.
- to a late book written against Dr. Bentley, ix. 173, 349. x. 209. xi. 155.
- to the Defence of Dr. Clarke's Hebrew Criticism and Poetry, iv. 168.

- Answer to the Bishop of St. David's, by Mr. Bellamy, xiii. 226.
 Antar, a Bedouin Romance, notice of, xix. 182.
 'Antea,' 'Antehac,' derivation of, xv. 346.
 Antediluvians, whether the Arts can be supposed to have been cultivated by the, xviii. 299.
 Anthologia Græca, i. 661.
 ——— Græca, Translat. from, by Gray, xii. 173.
 Anthologiæ tria Epigrammata correctæ, xix. 189.
 Anticipations of futurity in Epic Poetry, on, i. 305.
 Anti-deist, Mr. Bellamy's, notice of, xx. 206.
 Antigone of Sophocles, notes on the, xvii. 52.
 Anti-jacobin Review, Reply to the, v. 422.
 Antimacho, diatribe de, iv. 231.
 Anti-Maurus, on Latin Metre, xii. 10.
 Antipater, Epigram by, xv. 28.
 Antipathies, remarks on, vi. 257.
 Antique ring discovered by Mr. Smith, iv. 128. Drawing of, id. An account of, 490. Remarks on, 540.
 ———, remarks on an, v. 177.
 Antiquities discovered, iii. 487.
 ———, iv. 240, 490. v. 262.
 ——— of Henna, on the, v. 24.
 ———, on Egyptian, by Drovetti, vii. 316.
 ———, on Marathonian, x. 196.
 ———, on Greek, xiii. 213.
 ———, Eastern, xx. 352.
 Antiquus on Bibliography, vi. 391.
 Antoninus Liberalis, notice of Teacher's edition of, vii. 285.
 Anville, D<sup>s</sup>, iii. 115.
 Apocrypha, Books of the, xvi. 123.
 Apollinaris, iv. 418.
 Apollo, on the Epithets applied to, xii. 115.
 ——— Belvidere, iv. 246.
 Apollodorus, Bentley's restoration of, xi. 179.
 Apollonius Rhodius, Porson's unpublished Notes to, xviii. 370.
 ——— quoted, xvi. 166.
 Apologia Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, auctore J. Juellio, xii. 456. xiii. 183.
 Appendix to China of the Classics, v. 252. vi. 204.
 Appetites, observations on the, vi. 255.
 Appian, Remarks on, iv. 89. Quoted, xvi. 323.
 Application, not prejudicial to the health, xv. 207.
 Ara vestæ, xv. 129.
 Arabian Poem, i. 68.

- Arabian anecdote, viii. 280. Tales, originally Persian, xii. 259. Forgery, instance of,
- Arabic Language, Ten numerals of the, iv. 106. Do. of Morocco, do. ibid. On the, (its excellence and antiquity,) iv. 320. iv. 348. xix. 344.
- MS., ancient, ix. 600. Proverbs, x. 294. Syntax, xii. 194.
- Arabs, various sects amongst the, viii. 232.
- Ararat, description of Mount, ix. 639.
- Arati Diosemea, Notæ in, xiv. 368. xvii. 46. xviii. 19. xix. 84.
- ———, conjecture upon a passage in, xviii. 236.
- Araucanians, Polygamy allowed by the, ix. 217.
- Araxes, source of the, ix. 637.
- Arbitrary visible signs, i. 429.
- Arcadians, their assumption of the wolf's form by magic, xiv. 4.
- Arcadius Grammaticus MS., Extract from, xv. 165.
- ———, Remarks on Extr. from, xv. 310.
- Archæologia Græca, Potter's, remarks on, xi. 143.
- Archæology, attention of the German Litterati to, v. 8.
- Arches, use of, known among the ancients, xvi. 184.
- Archidamus, xv. 297.
- Archilochi, de fragmentis, xv. 216. xvi. 223.
- Archipelago, antiquities of the islands of the, v. 262.
- Archon's Biblical Criticism, viii. 270.
- Areopagus, observations on the foundation of the, vi. 15.
- ———, power of the, impaired, xvii. 111.
- Arætaeus' description of fever, commentary on, xx. 242.
- Arætin, Baron, vi. 213.
- Argenteus Codex, new discoveries made in the, xvii. 207.
- Argo, ship, built of Dodona oak, xiv. 48.
- Ariosto, anecdote of, ix. 39. Compared with Euripides and Milton, xviii. 238.
- Arisba, daughter of Teucer, xiv. 47.
- Aristenæus quoted and emended, ix. 599.
- Aristides and Themistocles, xvii. 103. xviii. 7.
- Aristophanes, remarks on, by Seager, i. 496, 704.
- ———, on the date of 'The Clouds' of, vi. 135.
- ———, Preface to the Editio princeps of, vi. 143.
- ———, Brunck's, notes on, by Porson, vii. 92.
- ———, Edit. Knivoel, notice of, vii. 410.
- ———, illustrated by Huschke, viii. 286.
- ———, passages in the 'Aves' and 'Equites,' illustrated, vi. 222.
- Emendations of, by Dr. Bentley, xi. 131, 248. xii. 104, 352. xiii. 152, 336. xiv. 130.
- ———, 'The Clouds' of, Prof. Voss on, xiv. 276.
- ———, explanation of a passage in, relative to Cleon, xviii. 237.
- Ind. Cl. Jl.*—Suppl. to No. XI.

- Aristophanes, praise of, iv. 180.
- Aristophanis, Commentarius de Carminibus, xiii. 33, 369. xiv. 225. xv. 286. xvi. 33. xviii. 336. xix. 125, 315.
- Arist. Quintilianus quoted, xvi. 101.
- Aristotelis Pepli fragmentum, xiv. 172. Epitaphia, 176.
- Aristotle, on, i. 226, 425, 766. iii. 41, 42, 151. The advice of, iii. 224.
- , on a passage in the Poetics of, xiii. 47.
- quoted, xv. 23. xvi. 345. vindicated, xvi. 7, 290. xvii. 115, 125. xviii. 334. Characteristics of his Philosophy and style, xvii. 116. Monuments of, 155. Translation of the Ode of, on military heroism, 157. On the Organon of, 127. On the Philosophy of, 330. Definitions of, admirable, xvi. 7. Ode of, 308. His opinion of the creation, v. 374. Portraits of, xvii. 155. Most of the moderns, detractors of, were ignorant of his doctrine, xviii. 333. xix. 31: for instance, Lord Bacon, 31. Malebranche, 34. Sir Isaac Newton, 39. Locke, 45.
- successively proscribed and extolled by the Academy of Paris, xviii. 335.
- on the order of the Attic Month, ix. 332.
- Aristoxenus, iii. 33.
- Ark, furniture of the, vi. 333. On the tradition that it is on the top of Mount Ararat, ix. 639.
- Armenia Major, on the climate of, ix. 636.
- , conjectures on its being the original Eden, xvii. 4.
- Armoric Language, on the, as connected with the Cornish, xvii. 446.
- Arnon of Moses, situation of the, xiv. 69.
- Arreones at Otaheite, x. 257.
- Arrian's Periplus, vindication of the translation of, xv. 317.
- quoted, iv. 42.
- Arrows, analogy of, with serpents, xiv. 27.
- Ars poetica of Horace, remarks on the, vii. 83.
- , interpolated passages in the, ix. 526.
- Arsis, ix. 375. On the, of Terentianus Maurus, iii. 42.
- Arteries, thought by Erasistrates to be void of blood, xviii. 17.
- Article, on the usage of the Greek, ix. 481. xi. 144. xiii. 201. Examples of, xiii. 186.
- definite in the Egyptian language, xv. 3.
- , the restricted use of the, not found in Homer, xi. 144. Not necessary to the infancy of a language, 144. Applied to proper and appellative nouns, importing substances, 145. As denoting country, profession, &c., should be added to the qualifying term, and not to the name, 145. Distinguishes unity of species from individual multitude, and species from undetermined individuals, 145. Distinguishes between subject and predicate, ib. Refers to an object with emphasis, and associates the subjects of discourse, ib. Placed with substantives, adjectives both before and after substantives, with pronouns, with the infinitive of verbs, to which it gives a substantive meaning, ib. With participles, with indeclinable particles, ib. Its absence a disadvantage in Latin, 146.

Article, use of the English, in translating from the Hebrew, ix. 248.

Arts, 'What are the arts, in the cultivation of which, the moderns have been less successful than the ancients?' Oxford Prize Essay, Whateley, i. 439.

—, on the, with reference to public education, viii. 442.

Arundo, on the, in the Scriptures, ix. 139.

Asclepiades, ignorance and artifices of the sect of, xviii. 7.

Ashbridge's Prize Essay, Cambridge, iv. 179.

Ashe's Travels in America quoted, xiv. 241.

Ashton praised by Wakefield, v. 238.

Asia, extent of, iii. 21.

— Minor, antiquities of, v. 264.

Asiatic Researches, vols. 6 and 7. Critique on, v. 237.

— Turkey, travels in, i. 221.

Asinine worship of Jews and Christians, observations on the calumnies of Tacitus respecting, iv. 48.

Asonas of Theophylact, vii. 319. Reply to an article on, viii. 90.

Aspasia, on her connection with Pericles, xii. 418.

Asphaltitus Lacus, etymology of the name, xviii. 9.

Ass, remarks on the, vi. 122. a common food about Edom and Ishmael, vi. 325.

Assiouti on the Khalif of Egypt, vii. 214.

Association of ideas, passages in various poets explained by the doctrine of, vii. 393.

Ast, iv. 144.

Astonishment defined, ix. 70.

Astronomy of the ancients, xvi. 151. xvii. 20.

—, history of, i. 695.

Astyanax, i. 760.

Atchekui, on its situation, ix. 607, 609.

Athenæum, extract from the, on the labors of Porson, ix. 286.

Athenæus corrected, xii. 203. quoted, xv. 31, 34.

Athenians, respect paid by the, to old age, iii. 319. on the πίστοις of the, xi. 149. on the character of the, xiii. 314. and Lacedæmonians, comparison between, 315.

Athenian Stewart, i. 12. Courtezan, story of, iii. 229.

Atheniensium, de publicis moribus, vi. 359.

Athens, i. 898.

- Atlantic ocean, ancient belief of a continent to the West of Africa, viii. 3.
 Atrabilius, on the etymology of, ix. 128.
 Atrium vestæ, xv. 26.
 Atterbury, Bp., his share in the Oxford controversy, ix. 522.
 Attfield, iv. 401.
 Attic poets, iv. 515.
 Atticisme imaginaire, xviii. 156.
 Attonitus, in Juvenal, meaning of, xv. 20.
 Attributes of God, in the Pagan system, xviii. 75.
 Auctores veteres, observationes Heinrichii in, xi. 10.
 'Audax,' on, taken in a good sense, x. 397. xv. 145. its sense, xii. 168.
 Augusti, M., Professor, v. 7.
 Augustinus Anton. quoted, xvi. 140.
 Aulus Gellius, iii. 145. Judicious remark of, v. 27.
 Ausonius, new reading of, proposed, xviii. 238.
 Austrian ambition, x. 173.
 Authenticity of a verse in Homer, on the, xvi. 186.
 ———, on the, of 'the Travels of two Mahometans,' x. 333.
 ———, ———, of the Bible, v. 266.
 Authors, ancient and modern, Remarks on observations on, ix. 90, 229.
 Authorized version of the Scriptures, query with regard to the, ix. 591.
 Aves of Aristophanes, Remarks on the, by Seager, i. 708.
 ———, Emendations of, ———, xiii. 336.
 Aves Aristophanæ, vi. 222.
 Avibus, ex-præsagia, xviii. 23.
 Avieni Codicis Collatio, iv. 120. v. 108.
 Avienus Festus, Poem of, vi. 148, 295. Notes on part of his poem, iii. 136.
 Avienus, the numerous fishes of, described, vi. 150.
 'Avium,' not compossible into two syllables, ix. 343.
 'Axi,' derivation of, xiv. 61.
 Axiomata de raritate Librorum, xiii. 199.
 Axum, on the inscription at, i. 83. iii. 117.
 Axuma, Commerce of, how carried on, xii. 68.
 Ἀγγελοι, different significations of, i. 100. Singular use of, vii. 161.
 Ἀγγιστεύων, ix. 216.
 Ἀθωρ, on the Deity, vi. 30.
 A: and α frequently commuted, xii. 159.
 Αἰσθημα, philosophical meaning of the word, xviii. 363.
 Ἀκανθαι, thistles, ix. 137.
 Ἀκτῆ, xiii. 406.

- Babylonian inscription, i. 57.
 Babylonians, their knowledge of astronomy, xvii. 21.
 Bacchius, the, possesses dignity and gracefulness, xi. 123.
 Bacchus, ode to, in the Anthologia, xiii. 81.
 Bacchylides, metrical arrangement of a fragment of, i. 436.
 ' Bachelors' Prizes' at Cambridge, account of, xvi. 313.
 Bacon, Roger, i. 191, 743.
 Bacon, iv. 189. Education of, viii. 446. On the philosophical doctrines of, xvi. 13, 288. On the great attainments of, ib. On the style of, 298. Pope's false estimate of the character of, 300. Coincidence between him and Plutarch, xiii. 166; and Denham and Pope, 168. On the philosophy of, xvii. 115. Unacquainted with the Greek philosophy, 114, 335; and ignorant of the philosophical writings of Aristotle, xviii. 340. xix. 31.
 Bailey's Essay on Hieroglyphics contains expressions of doubtful Latinity, xvii. 352. Remarks on, xvi. 313.
 Bailey, Mr. J., iv. 57, 62, 123. Prize Greek Ode, iv. 52. Critique on, 120.
     — Epigrams, — 62.
 Baius, pilot to Ulysses, xiv. 16.
 Bajazid, account of the city of, ix. 640.
 Balaam, on Mr. Bryant's Criticism on the character of, vi. 321. On the character of, reply to Sir Wm. Drummond's remarks, xiv. 65.
     Observations on this reply, 337.
 Bandinell's Sermon before the University of Oxford, i. 112.
 Banga, ten numerals of the language of, iv. 107.
 Bangnaalim, meaning of the word, xv. 200.
 Baptism, on Hebrew, viii. 120.
 Barbaries puritanica, ix. 4.
 Barbarous words objected to in Bacon, xvi. 293.
 Barcelona, inscriptions at, x. 331.
 Barclay, Latin style of, ix. 47. Satyricon of, i. 194.
 Bardic Letters and Alphabet, xi. 3.
 Bards of the ancient Gauls, xii. 55.
     —, ancient, their honorable functions, xiv. 354.
 Barker, Mr. E. H., prize epigrams, i. 10. On passages of Tacitus, 581. On passages of Demosthenes, 582. On Pagan Trinities, iii. 125. iv. 89. Remarks on the Prometheus of Æschylus, and on Blomfield's edition of it, iii. 271. iv. 209, 425. v. 299. Emendation of a passage in Justin, and explanation of a passage in the Prometheus, iv. 33. Illustration of Scripture, iv. 465. On the howling of dogs, v. 73. Remarks on Illustrations of Homer, 135. His edition of Cicero's treatises noticed, 188, 424. Letter to Mr. Maurice on Pagan Trinities, 241. His Appendix to Patrick's China of the Classics, 252. vi. 204. English phrase

- illustrated, v. 296. Illustration of Tacitus, 358. Reply to Sidneyensis on the syntax of τοθι, 377. Additional notes to Cicero's treatises, vi. 155, 274. Biblical criticism, vi. 1, 34. Vindication of Hesychius, 190. On Blomfield's Æschylus, 197. Criticism on Monk's Hippolytus, 347. Observations on Dr. Vincent's China of the Classics, vii. 32. On the meaning of 'nubere', 118. On the language of action, 142. On the singular use of the word ἄγγελος, 161. On a Scottish review of his edition of Cicero's Tracts, 175. On Blomfield's Æschylus, 169. On a mistake of Mr. Blomfield, 166, 453. On Mr. Monk's edition of the Hippolytus, 206. viii. 81. Notes on Æschyli S. c. Thebas, vii. 398. viii. 91. On the meaning of 'ruere' in the Latin poets, 129. On books illustrative of the Bible and the Classics, 135. On the Platonic use of κινδυνεύειν, 275. Notice of Schæfer's Thesaurus Criticus Novus, 351. On the construction of 'Marte', and the etymology of 'equidem', 353. Illustrations of Tacitus, ix. 101. On Monk's Hippolytus, 133. Horace, illustrated by Euripides, 281. On the words 'acta, actare, ἀκτῆ, ἀκτᾶζειν,' 320. On the use of ἀν and δὲ, x. 21. On Nestor Novarenius, 54. Classical Criticism, 58. On Burges's notes, on Blomfield's ditto, 58. Vindication of a note in Cato Major, 306. On the meaning of the word παχία, xi. 38. On Revelations I, 18. 92. Illustration of Æschylus and emendation of Ovid, 332. Illustration of a passage in Cato Major, xii. 73. Epistle to Gaisford, 169, 325. On the primitive signification of μῦθος and βλῆτον, 367. Epistle to Schæfer, 393. xiv. 294; to Gaisford, xiii. 381. xiv. 285. xv. 216. xvi. 217. Extract from Arcadius Grammaticus MS., xv. 165, 310. Remarks on Kuster on the middle verb, 304. 'Amœnitates Criticæ et Philologicæ,' xvi. 109, 375. On M. Gail's Researches, xvii. 170. Epistle to Gaisford, 323. On the origin of the term 'middle' applied to verbs, xviii. 157. Epistle of M. Gail to Mr. B. on a passage in Theocritus, 351. An error of Mathias noticed, xx. 321.
- Barmecides, murder of the, ix. 459.
- Barnes, Joshua, Catalogue of the works of, xiii. 362. His Franciad, xii. 262.
- Barron's Oratio Norvicensis, x. 108.
- Barrow's Chinese Travels, quotation from, i. 514, 797. Travels in Africa, 606. Letter of, on the China of the Classics, vi. 207.
- Barrow, Mr., iii. 298, 346. iv. 183, 489.
- Barrow's, Dr. Isaac, distich upon the restoration of Charles II. xii. 455.
- Barrow's Lat. poetry, on, x. 29.
- Barrows of the Troad, xvi. 66.
- Barthelemy, suppositions of, v. 50, 51, 52. Quoted, xv. 252.
- Bartolozzi's Venus, xii. 262.
- Basil, Epitaph on, by St. Gregory, ix. 130.
- Basque Grammar, iv. 266.

- Bathe, M., v. 14.
 Bathos, on, xii. 179.
 Bâtieiz, tumulus of, ix. 626.
 Batman, iv. 146.
 Batta, ten numerals of the language of, iv. 110.
 Battie's Translation from 'Euripidis Hecuba', xi. 227.
 Bauddhists, the idolatry of the, xv. 94.
 Bauer, M., v. 5.
 Bayeri Dissertatio de Scytharum sedibus, x. 258.
 'Bdellium' of the Bible, on the, xvii. 273.
 Beattie's, Dr., Essay on Laughter referred to, i. 242.
 ——— i. 780. iii. 14. Latin inscription on, ix. 132.
 Beck, M., iv. 11.
 Becker, M., v. 11. vi. 319.
 Beckius, iii. 354. iv. 142.
 Beckman, iv. 165.
 Beddoes' poem on fictitious air applied to Consumption, xvii. 165.
 Bell, Mr., i. 798, 811. iv. 34, 247.
 Bell's translation, from the German, of the Stream of Time, iv. 247.
 Bellamy, Mr., on Miss Smith's Book of Job, i. 162. Biblical Criticism, i. 299, 742. vii. 221. xii. 237. xv. 190. On Dr. G. Clarke's Hebrew criticism and poetry, 624, 850. Answer to the Defence of, iv. 168. On Sir William Drummond's Essay on a Punic Inscription, iii. 198. On Dr. A. Clarke's Bible, iii. 462. iv. 307. v. 75. Ophion of, notice of, iv. 240. On the integrity of the Hebrew text, v. 61. Review of Reviewers of Ophion, 418. Defence of his biblical criticisms, vi. 160. On the biblical criticisms of, by Hailes, vii. 68. On Hebrew points, and the Hebrew text, viii. 374. ix. 395. Answer to Mr. Bellamy on ditto, x. 268. xi. 442. xii. 77. Essay of, on Hebrew points, ix. 408. x. 268. Answer of, to the Bishop of St. David's, xiii. 226. On the proposal of, for a new version of the Scriptures, xi. 107. On the Remarks on Sir William Drummond's Dissertation on Genesis 49th, xii. 149. On the specimen of his new translation of the Bible, xvii. 221. Anti-deist of, xx. 206. On the Observations of the Quarterly Review on, xix. 233.
 Bells, on the use of, among the eastern nations, i. 809. Among the Greeks, 812.
 Beloe's Anecdotes of Literature, iv. 471. Recommended, i. 171. Referred to, 173. Herodotus, 583, 607.
 'Belvidere Apollo, The,' Millman's Oxf. Pr. Poem, vi. 142.
 Bencii Præfatio in Senecam, vi. 139.
 Bencius, Franciscus Matthæo Contarello, ib.
 Bennet Langton, Greek Letter of, xv. 375.

Bentham, iii. 147.

Bentley, Dr., Life of, v. 276. Catalogue of Books of, in the British Museum, 432. Callimachus of, reply to observations on, vii. 101. Not the author of the edition of Callimachus, v. 287. Highly spoken of, vi. 289. On the Callimachus of, ix. 35, 409. On a late book written against, 173, 349. x. 209. xi. 155. xii. 128, 370. Defended from a charge of plagiarism, ix. 520. Letter of, to the Rev. Mr. Gordon, x. 171. Plan of, for an incorporate Varior. Greek Lexicon, 179. On literary forgeries, xvi. 123. Restoration of Apollodorus, xii. 179. and Dawes, their merits discriminated, xi. 131. Epistle of, to Grævius, xvii. 204. Two letters of Evelyn to, xviii. 200. Chronology of Horace's works, xvii. 206. Judgment on Markland's Horace, xvii. 13. On the character of, in a letter to the Bishop of Oxford, xx. 357. Mentioned, iii. 44. iv. 190, 290, 515. Two epistles of, to T. Hemsterhusius, xii. 157, 438. Short Summary of his Life, v. 276.

Bentleii Emendationes in Silium Italicum, iii. 381. Emendationes in varios auctores, xiii. 244. Emendationes in Aristophanem, xi. 131, 248. xii. 128, 370. xiii. 132, 336. xiv. 130. Emendationes in Ovidium, xix. 168, 258.

———, Richardi, orationcula, ix. 315

Bentleiani Horatii notæ, xviii. 126.

Benwell's Latin Pr. Poem, i. 120. Pr. English Essay, 681. Mentioned, iii. 320.

Berio Francisca Maria, i. 161.

Bernardin St. Pierre quoted, xv. 89.

Bernardum, ad, Edv. Pearsoni Literæ, xvii. 285.

Beroot, on the Inscription at, by Holt Oke, viii. 185.

Berresford's Cambridge Pr. English Poem, xiv. 153.

Beza, Inscription by, on Erasmus, x. 173.

Bhaughulpoor conjectured to be the Palibothra, xvii. 322.

'Bible, The,' iii. 483. v. 128.

———, on the authenticity of, v. 266. On, v. 129. That it contains the most ancient records extant, 372. Inference drawn from it, 373.

———, translation of some obscure passages in, iv. 1. New translation of, expediency of a, xiii. 226. Various opinions respecting ditto, 234. On Mr. Bellamy's new translation of, xviii. 151. Whether its text is come down to us perfect, 153, 209. Opinions in favor of a new translation of, 211. Marginal references to, necessary for the understanding of, 274. Archbishop Secker on a new translation of, xx. 188, 225.

———, on Dr. A. Clarke's, iii. 462. Reply to various Critiques on the, 423. Mr. Bellamy on the, 462. iv. 307. Remarks on some of Dr. A. Clarke's Annotations on the, iv. 307.

Ind. Cl. Jt.—Suppl. to No. XL.

Bible, notice of Hewlett's, iv. 251. On Messrs. Mant's and D'Oyley's, xiii. 237.

—, on the Vulgate, of 1450, 1455, iv. 471.

—; on the Hebrew, viii. 114.

Bibles, Greek, MSS. of, viii. 453.

Bible Society, commendation of, iv. 351, 440. Account of the progress of the, xvi. 194. Proceedings of the, with respect to the publishing the Scriptures in various languages, xx. 400.

Biblia Polyglotta Britannica, iv. 493.

Biblica Seria, vi. 320.

Biblical Criticism, i. 299, 323, 759, 869, 885. iii. 109, 166, 195, 198, 235, 284, 484. iv. 273, 422. v. 60, 86, 186, 245, 309. vi. 1. 34, 331, 344, 395. vii. 49, 67, 122, 140, 221, 289, 355, 437. viii. 25, 95, 120, 161, 270, 412. ix. 48, 137, 149, 182, 188, 246, 262, 305, 479, 483. xi. 286. xii. 193, 237, 247, 293, 436. xiii. 189, 365, 417. xiv. 56. xvii. 152, 413. xviii. 278. xx. 322.

Biblical MSS., xviii. 255.

— Intelligence, iv. 253. vi. 213, 216.

— Literature, Researches of the German Literati with respect to, v. 1.

— Synonyma, vii. 202. ix. 214. x. 228. xii. 67. xiv. 241.

Biblicus on Hieroglyphics, i. 549.

Bibliographical Intelligence, ix. 417. Topography, xi. 326.

— Decameron, notice of, xi. 372. Prospectus of, xiv. 397.

Bibliography, iv. 239, 251, 455. v. 287, 432. vi. 391. viii. 454. ix. 260, 411. x. 316. xv. 220. xx. 209, 389.

— of the middle of the 17th century, xx. 88.

Bibliomania, Dibdin's, notice of, iv. 499.

Bibliotheca Classica, notice of, viii. 178.

— Gossettiana, viii. 471.

Bignan's Lat. Pr. Poem, xvii. 453.

Bigot, e codice, variæ Lection. in Æschylum, xvii. 178.

Biographical Memoir of Griesbach, x. 295. Of Mr. Lunn, xii. 220.

'Biography,' Oxford Pr. Essay, xix. 90.

Bion and Moschus, Inscription on a blank leaf of, presented to the national library at Paris, x. 342.

Bion, on the pastoral poems of, xx. 127.

Bionem, in, Bentley emendationes, xiii. 249.

Biscayan Language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 107. Mariana's account of the, vi. 4.

Bird, belief of the ancients respecting a mighty, in existence before the creation, v. 375.

Birds, oriental superstition relative to, viii. 280.

Birth days, how celebrated by the Persians and Chinese, xii. 69.

- Bithynia, Gulf of, adjoining country of the, ix. 638.
 Blair's Grave, i. 281.
 Blair's, Dr., opinion of the origin of pastoral poetry controverted, xvii. 77.
 Blank verse, Essay on, vii. 442.
 Blayney, Dr., iii. 254, 259.
 Bletterie, la, iii. 159.
 Blenheim Gardens, an Inscription on an Ionic Temple in, i. 521. Remarks on, 897.
 Blonfield, E. V., prize poems of, i. 1, 398, 403.
 Blomfield, C. J., Remarks on the Prometheus of, iii. 171. iv. 209, 425.
 Barker's critical notice of ditto, v. 299. On his edit. of the Prometheus, iii. 76, 286. iv. 33, 459, 515. Barker on the Æschylus of, vii. 169. A mistake of, noticed, 166. On the Æschylus of, viii. 91. Anticipated in a conjecture by Matthiæ, vi. 392. On his derivation of the word ἰκον, ix. 114. Strictures on the Sept. cont. Thebas, vii. 398. viii. 91. On an observation of, vii. 453. On the Persæ of, xi. 186. Strictures on ditto by Barker, 318. xii. 90. On the formation of adverbs, xiii. 75.
 Blondellus de Episc. xvii. 274.
 Blood, Thilil Uasa, or 'The Price of Blood,' ix. 260. Supposed to be the food of Demons, xiii. 288.
 'Blot and Bleak,' ix. 128.
 Blunt's Cambridge Pr. Ode, x. 93.
 'Boadicea,' Cambridge Pr. English Poem, x. 87.
 Boats made of reeds and Egyptian Papyrus, xii. 70.
 Buccacio, origin of the Decameron of, ix. 140.
 Bochart, iii. 169. iv. 266.
 Bodley's, Sir Thomas, Letter to Bacon, xvi. 13.
 Bodily characteristics often hereditary, x. 243.
 Bodleian Library, its excellence, xvi. 5.
 Bodæus quoted, xv. 35.
 Bœckh, Professor, iv. 141.
 Bœhme, M. v. 5.
 Bœttiger, M. v. 9, 11.
 Bœtyli, or sacred stones, anointed, ix. 217.
 Boethius, the excellence of his moral tenets, xviii. 80.
 Boetius, iii. 57.
 Boerner, iv. 479.
 Bohemian Language, iv. 349. Ten Numbers of the, 112.
 Bohte's Catalogue of Classical Books, xli. 233.

- Boissonade, M., sur la vie de M. Larcher, x. 130. De Inscriptione Actiacâ, xvii. 366. In Eliacam Inscriptionem, xx. 285. Marinus of, notice of the, xi. 334. His edit. of Tiberius Rhetor. et Rufi ars Rhetor. xii. 198.
- Boktë on the Founders of the Druses' religion, vii. 213.
- Boldness of metaphors in Horace, xv. 72.
- Bolingbroke, Ld., where educated, ix. 4.
- Bombara, Ten Numerals of the language of, iv. 118.
- Bond's Horace and Persius, on the merits of, x. 316.
- ' Bonus', ' Malus', applied to bodily strength, xv. 24.
- Booth, Barton, Epitaph on, viii. 443. Educated at a public school, ib.
- Boothroyd, Mr., on his new edition of the Hebrew Bible, viii. 386.
- Bornou and Cashna Languages, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 118.
- Bos, Lamberti, Dissertatio de Etymologiâ Græcâ, i. 862. De Accentibus, vi. 338.
- Bos, Abbé du, iv. 24.
- Bossuet, anecdote of, ix. 39.
- Botany Bay, i. 889.
- Bothe, a commentator on Æschylus, i. 23. iv. 147.
- Botheus, iii. 288.
- Bottiger's Commemoration Odes, xix. 77.
- Bouquet's Greek Poem, 1713, xi. 241.
- Bourbon, Epitaph on the Poet, ix. 41.
- Bournabashi, observations on the hill of, ix. 605.
- Bourne's, Vincent, Epitaphs, excellence of, xiii. 353. Translation of the ' Suicida' of, xv. 366.
- Boustrophedon, i. 657.
- Bowl, wooden, miraculous attribute of a, x. 233.
- Bowles, Rev. W. L. Lat. Pr. Poem by, i. 195.
- Bowyer quoted, xv. 305. Notes on Callimachus by, xvi. 165. Dissertation - by, xvii. 135. Life of, notice of, ix. 251.
- Boxhorn, iv. 447.
- Boyd, on a verse in Æschyl. Chæph. viii. 347. Heliodorus, ib. Critical Remarks on Racine, viii. 50. Edition of Gregory Nazianz. Epigr. viii. 31. Illustration of Gregory's Epitaph, ix. 130. On the Greek Article, ix. 481. On the Greek Fathers, ix. 87. Biblical Criticism by, ix. 479.
- Brachia, lacerti, as synonymous terms, xii. 169.
- Bradstreet's, Mr., error concerning Horace's Villa, xvi. 384.
- Brain, on the, by Gall and Spurzheim, x. 180.
- Brebes, or Shilhi, language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, 106.
- Bredow, Prof., v. 14. vi. 313, 314.
- Brent, a statement of, proved to be incorrect, vi. 31. Biblical Criticism, v. 309. A mistake of, corrected, vii. 49.

- Bretschneider, M. C. G., v. 4.
 Brett, Dr., on University degrees, f. 824.
 Breyer, vi. 315.
 Bride cake, distribution of, probable origin of the custom, v. 315.
 Britain, on the etymology of, xiii. 411.
 'Britanniarum Rex,' on the Title of, i. 192.
 Britannis, quantity of the first syllable, ix. 340.
 British Review, iv. 463.
 ——— Critic, notice of 'Q. Horatii Opera' extracted from, v. 161, 336.
 vi. 97, 279.
 British Museum, iii. 434. MSS. in the, xii. 262. Report of the Trustees relative to Dr. Burney's library, xvii. 429.
 British Language, on the ancient, xvii. 437. xix. 221.
 British Islands, asserted by the Scholiast in Lycophron to be the islands of the blest, xiv. 41.
 British Government, its model among the ancient Germans, xii. 64.
 'Britons, The,' of the Classics, iv. 44. Ancient, mythology of, derived from the Phœnicians, xiii. 421.
 Britones, on the quantity of the first syllable, xviii. 232.
 Bronstedt, M., xv. 303.
 Brotherhood, law of, in Peru, xiii. 308.
 Brotier, iii. 159, 162.
 Broukhusii Jani, adnotationes in quædam Horatii loca, vi. 143.
 Brown on the laws of comedy, and the comic writers, i. 484. On 1 Tim. iii. 16. xii. 247.
 Brown's, Dr., Oration before the Marquess of Huntley, xiv. 126. Epitaph on Prof. Beattie, ix. 132.
 Brown, Sir F., query with regard to a plant mentioned by, ix. 340.
 Browne, J. Hawkins, his violation of the rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 295.
 Browne's, Sir William, on, medals at the University of Cambridge, v. 121. xii. 191.
 Browne, Mr., on accents, i. 571.
 Bruce, Mr., i. 83. iii. 174. On the descent of the Abyssinians, xii. 297
 Brucker, xvi. 280.
 Brunck's Transcript, i. 561. Aristophanes, Porson on, v. 136. Analecta, index to the three volumes, x. 115. Anacreon, Schæfer's edition of, xii. 27. Sophocles, Burney's notes in, xx. 198.
 Bruntonam, in, e Grantâ exituram, i. 281.
 Bryant, Mr., i. 523, 897. The opinion of, respecting the site of ancient Troy, disputed, v. 14. Inscription on a leaf in the Lucretius of, 174. Account of the Shield of Achilles, noticed, vi. 6. Biblical works of, edited by Sir William Drummond, vii. 289. Character of, v. 15. English

- translation of, of a passage in the Hippolytus, xii. 112. On the Geography of Scripture, xiv. 70. On the hypothesis of, respecting the site of Troy, xv. 328. xiv. 411. Hypotheses of, and of Mr. Faber reconciled, xix. 65.
- Buchanan's violation of the rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 291. Epigram by, xv. 214.
- Buchanan Prize Poem, by Grant, v. 317. On the Buchanan Roll of the Pentateuch, viii. 11.
- , Dr., iii. 62. iv. 333. Eastern MSS. of, xvii. 86. xviii. 18, 251.
- Buddhism little different from Patriarchism, xix. 73.
- Bullom and Timmanee Languages, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 351.
- Bull, superstitious reverence of the, vii. 203.
- Bull-fights and feasts, on, v. 102.
- Bullenger, Jul. Cæs., de Ludis Veterum, v. 67.
- Bunarbashi, springs of, xviii. 145.
- Buonaparte, i. 233. Application of a passage from Klimius to the situation of, ix. 59.
- Burats Language, iv. 113.
- Burder's Oriental Customs, i. 512, 584. 810. iv. 467.
- Burges's Phœnissæ, notice of, i. 129. Notulæ ad, i. 263. On the Phœnissæ and Troades of, 314, 678.
- Burgess, Dr., Strictures on his derivation of nubere, vii. 118.
- Burke, Mr., i. 427. A passage in his pamphlet against the Duke of Bedford, compared with one in Demosthenes, x. 121. Where educated, ix. 5. Misrepresentation with regard to, corrected, ix. 5.
- Burmah Language, iv. 107.
- Burney de Metris Æschyleis, critical notice of, i. 643.
- Burney, Dr. Charles, edition of Philemonis Lexicon, vii. 27.
- Burney, Dr., iii. 483. iv. 208, 281, 459. The merit of having found that the Scriptural Glosses in Hesychius are interpolated, due to, x. 179. His remarks on Milton's Greek Compositions, ix. 343. Notes to Sophocles in Brunck's edition, xx. 198.
- Burns and Casimir, on, ix. 169. Latin Inscription on Burns, xii. 455.
- Burton's violation of the rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 297.
- Barrow's Lat. Pr. poem, xv. 344. Lat. poems, 362. xvi. 398.
- 'Busaci Prælium,' Pr. Lat. Od. iv. 37.
- Busbequii Epist., quotation from, xvii. 154.
- Busiridis Laudatio, a title falsely given to one of Isocrates' works, xviii. 5.
- Bussy Rabutin, displeasure of his sovereign, ix. 348.
- Busts and resemblances of different characters of antiquity, vii. 212.
- Butler's Æschylus, critical notice of, i. 16, 461.
- Butler, C., Polyglott, i. 924.
- Butler's, Dr., Sermons, quotations from, vi. 91.

Butler, C., iii. 239.

Butler, Dr., of Shrewsbury, iii. 183, 287, 417. iv. 33, 155, 214.

Butler's Geography, notice of, viii. 329.

Butler, Dr., extract from the dissertation of, on the nature of virtue, ix, 77.

———, coincidence between and Pope, xiii. 168.

Byron, Lord, enigma by, xviii. 198.

Byssus, observations on, ix. 155. xi. 155.

B, how pronounced by the ancient Greeks, x. 139.

Βίβλος γενέσεως, Matth. i. explanation of, xvii. 418.

Βιβρώσκω, xiv. 281.

Βίος, philosophical meaning of, xix. 363.

Βλίτοϛ, xii. 367.

Βόλβος Κόλχικος, sense of, discussed by M. Gail, xviii. 351.

Βούκερος, de voce, xii. 212.

Βύβλιτος οἶκος, xii. 413.

C.

Cabanis, M., note on, xvii. 96.

Cabiri, iii. 128, 179, 272. iv. 93, 210. On the worship of the, xiv. 59.

Cæcilius Metellus, Miscellanea Classica, xvi. 351. xvii. 33, 342. xviii. 526. xx. 7. On the Odyssey, Lib. 24. xiii. 122.

Cæsar, J., iii. 160, 177. iv. 45. Praise of, iv. 180. Character of, ix. 141. Corrected, vi. 14. Bell. Gall. xi. 15.

———, Octavius, the object of the Cumæan prophecy, v. 55. Fond of studying the configuration of the stars, 56.

Cæsars, the Twelve, identified with the twelve signs of the zodiac, xviii. 324.

Cæsura, on the, xv. 95.

Caffer language, on the, iv. 351.

Caina, signification of, in Syriac and Chaldee, xviii. 300.

Calamities, anticipation of, xiv. 311.

Calchas, death of, xiv. 1.

Caldron of Kêd, xv. 93.

Caledonia, New, Ten Numerals of the language of, iv. 111.

Calf, expeditious construction of the molten, xviii. 312. By what process effected, 313.

Calidas, the Indian poet, x. 191.

Callimachus, iii. 251. Edition of, falsely attributed to Bentley, v. 287. Reply to an article on Bentley's, vii. 101. On the edition of, by Bentley, ix. 409. xi. 155. xii. 128, 370. Notes to, by Stanley, xvi. 164. xvii. 190, 361. xix. 50.

Calm on the Phœnician Inscription, v. 399; vii. 191. Inquiry of, addressed to Bellamy, 401.

- 'Calpe obsessa,' Oxford Prize Latin Poem, by Bowles, i. 195.
 Cambridge Prize Poems, i. 1, 6, 398, 403, 403. x. 80, 83, 87, 164. xii.
 145, 206, 186, 188. xiv. 153, 187, 346. xvi. 165, 175. xviii. 193. xx. 97, 371.
 ———— Prize Greek Ode, J. Bailey's, remarks on, iv. 122.
 ———— Prize Latin Essays, iv. 179, 446. xvi. 1, 314.
 ————, on the studies pursued at, iv. 179.
 ———— Tripos Papers, v. 412. xi. 171, 338, 340. xiv. 162. xv. 83.
 xvi. 291. xvii. 210, 240. xviii. 165. xix. 131.
 ———— honors, account of, vii. 368.
 ———— Greek Poem, by Bouquet, 1773, xi. 241.
 ———— MSS. of the Greek Testament, remarks on the, xii. 276.
 ————, on the MSS. in the library of the University of, xvii. 184.
 On its Greek MSS., 93.
 ————, Sir Wm. Browne's medals at, xvii. 209.
 ————, examination for Scholarship, Exercises at, xvi. 180.
 Camden, where educated, ix. 2. Coincidence between, and Æschines and Euripides, xiii. 165.
 Camerina, observations on, v. 291.
 Campanella, remarkable circumstance of the Physiognomist, i. 427.
 Campania, names of places in, derived from the Phœnician, i. 533.
 Campbell, Thomas, iii. 473.
 ————, Dr., on the philosophy of the ancients, xvii. 122.
 Cannibals, in the East Indies, vii. 313.
 Canning, George, Latin verses of, xv. 366.
 Canora vox, xii. 74.
 Cantabrigiensis conjecturæ criticæ, i. 892.
 ———— classicæ, vii. 342, 395.
 Cantata, Eng. and Gr. iii. 233.
 Canterbury, School at, i. 829.
 Canteri Syntagma de ratione Emendandi, v. 203, 361.
 Canuleius, iv. 509.
 Caracci, Annibal, inscription thrown into the tomb of, ix. 593.
 Carey, i. 72.
 Carian soldiers, the first who served other states as mercenaries, xiv.
 51.
 Carlisle, Professor, ix. 606.
 Carmen, ἰχθυόστικον, i. 244.
 ———— Toghrai, x. 293.
 'Carolinx,' Ecloga in laudem Principis Walliæ, xiv. 248.
 Carolum Secundum, dedicatio ad, iv. 355.
 Carter, Mrs., iv. 5.
 Cartes, Des, iv. 189.

Carthage, on the early history of, xv. 115.

Carthaginians, their counteraction of the disadvantages of climate, xii. 271.

Casaubon, Isaac, the arguments of, iv. 431. Letter of, Classical Telegraph, v. 105.

———, Life of, xii. 172. Studied at Geneva, 173. Married the daughter of Henry Stephens, ib. Professor of Greek for 14 years at Geneva, ib. Afterwards Greek professor at Montpelier, 174. Settled at Paris in the service of Henry IV., ib. Removes to England, 176. Cavare to the million, ib. List of his works, 177. His Greek compositions, xiii. 184. Quoted, xv. 35. and Brunck, leur opinion sur les formules τι παθών, τι παθούν, xviii. 136.

Cases, on the origin of Greek, i. 296.

Casimir and Burns, on, ix. 169.

——— uses huic and cui as dissyllables, xviii. 238.

Caspian Gates, xv. 259.

Cassandra of Lycophron, translation of the, by Lord Royston, xiii. 1. xiv. 1.

———, prophecies of, xiii. 2. Murdered by Clytemnestra, at the same time with Agamemnon, xiv. 50.

Castell's Ethiopic Lexicon, on the re-publication of, vii. 336.

Catalogue, of Joshua Barnes's Works, xiii. 362. Of books published at Leipsic Fair, Extracts from, xv. 376. xvi. 186.

Catalogus Librorum penes Bentleium, v. 432.

——— Prælectionum publice et privatim Georgiâ Augustâ, ix. 27.

——— Heroum Homeri, xiv. 174.

Catilinæ in Cicronem, oratio spuria quædam, xviii. 148.

Cato Major, passage in, illustrated, xii. 73.

———, Marcus, iv. 508.

Catonis et Persii MStorum, Collatio, iv. 359.

Catrou the Jesuit discovered the allegory in the 3rd Georgic before Bishop Hurd, xi. 360.

Catullus, quoted, iii. 51. His character as a poet, ix. 347. Emended, x. 169. Rhythms of, compared with those of Sappho, xv. 107.

Cauchy's Latin poem, xvi. 43.

Cavan, Lord, iv. 246.

Cecilius, iv. 511.

'Celebrare domestica facta,' Cambr. Tripos paper, xvii. 240.

Celta on the Celtic language, iii. 117. On the article 'Grammar,' in Rees' Cyclopædia, iii. 408.

Celtiberians, their characters, i. 657, 914. Origin and language, 907.

Celtic language, on its affinity to the Latin, iii. 117. Use of moods and tenses in the, xix. 344.

Celtis, on the word, x. 58.

Ind. Cl. Jl.—Suppl. to No. XI.

Centos, excessive use of, in modern composition, xi. 227, 234.

Ceres, temple of, v. 25.

Ceylon or Cingalese language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, iv. 111.

Chaldæans, on the science of the, xvi. 145, 262. xvii. 19. xviii. 1, 298.
xix. 296.

Chaldæan oracles, collection of, xvi. 333. xvii. 128, 243.

Chaldee language, ten numerals of the, iv. 106.

Chamberlayne's Pater-nosters quoted, iv. 271.

Chaos, xiv. 120. Divided by the Creator into Heaven and Earth, ib.

Character, on the diversity of the human, by Prof. Scott, ix. 65. x. 237.

Charades by Porson, xvi. 399.

Chardin, iii. 251. iv. 167.

Charles I., his trial of the 'Sortes Virgilianæ,' viii. 10.

Charlemagne, anecdote of, iii. 159.

Charlotte, Princess, Greek Ode on the death of the, xviii. 193.

Chart of Numerals, iv. 16. Of ten Numerals in 200 tongues, 105.

Notice of a chart of the Stream of Time, a figurative representation of universal history, 247.

Chart of Numerals, observations on the, vi. 218. Essay descriptive of, iv. 327.

Chartoui, what they were, xviii. 303.

Chatterton, on his forgeries of Rowley's Poems, xvi. 136.

Chaucer, iii. 9.

Chemistry and Metallurgy, knowledge of, among the ancient Egyptians and Chaldæans, xviii. 298.

Cherokee Language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 117.

Chersonesus Taurica, on antiquities in the, v. 265.

Cherubim, on the, iv. 416. v. 105.

Chester, articles of inquiry in the diocese of, xvii. 279.

Chesterfield, Earl of, where educated, ix. 4.

Chevallier crossing the Scamander, xvi. 57.

Chevallier, Mr. Le., ix. 607.

Chevillier, iv. 474.

Chikkasah Language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 117.

Children, their treatment in religious rites by the Zabii, xiii. 287.

Chillingworth, where educated, ix. 3.

Chilo the Lacedæmonian, anecdote of, by Pliny, ix. 67.

China, known to the ancient Greeks, i. 48, 177. Commerce of, 50.

Geography of, 54. Language of, scantiness of words in the, 433. On Sir G. Staunton's Penal Code of, 687. Police of, iii. 17. Its population, 20. Its extent, 21. Travels in, by Barrow, i. 433. Cochin, 181.

Characters of, 432.

China of the Classics, under the appellation of Cathæi, iii. 295.

China of the Classics, appendix to, v. 252. vi. 205.

—————, by Vincent, Barker's observations on, vii. 32.

Chinese, on the Numismatical history of the, i. 47. Pantheon, 177. On the religious worship of the, ib. Their language more simple than the Hebrew, vi. 395. Theatrical exhibitions frequent among the, xii. 59. Their mode of writing, xvi. 22.

———— language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, iv. 111.

———— world, Oxford Prize poem, by Patrick, iii. 16.

Chinnery's Oxford Prize Poem: 'The Statue of the dying Gladiator,' i. 437.

Chio, in Insulâ, de inscriptione repertâ, i. 117.

Chippewyan language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, iv. 116.

'Chiron,' Prize Latin poem by Joy, iv. 75.

Choquin China language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, iv. 108.

Choral odes of Aristophanes, arrangement of, xiii. 33.

Chorus, on the Greek, vii. 167, 369. viii. 140.

———— of Æschylus, new arrangement of the, iv. 459. v. 18.

————, Epodes of Euripides, on the, ix. 15, 293.

'Chrestomathia Tragica,' Edit. Volborth, notice of, xi. 23.

Christ, the whole of his discourses not contained in the Gospels, x. 272.

Christ's vest, iii. 359.

Christian Agapæ, on the ancient, v. 311. Church, first foundation of the, in the East, vii. 387. Fathers, on the study of the, viii. 368.

Christianity recommended, v. 316.

Christians, on the 'Sortes Sanctorum' of the ancient, viii. 8.

Chronology, on the, of Dr. Hales, viii. 385.

———— of St. Paul's Travels, conjecture on the, x. 1.

Chrysopolis, ix. 633.

Chrysostom, episcopal seat of, ix. 635. Quoted, xvi. 167.

Church, the, compared to a garden, xv. 193.

Churchill, account of, ix. 6.

Cicero, i. 544. iii. 33, 42. His essay 'de senecute,' 144, 320. Praise of, iv. 180. Explained, iii. 473. v. 75. Tusc. i. 27. Corrected, xi. 15. illustrated, 333. Compared with Clarendon, Cambridge Prize Essay, xvii. 311. His opinion of ancient philosophy noticed, xviii. 70. Quoted, xv. 99, 212.

————, Barker's edition of his two Essays, notice of, v. 188, 424. Supplementary notes to, vi. 155, 274. Conjecture on a passage in Cato Major, vindicated, x. 306.

————, de Natura Deor., edit. Seraphinus, notice of, vii. 415. Account of a forgery in, 414.

————, de officiis, remarks on, ix. 234. Notice of a new edition of, xiii. 191.

- Cicero, recovered orations of, xii. 223. On some orations ascribed to, xvii. 134, 394. xviii. 113, 241. xix. 55.
- , coincidences between, and Diodorus Siculus and Pope, xiii. 167.
- Milton, ib.
- Ciceronis opera omnia, cura Ernesti Oxf. Lib. Rhetoricor. Censura, iii. 91.
- Tusc. Quest. Nissenii curæ novissimæ, viii. 131.
- Cimbri, description of the, by Tacitus, vi. 299. Enquiry with regard to the, xi. 1.
- Cimmerians, the site of their nation,
- Cimon, the Athenian, xvii. 110. On Plutarch's Life of, 102.
- Cippus, inscription on a, found at Lyons, vii. 42.
- Circassians, their propensity to revenge, ix. 216.
- Circæan hills, in Iafium, near Alba, xiv. 45.
- Circenus Lusus, called from Ceres, v. 273.
- Circulation of the blood, whether known to Hippocrates, xviii. 10.
- Circuit of Rome, xi. 362.
- Circumlocutions frequent in Juvenal, xv. 19.
- Civil law, students in, i. 824.
- Civilisation, origin of Grecian, ix. 363.
- Clarendon, Lord, where educated, ix. 4. Compared with Cicero, xvii. 311.
- Clarendon press, remarks on the, vi. 45.
- Clark, Dr., where educated, ix. 3. Moral theory of, ix. 73.
- Clarke, Dr., on the interpretation of the word Nachash, iii. 75. v. 245.
- Hebrew criticism of, iii. 87. Defended, 253. Critical notice of Hebrew criticisms of, i. 624, 850. On his Hebrew Criticism, by Hails, vii. 69. Answer to the defence of his Hebrew criticism and poetry, iv. 168.
- Clarke's, Dr., Russian Travels, iii. 280. iv. 188, 200, 458.
- Clarke, Dr. Adam, i. 677. Account of the last illness of Professor Porson, 720. Bible of, iii. 70. Reply to various critiques on, 423. Critical observations on, 461. iv. 240, 307. v. 75.
- Classicæ, facetiæ, v. 285.
- Classical criticisms, i. 759, 904. iv. 501. v. 101, 128, 179, 202, 268, 324. vi. 45, 94, 123, 147, 193, 221, 385, 392, 394. vii. 83, 141, 296, 441, 445, 458. viii. 18, 289, 385. ix. 137, 171, 320. x. 58, 64, 291. xi. 19, 52. xiii. 367, 470. xiii. 74, 252, 417. xvii. 456. xx. 339.
- Necrology, i. 142.
- studies, Encyclopædiæ and method of, iii. 352.
- , in subserviency to theological studies, vii. 225. xviii. 320. General influence of, on the mind, 322. Utility of attending to them at schools, xix. 359.
- writers, on the originality of the, iv. 273.
- criticism, spirit of, viii. 342. Symptoms of repletion of, 419.
- Canon proposed, 427.

- Classical Telegraph, by Casaubon, v. 105. Dictionary, notice of, viii. 178.
 ——— connexions, ix. 139. x. 119, 336.
- Classics, new edition of the Delphin, xvii. 213.
- Claudian's 'Rape of Proserpine,' remarks on, v. 24. Censure of a passage in, 28. Inscription on his statue considered hyperbolic, 29. Quoted, xvi. 166. Erroneously quoted by Cowley, xviii. 232. Origin of his 'Sol qui flammiferis,' 235.
- Clavier, M., of Paris, i. 383. Pausanias of, notice of the, x. 354. Analysis of the 1st vol. of do., xiii. 316.
- Clearchus, coincidence between and Locke, xiii. 165.
- Cleaver, W., to Dr. Loveday, v. 162.
- Clemens Alexandrinus on 1 John v. 7, ix. 187.
- Clement, iv. 36. A convert to Christianity, ib. The Consul, 473.
- Cleon satirized by Aristophanes, xviii. 237.
- Clete, city of, built by Clete the Amazon, a companion of Penthesilea, xiv. 32.
- Clifton, Latin poem recited by Lord, at Oxford, xiv. 97.
- Climate, its effects on the human character, x. 237. xii. 41, 263. Its influence frequently overrated, 264. Opinions of writers on its effects, xiii. 305.
- Climate of Greece preferred by Aristotle, xii. 264. Of Rome by Vitruvius, 276.
- Climax of Love, xv. 214.
- Clisthenes of Sicyon, innovations of, xviii. 237.
- 'Cloud Messenger,' a poem in the Sanscrit language, xii. 432.
- 'Clouds, the,' of Aristophanes, on the date of, vi. 135.
- , Professor Voss on, xiv. 276.
- Coalition of accented words, xii. 311.
- Coan vests, vii. 32.
- Codex Bezae, remarks on the, xii. 276.
- Codicis Avieni collatio, iv. 120.
- Codici, MSti. Trin. Coll. Cantab., 'de Senectutis.' iv. 301. 'De Amicitia,' 304.
- Coincidences, Literary, xviii. 295. Of French with Classical authors, viii. 350.
- Coincidence of critical remarks between Withofus and Bentley; and between Valart and Markland, xvii. 10, 12. Between Chambers and Johnson, xvii. 412. Homer, Herodotus, and Procopius, 208. The Mosaic records and the Greek Theogony, as to the general system of the world, xviii. 325. Between an ode of Anacreon, and the Song of Solomon, xviii. 34. Eastern and Gothic idolatry, xviii. 54. Theocritus' Idyllia and the Song of Solomon, xviii. 32.
- Coins, on Chinese, i. 48. On Greek and Roman, iii. 89.

- Cole's Cambridge Tripos, Comitiale Carmen, xvii. 211.
 Colesmesii opuscula, xiii. 438.
 Coligny, Henrietta de, inscription on, ix. 595.
 'Colisæum, The,' Oxford Eng. Pr. poem, xviii. 100.
 Collatio Cod. Harleian. cum Odys. Edit. Ernesti, ix. 191. xi. 95, 201.
 xii. 7. xiii. 107. xiv. 80, 333.
 Collatio Versionis Syriacæ, xii. 124.
 Collett's Hebrew criticism, xi. 275.
 'Coloni ab Angliâ ad Americæ oram missi,' Oxf. Lat. Pr. poem, vi. 182.
 Colophonio Poetâ et Grammatico, diatribe de, iv. 231.
 Colors, on the words used to express, their inadequacy, xi. 6. Primitive, are blue, yellow and red, ib.
 Comana of Pontus, ix. 635.
 Combe, Dr., v. 162.
 Combinations of words in Greek tragedy, ix. 54.
 Comedy, on the laws of, i. 484.
 ———, the Roman, 488. The French, 489. English, 490.
 Comes, xi. 299.
 'Comet, the,' Latin Ode on, vii. 65. Greek Ode on, vi. 353. Greek Sapphic Ode on, xv. 315.
 Comet, terror of Catherine de Medicis at the appearance of one, xii. 215.
 'Comfort,' 'comfortable,' derivation of, ix. 119.
 Comic writers, characters of various, i. 486.
 Comites, or Cohors, etymology of, x. 391.
 Commentarius de dialogis Euripidis, i. 609.
 Commerce, on ancient, by Dr. Vincent, iii. 60.
 Common-place Books, too frequent use of, pernicious, x. 178.
 Communication, manual, between the Mexicans, xiii. 306.
 Comosârya, Monument of, on the, xiii. 129.
 'Concilium,' 'consilium,' as synonyms, x. 393.
 Concio ad Clerum, by Dr. Sumner, x. 43.
 'Concionantes' of Aristophanes, emendations to the, xiii. 344.
 Concubinage, promiscuous, x. 256.
 Condillac quoted, i. 41.
 Confarratio, meaning of the term, v. 315.
 Conjecturæ criticæ in Auctores Græcos, i. 563, 892. iii. 76, 236. iv. 154.
 v. 36. vi. 342.
 Conjectura in Tacitum, ix. 162.
 Conjecture on the Chronology of St. Paul's Travels, x. 1.
 ——— on Tweddell's Epigram, xv. 368.
 Conjunctions, on the use of Greek, notice of a French work, xi. 45.
 Conscience, Testimony of, ix. 77.
 Consonants, on doubling, in Greek, ix. 379.

Constantine, undeservedly called the Great, ix. 633.

Constantinople, declaration of the Archbishop of, in favor of the Modern Greek Testament, xii. 237.

Contingit, on the construction of, vi. 56.

Contradictions, many to be found in Plutarch, xvii. 110.

Controversial Writings of Grotius, i. 770.

Controversy respecting the authenticity of some of Cicero's Works, xvii. 134.

Cook, Captain, judicious-remark of, i. 42.

Cook's River, Language of, iv. 350.

'Cope,' derivation of the English word, vi. 8.

Coplestone, Dr., vi. 145. His refutation of the calumnies against Oxford, ix. 7.

Coptes, Les, i. 119.

Coptic Language, iii. 114.

Coray, Adamantius, his address to the European nations, xx. 403.

Coray, M., Traité d' Hippocrate, xvii. 89.

Corcyra, on, v. 295. Its ancient name Drepane from Δριπᾶρον, and relative tradition of, xiv. 19.

Corinth, when it flourished, v. 294.

Corinthians, the epistles to the, annotations on, v. 310. 1 Cor. xi, 10, explained by Mede, i. 100. Referred to again, 152. vi. 1, 395. xx. 322.

Corneille, anecdote of, ix. 38.

Cornelia Adricomia, Latin Epitaph on, xx. 202.

Cornish Language, present state of the, ix. 40. A distinct language, xvii. 444.

—— Words, list of, similar to Greek, xviii. 111. To the Hebrew, 103.

To the Latin, 355. To the French and English, xix. 221.

Cornix, Epigram on, by Porson, vii. 248.

Cornubiensis, on the Emerald, iv. 166.

Cornwall, Mr., where educated, ix. 4.

Cornwall, ancient, exports to, by the Phœnicians, v. 109.

——, on the ancient British Language of, xvii. 437. xviii. 103, 355. xix. 221. xx. 169, 260.

Corona Vulgi, on the, Greek Prize Ode at Cambridge, iv. 122.

Corrections in the common Translation of the New Testament, xiv. 148, 374. xvi. 274.

Correspondence, xi. 370.

Correspondents, Notices to, i. 174, 394, 679, 934. iii. 489. iv. 260, 525. v. 235, 436. vi. 217, 237, 305. vii. 464. viii. 224, 494. ix. 238, 411. x. 191, 429. xi. 197, 380. xii. 236, 485. xiii. 219, 467. xiv. 224, 395. xv. 188, 386. xvi. 203, 405. xvii. 220, 464. xviii. 208, 409. xix. 200, 376. xx. 221.

- Cos, Medical School at, xviii. 9.
- Costume Théâtral, observations sur la, vii. 60.
- Cotes, Dr., on a Monumental Inscription, x. 243.
- Cottin, Mde., on her Characters of Saladin and Malek Adhel, xii. 112.
- 'Cottoni Votum,' Lat. verss. xii. 453.
- Cottonian Library, MSS. of the, xiv. 103. xvi. 214.
- Cowley's Violation of the Rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 292.
- Cowley, coincidence between and Pope, xiii. 168. Quoted, xvi. 300.
- Retiring into Surrey, xviii. 75. Quotes Claudian erroneously, xviii. 232.
- Cowper's Homer, Passage in, i. 906. Quoted, xvi. 355. His fable of the glow-worm and nightingale, xvii. 350. Singular error in his translation of Homer, xvii. 350.
- Cows, Mythological, xviii. 54.
- Coxe, Mr., where educated, ix. 2.
- Craven, Dr., on the Death of, Greek Ode by Robinson, xii. 184.
- Creation, on the, v. 371. vi. 387. Ideas of the ancients with regard to the, v. 474.
- Cretans, their perfidy, xi. 3.
- Cretic Foot, not mean, xi. 123. Perhaps unusual in the genuine works of Phædrus, xiii. 368.
- Cretins, or Idiots, x. 239.
- Creutzer, M., v. 9.
- Criticism, its difference as applied to the Bible and the Classics, ix. 476.
- Criticisms, Biblical, i. 100, 112, 144, 209, 323, 510, 603, 604, 624, 742, 759, 800, 850, 869, 885. iii. 109, 166, 195, 235, 266, 284, 483. iv. 125, 273, 422. v. 60, 86, 187, 245, 309. vi. 1, 34, 331, 344. vii. 49, 67, 122, 140, 221, 289, 355, 437. viii. 25, 95, 120, 161, 270, 412. ix. 48, 137, 149, 182, 305, 479. x. 246, 262, 483. xi. 286. xii. 193, 237, 436. xiii. 180, 365. xiv. 56. xvii. 152, 413. xviii. 273. xx. 322.
- , Classical, see Classical.
- , Hebrew, of Dr. Clarke, i. 624. Critical notice of the, ib. Defended, iii. 252. Hails on, vii. 69.
- Critical notice of Burney's Æschylean Metres, i. 643.
- Remarks on the English version of the Old Testament, i. 872. iii. 166. iv. 63.
- on detached places in Demosthenes, iii. 150. In Tacitus, iii. 159. iv. 48. v. 358. In Longinus, iii. 340. v. 40, 395.
- on the Prometheus of Æschylus, iii. 271. iv. 209, 425.
- On Blomfield's edition of it, v. 299. On Stephens' new Greek Thesaurus, by Professor Hermann, xviii. 181.
- Critical Review, iii. 303. Reply to the, v. 420.
- of Illustrations of Homer, iv. 517. v. 429. vi. 262. Of Monk's Hippolytus, v. 193. vi. 74.

- Critic, qualifications for a, v. 337.
 Critique on the Asiatic Researches, vols. 6 and 7, v. 237.
 Crito on Horace's art of poetry, vii. 83.
 Croix, St., quoted, xv. 120.
 Crombie's, Dr., Gymnasium, notice of, x. 384. REMAINS VII, AN. 230. XV.
 145. Answer to the remarks on, xii. 167. xiii. 422.
 Cromwell, where educated, ix. 5. Mistake relative to, corrected, ib.
 Crotona, medical school at, xviii. 8. Inhabitants of, assisted the Trojans in murdering the fugitives of an Athenian tribe, who took refuge in the temple of Minerva, xiv. 31.
 Crowe's Latin oration, x. 183.
 Croze, La, an opinion of, iv. 414.
 Cruscœus, Robinson, notice of, ix. 522.
 'Cruæ Ansata,' or 'The Tau,' on the, xx. 178.
 Cudworth, Dr., his refutation of Hobbes' character of man, ix. 72
 Cui and huic, used as dissyllables, xviii. 238.
 Cumarica Chanda, extract from, xiv. 247.
 Cumæan prophecy, Octavius Cæsar the object of it, v. 55.
 Cumberland, Mr., iii. 319, 320.
 Cup, divination by, x. 232.
 Curæ posteriores, x. 417. xi. 367. xiv. 357. xv. 361.
 Curd Language, the, ix. 637.
 Curdish robbers, outrages of, xii. 223.
 Curiosities found at Pompeii, xv. 305.
 Cycle, Sothic, why so called, vi. 12.
 Cyclopean monuments, v. 262.
 Cyclopes, how far they extended, v. 291.
 Cyclops, Euripides', observations on the, xii. 30.
 Cycnus, son of Apollo or Neptune, history of, xiii. 23.
 Cyretia, an inscription among the ruins of, xiv. 339.
 Cyriologic hieroglyphics, xvi. 317.
 Cyrus, remarkable passage in Herodotus respecting, v. 286.

κελεδόνισται, the term explained, xi. 347.

κλουῖν, query on the word, ix. 528.

κροσόνομος, meaning of the word in Æschylus, xvii. 353.

D.

Dacier, M., mistake of, xi. 360.

Dactyl, altogether grand, xi. 123. A peculiarity in its long syllable of served by writers on metre, ib.

Ind. Cl. Jt.—Suppl. to No. XL.

E

- Dædalus, a description of, iv. 21.
- Dalberg, Prince Primate, Charles de, vi. 313.
- Dallaway's Constantinople, referred to, i. 118.
- Dalzel's Collectanea, on a note of Mr. Tate in, v. 128. Quoted, xvi. 57
- Damietta, on the inscription at, i. 93.
- Dan, on the derivation of the word, xii. 451.
- Dance, Martial, xii. 53.
- Dancing, its representative characteristics of modern invention, xi. 73.
- Danet, iv. 493.
- Daniel, tradition of his burial, ix. 462.
- , Cap. vii. 2. verse referred to, i. 150.
- Danish Language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, iv. 3.
- Dantz, iv. 147.
- 'Dare fidem,' the meaning of, before and after a person, vi. 64.
- 'Dare pœnas,' x. 397.
- Darius, parallel between, and Tippoo Saib, xviii. 236.
- Darkness, according to ancient philosophy prior to light, xii. 218. Placed by Burke among the sources of the sublime, xiii. 8.
- Daunou, iv. 473.
- David's, St., Bishop of, his college in Wales, i. 184. His motives for studying Hebrew, 185. Referred to, 548, 742.
- Davies, Dr., Epistle of Simonds D'Ewes to, xiv. 55.
- Davies, Mr., iii. 177, 179, 182.
- Dawes' Letter to Dr. Taylor, x. 349. His opinion respecting the Hebrew 'vau,' ix. 336. On his metrical canons, xii. 18. Quoted, iv. 515.
- His 'Miscellanea Critica,' iv. 516. On the Delian inscription, i. 94.
- Dawes and Bentley, their merits discriminated, xi. 131.
- Dead bodies, religiously imputed defilement from, xiv. 245.
- Deæ Multimammæ Imago, iv. 70.
- Death, conduct at the approach of, x. 368
- 'Death, to deliver unto,' on the expression, xvii. 206.
- De Bosch on the quantity of a vowel before sc, sp, &c., ix. 341.
- Decameron, notice of Dibdin's, xi. 372.
- Declaration in favor of the modern Greek Testament, xii. 237.
- Decree, falsely ascribed by Plutarch to Themistocles, xvii. 102.
- Dedication of Walton's Polyglott to Charles II., iv. 355.
- Defence, of Dr. G. Clarke's Hebrew Criticisms and Poetry, iii. 253. Of Sir Wm. Drummond's Biblical Criticisms, by Bellamy, vi. 160. Of a Reading in a passage of Herodotus, x. 326. Of G. Sionita, remarks on the, xii. 254.
- Definitions of motion by Aristotle and Bacon, xvi. 7.
- of the epigram by Owen and Johnson, xv. 212.
- De Foe's history of the plague of London, ix. 140.

Degen, Mr., iii. 354.

Degrees on, at Universities, i. 824. On the origin of, 838.

Deities, gratified by the fumes of burnt-offerings, xii. 67.

———, on the diversity of the figure and the character of the ancient,
vi. 71.

Deity, the, belief of Anaxagoras and Euripides relative to, xiv. 119.

Delaware and Mahakūss Language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 116.

Delian inscription, i. 94. On the, by Dawes, ib.

Delphin Classics, prices of, at Mr. Heathcote's sale, i. 171.

Delphin and Variorum Classics, notices of a new edition of, xvii. 213.
xviii. 404.

Deluge, oriental tradition respecting the ruins deposited by the, xii.
290.

Demetrius, an ancient author, discovered at Herculaneum, vii. 273.

Democritus, on his character as a philosopher, xviii. 9.

Demon of Socrates, on the, xv. 205. xvi. 160.

Demosthenes, critical remarks on passages in, i. 590. iii. 150. Olynth. I.
i. 595. II. 599. III. 602. Olynth. I. corrected, xii. 204. Orat. de Coronâ, illustrated by Stock, xviii. 238.

———, anecdotes of, iii. 319. ix. 41.

Denarius, on the value of the, iii. 89.

D'Enghien, Duc, inscription on the Cenotaph of the, at St. Petersburg,
x. 173.

Denham, and Cicero, and Pope, coincidence between, xiii. 168.

Derivation, on French, ix. 592. Of English words and phrases from Spanish and Italian, x. 118. Of 'anteà,' 'postea,' 'interea,' &c. xv.
346. Of modern words from the Eastern, x. 317.

Descartes' Treatise on the Passions, observations in, i. 429.

'Desiderium Porsoni,' Cambridge Prize Greek Ode, i. 1.

'Desinat in piscem mulier,' what taken from, vi. 329.

Desires, observations on the, vi. 257, 267.

Dessin, sur l'art de, par M. Langlès, notice of, xvii. 182.

'Deus Lunus,' on the, vii. 447.

Deuteronomy, 23rd, illustration of a passage in, xvii. 152.

Deviations of Phædrus from certain rules of versification, xvi. 83.

Devil, worship of the, vii. 144.

Dextra, used in poetry for manus, ix. 590.

D'Hankarville, i. 48.

Diacritical points, on the, ix. 246.

Dialects, on the, of the South Sea, iv. 110.

———, historical reasons for the use of particular, by the Greek poets, xvii. 82. Compendious sketch of the, of ancient Greece, 84.

- Dialect, the Doric used by the Greek pastoral poets, xvii. 81.
 Dialogue on the decay of eloquence, ix. 162. Tacitus the author of the, 163.
 Diana, i. 898.
 Diatribe de Antimachio, iv. 231.
 Dibdin's Bibliomania, notice of, iv. 499.
 ——— Decameron, notice of, xi. 372.
 ——— Introduction to the Greek and Latin Classics noticed, ix. 36.
 His account of Faber's edition of Aristophanes corrected, ib. His remarks on the new edition of Stephens' Greek Thesaurus, xvi. 400.
 Dicearchus, his writings on rural subjects, xvii. 79.
 Dicte, a mountain of Crete, xiv. 47.
 Didactic style of Aristotle, xvii. 117.
 Didot's new publications noticed, x. 380.
 Diet, singular powers of endurance with regard to, viii. 234.
 Digamma, account of the, i. 726. On the use of it in Homer, ix. 361.
 Properly Pelasgic, xii. 400. Marsh on the, 390. Observations in Valpy's Greek Grammar upon the, vi. 384.
 Dilettanti Society, iv. 246, 251.
 Dio Cassius quoted, xv. 266.
 Diocletian, inscription on the column of, xv. 161, 374.
 Diodorus, Hyperborean isle of, identified with Albion, iii. 176, 247.
 Assertion of, iv. 45.
 Diodorus Tarsensis, account of, ix. 163.
 Diodorus Siculus, Bibl. Hist. Edit. Wesseling, noticed, ix. 471. Coincidence between, and Cicero and Pope, xiii. 167. Critical remarks on, xv. 372. Quoted, xvi. 207.
 Diogenes the Laertian, iii. 146. iv. 279. Coincidence between, and Dryden, xiii. 166. Scriverius, ib. Pope, ib.
 Diomede, fabulous account of the island of, xiv. 10.
 Diomedes Grammaticus quoted, xv. 101.
 Dione, on the word, ix. 281.
 Dionysius of Halicarnassus on Greek Accents, i. 360.
 ———, iii. 49, 179. iv. 505. v. 24.
 ———, xv. 125, 263.
 Dionysius, the earliest writer on imitative versification, xii. 333.
 Diosmea, Notæ in Arati, à Thomas Forster, xiv. 368. xvii. 46. xviii. 19. xix. 84.
 Dirrichius, iv. 49.
 Discipline of public education defended, viii. 190.
 Dissertation on Genesis 49th, iii. 387. On Hieroglyphics, xv. 313.
 Dissection, whether forbidden by the Egyptian laws, xviii. 12.

- Distances, how measured by the ancients, xvi. 263.
 Dithmari Episcopi Chronicon, vi. 315.
 Diversity of the Human Character, on the, vi. 248.
 Divination, almost universal among the ancient nations, xvi. 205.
 Dobree de Inscriptione Actiaca, xvii. 366.
 Dodwell's Tour through Greece, xvii. 463.
 Dogs, on the howling of, v. 73.
 Doric Dialect, on the, xvii. 81.
 Dourri Effendi, his relation of Travels in Turkey noticed, i. 414.
 Dove, Tradition respecting the, xii. 67.
 Downe's Greek Ode, Coll. Dubl. xvii. 386.
 Dowry, paid to the wife's father in Japan, x. 230.
 Draco, Observations on the Constellation, vi. 8, 9.
 Drapier, Letters of, iii. 6.
 Drayton's opinion on Pastoral Poetry, xviii. 287.
 Dresigius, conjecture of, on Justin, x. 21.
 Dromore, Bishop of, iii. 161.
 Drovelli's Letter on Egyptian Antiquities, vii. 316.
 Druids, The, probably of Oriental origin, xi. 1.
 ———, on the origin of the, vii. 172. viii. 225. xi. 1. Their attachment to divination, xvi. 207. Their notion of a Supreme Being, xviii. Mythological notions of, 54. Similar to those of the Hindoos, 58.
 'Druid,' on the etymology of the word, xiii. 411.
 Druidical Rites, their similarity to those of the Persians and Indians, xiv. 351.
 Drummond, Sir William, Dissertations of, in the Herculanensia, noticed, i. 524. On the English version of the Old Testament, i. 872. iii. 166. iv. 63. On an Inscription at Saguntum, i. 923. iv. 263, 267. vi. 4. Notice of his Essay on a Punic Inscription by Bellamy, iii. 198. Observations on his Persius, iii. 363. On his version of some Egyptian names in the Old Testament, iii. 366. iv. 369. v. 43. Dissertation on the 49th chapter of Genesis, iii. 387. v. 30. Notice of Mr. Bellamy's Ophion, iv. 244. His defence of his version of the Egyptian names in the Old Testament, iv. 407. v. 180. On his derivation of the word Pharaoh, iv. 468. On the origin of the Phæaces, v. 289. Remarks on a Phœnician Inscription found at Malta, v. 47. On Babylonish Bricks, v. 126. His Observations on the Fall of Man answered, v. 93. Some Inscriptions from, v. 126. On the Tyrian Inscription, vi. 191. On the ancient Language of Egypt, vii. 54. Answer to his Defence of the Egyptian Names, vii. 109. On his Observations respecting the Phœnician Inscription, vii. 191. On the word 'Peor,' viii. 267. Remarks on his Essay concerning the Shield of Achilles, viii. 409. Biblical criticism of, vii. 289. viii. 161. xiii. 435.

- Hails on his Biblical Criticisms, vii. 75. On the Attic Months, ix. 324, 559. Notice of some calumnies, 334. Remarks on his Dissertation on the 49th of Genesis, xi. 305. Observations on the Remarks on, xii. 149. Remarks on some statements of, xii. 255. On 'Gwawd Lludd y Mawr,' xiii. 420. Reply to his Remarks on Balaam, xiv. 65. On the Phoenix, 319. xv. 1. xvi. 88. Observations on Mr. Roberts' Reply to, xiv. 377. On the Science of the ancient Egyptians and Chaldeans, xvi. 145, 262. xvii. 29. xviii. 1. xx. 42. 'On the Shield of Achilles, xviii. 305.
- Druses' Religion, on the founders of the, collected from Arabian Authors, vii. 213.
- Dryden, observations of, on the versification of Claudian, v. 29. Where educated, ix. 4. His Latin Lines on the Death of Prince Henry of Gloucester, xx. 588.
- 'Duco' and 'Nubo,' on the words, ix. 599.
- Du Halde, iii. 48.
- Duke of Saxe-Gotha, Emilius Augustus, iv. 153.
- Dumesnil, Error in, under 'adolescens', i. 476. iii. 162.
- Dunbar, George, Classical Criticism, xiii. 74. On the particle av, xvii. 65. On a passage in Homer, 265.
- Duport, i. 194. On the Latin poetry of, x. 29. On his Greek composition, xiii. 184. His Greek Prayer Book, Specimen of, xvii. 410. Notice of a new edition of, xviii. 101.
- Dürer, Albert, Compliment to, xii. 181.
- Durham, University intended to have been founded at, xiii. 82.
- Dycs, Observations on the Jewish, xviii. 306.
- 'Dying in Grain,' on the expression, x. 118.

ἁγίουχες, in the Eleusinian Mysteries, xiv. 167.

δαῖος δαλός, ix. 297.

δε, meaning of the Greek particle, vi. 265.

δεκάκλιτος, xiii. 407.

δηλόμεν only occurs in a passive or middle form in an active sense, xiii.

114.

δείμας, peculiar signification of, xviii. 202.

διὰ pro μετὰ, suivant M. Auger and Coray, Observations de M. Gail sur cette doctrine, xviii. 136.

διάγνωσις, διαγνώμη, xii. 217.

διάλογος Στεφάνου τοῦ Μιλλανέζ, v. 283.

διαφθεῖρουν, more frequent in the use of destruction than of corruption, xii. 90.

Δυσμαλ, ἰσπίρα, δύσις βίου, 'sunset of life,' xi. 318. Used only in the plural: δύσις and ἀνατολή, in both, ib.
Δύσχημος, meaning of, ix. 58.

E.

E, on the penultima in dederunt, steterunt, &c., x. 125.
Earth, the opinion of the ancients with respect to the, v. 103.
'East, 'Restoration of learning in the,' Grant's Buchanan's Prize Poem, v. 317.
East India House Museum, iii. 434.
Eastern mode of expressing sentiment by action, iii. 141.
—— languages, as illustrative of the Greek, v. 182. On some of the, languages, xii. 229. Learning on, xvi. 145. Antiquities, xx. 352.
—— travellers, 'Sending portions to those for whom nothing is prepared' explained, by referring to, iv. 487.
—— nations of antiquity, creed of, on the subjects of emanation and pantheism, v. 5.
Ecbatana, Cicero's error with respect to, xi. 360.
Ecclemach language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, iv. 117.
Ecclesiastical researches, iv. 35.
'Ecclesiastusa,' of Aristophanes, remarks on by Seager, i. 507.
Eclectic system of philosophers, xiv. 169.
Eclipses mentioned by Ptolemy, xvii. 24.
Eclogue, on the fourth, of Virgil, v. 55.
Eclogues, on the, of Virgil, x. 309.
Edda quoted, xv. 91.
Eden, on the site of, xvii. 2.
Edgeworth, Mr., on education, vi. 240.
Edinburgh Review, i. 470, 905. iii. 191, 287, 299, 419. iv. 157, 216, 462.
'Edinensi Scholâ,' notice of, 'Ex tentaminibus puerorum in,' vi. 412.
Eduion, in what its excellence consists, v. 342.
Editor, the necessity for his knowledge of the Greek accents, v. 348.
Edris, or Enoch, the Book of, ascribed to the Hermesians, i. 63.
Education, relative proportion of eminent characters formed by public and private, viii. 194, 198, 445. ix. 1.
Education, on Classical, vi. 236. Mr. Edgeworth on, vi. 240.
——, course of, pursued at Oxford, vi. 305.
Education, Livres sur l', xvii. 95.
Edwards, Mr., prices and purchasers of books at the sale of, xii. 35.
'Effodiuntur opes,' Latin poem by Joddrell, xiii. 394.
Ego, on the quantity of its last syllable, ix. 339.
Egypt, on the language of ancient, vii. 54.
Egyptians, respect paid by them to old age, iii. 142. On the science of

- the ancient, xvi. 145, 262. xvii. 49. xviii. 1, 298. xix. 297. xx. 42.
- * Luxury among the ancient, xii. 49. On the alphabets of the, iv. 468.
- Egyptian names, on Sir William Drummond's version of, iii. 366. Defence of his version, iv. 369, 407. v. 43. On Sir William Drummond's derivation of, vii. 109. Antiquities by Drovetti, vii. 316.
- Egyptian Etymology, ix. 153. Idols, ix. 559.
- Eichorn, M., v. 2, 6. vi. 236.
- Eichstadt, M., vi. 314.
- Eichstedt of Jena, iv. 143.
- Elean ancient inscription, xi. 348. xiii. 113.
- Electricity, history of, i. 692.
- Elegia ad amicum Cantabrigiensem, i. 201.
- Elegiac Latin poets, Addison's Latin Essay on, ix. 346.
- Elegy of Adam on Abel's death, xx. 394.
- Elements of the metrical doctrines of Professor Hermann, xv. 79.
- 'Elements, the,' notion of the ancients respecting, xx. 42.
- Eleusinian mysteries, gradual corruption of the, xiv. 168. Included in the proscription of Theodosius the Great, 169. Notice of Ouaroff on the, xiii. 399. xiv. 165. xv. 117.
- Eleusis, on an ancient inscription found at, i. 736.
- Eleutherius, Greek preface of, v. 382.
- Elgin's, Lord, memorandum, notice of, iv. 244.
- Elgin marbles, on the, xiv. 98. Inscription on the, 185.
- Elias Levita, notice of his opinion respecting Hebrew points, ix. 396, 103.
- Elisha, his celebrated expression in the Bible reconciled with truth, xviii. 203.
- Elisions, on, in Latin poetry, xvi. 353. Of diphthongs in Latin verse, xviii. 232.
- Elliot, Mr. Greek verses to, i. 160.
- Ellipsis, instances of, ix. 51.
- Ellis, Greek Ode recited by Mr., at Oxford, xiv. 94.
- Elly's, Sir R., letter to Professor Ward, v. 388.
- Elmsley's edition of the Heraclidæ, on, vii. 298. viii. 391.
-
- Medea, notice of, xix. 267.
- , Mr., referred to, iv. 459.
- Elocution, boldness of, xv. 71.
- Elohim, on the Hebrew word, xiii. 53. Its number, x. 335.
- Elysium, Hades, and Tartarus, situated towards the West, xi. 318.
- Emasculation, factitious, universally found to accompany the practice of Polygamy, xii. 45.
- Embalment of the dead, x. 235. Prevalent in ancient Egypt, xviii. 13.
- Embalmers, on the Egyptian, xviii. 364.

- ‘Emendandi, de ratione,’ Canteri, v. 203, 361.
 Emendation proposed of Juvenal, v. 415. Of Æschylus’ Prometheus, vii. 454.
 Emendations and Explanations of Lucian, by Seager, vi. 125.
 Emendationes in Æschyli Supplices, i. 801. iii. 182, 412. Bentleii in Silium Italicum, iii. 381. In Ovidium, xix. 258.
 Emerald, on the, i. 65. iv. 162. Mentioned in Scripture, 67, 325.
 Enims, observations on the people, vi. 39. ix. 150.
 Emotion, various meanings of, ix. 69.
 Emulation, on, vi. 253. On the influence of, in public education, viii. 191.
 Enclitics, Remarks on, ix. 64. On Latin, with respect to poetry, 589. Doubts respecting, xi. 273. In accentuation, rules for, xv. 54.
 Encyclopædia of Classical Studies, iii. 352.
 Engelbreth’s Fragmenta Basmurico-Coptica, notice of, xiii. 61.
 English Grammar, i. 773. Allen’s, notice of, vii. 318. Grant’s, notice of, x. 174. Essentials of, Critique on, i. 254. Letters, v. 388, 394.
 English Liturgy, The, illustrated by its version into the Greek and Latin languages, xix. 178.
 English Books, with respect to Classical Studies, ix. 139. Words derived from the Greek, xviii. 108. Writers, paucity of, who have written Latin elegantly and correctly, ix. 47. Words derived from the Spanish and Italian, x. 118, and German, affinity between, 318, and Swedish, similarity of, xi. 15. Version of the Old Testament, remarks on, iii. 166. iv. 63.
 Engraving, On the Art of, i. 699.
 Ennius, The boast of, iv. 337.
 Epaphroditus, Information respecting, iv. 35. Whether he was a Christian, xvii. 196. Who he was, xvi. 390.
 Epiclesus i. 898.
 Ephialtes, the only individual ever summoned before the Council of Amphictyons, xi. 154.
 Epic Poetry, anticipations of futurity in, i. 305.
 Epictetus, the pupil of Epaphroditus, iv. 42.
 Epicurus, on the principles of, vi. 89. Remains of, found in Herculæum, vii. 273.
 Epigrams, Prize, by Barker, Greek ‘ἀρχὴ ἡμῶν πάντος.’ Latin, ‘strenua inertia,’ i. 10. Prize, by Bailey, iv. 62. Prize, by Letsom, xiv. 349. Greek and Latin, xv. 317. Cambridge Prize, xviii. 195. Of Theocritus praised, xviii. 289.
 Epigram on Cicero, vii. 42. By Porson, 248. Greek, by Jacobs and Thiersch, x. 341. Latin, xi. 365. By Hegisander, ix. 525. Two, by Hegisander, 528. On Pogager vinosus, ix. 42. On the Waterloo vic-
Ind. Cl. Jl.—Suppl. to No. XL. F

- tory, xi. 380. Latin, xiii. 200, 439. By Menage, xvi. 185. By Lato-mus, 186. Greek and Latin, xvi. 178.
- Epigram, on the style of the ancient Greek, xv. 212. Greek, obscurity in Tweddell's, xiii. 49.
- Epigramma in vocem αελουρου, i. 266. Rév. James Jones, 280.
- Epigrammata Græc. Nazianzeni, viii. 31.
- Epilogus ad Phormionem apud Westmonst. recitat, i. 13. Ad Andriam,
v. 158. Ad Eunuchum, vii. 52. Ad Adelpbos, viii. 415. Ad Phormionem, xi. 17. xiii. 119. Ad Eunuchum, xv. 158. Ad Adelpbos,
xx. 333.
- Epirus, anachronism with respect to Virgil's, x. 169.
- Epistola Hippolytæ Tauretæ, xiii. 440.
- Epistola, C. G. Heyne, Gulielm. Vincent, xi. 169.
- Epitaph to Gray's Elegy, translated by Wheelwright, i. 674.
- Epitaph in the Church of St. Helier's, Jersey, i. 82. On the poet Bourbon, ix. 41. On Henry IV. of France, 593. On Tweddell, x. 171.
Latin, on F. Wilkinson, vii. 141. H. Thrale, viii. 391. On St. Basil, by St. Gregory, ix. 130. On Sir Christopher Wren, xiii. 353. Of Sti-gelius, on himself, xiv. 287. On Viglius, xv. 367. On Dr. Sayers, xix. 189. On Dr. Vincent, xvi. 200. On Cornelia Adricomia, xx. 204.
On Passerat, 205. On Alexis, Translation of, by Porson, iii. 234. Latin, in Jersey, 284.
- Epitaphs, on, xiii. 351. On the, of Vincent Bourne, 353.
- Epitaphia Aristotelis Pepli, xiv. 176. Epitaphium in Athenienses ad
Potidæam cæsos, 185. In filium, xvi. 396. Capitonis, xvii. 373.
Severæ, xvii. 379.
- Epitaphia duo, ab Angelo Maio, xvi. 395.
- Epithets, on, in poetical composition, ix. 33.
- Epodes, on the, of Euripides, ix. 15, 293. x. 34, 369. xi. 25. Of Æschylus, xi. 242. xii. 344.
- 'Equidem,' on the etymology of the word, viii. 353. x. 394.
- 'Equites' of Aristophanes, Remarks on, by Seager, i. 714. Observation on a passage in, vi. 222. Emendations of Bentley to, xii. 352.
- 'Equus Bellator,' Job xxxix, Translation, xvi. 397.
- Erasistratus, on the Medical Skill of, xviii. 17.
- Erasmus, on the Latinization of his name, i. 249. Inscriptor on, by Beza, x. 173. His opinion of Luther, xii. 181. His compliment to Lord Mountjoy, ib.
- Erasmii, Error Jocularis, xiii. 442.
- Erfurdt's Edition of the Antigone of Sophocles, xvii. 52. Notes to Sophocles, xviii. 52. His Variæ Lectiones to Brunck's Sophocles, xx.
198.
- Erfurdt, C. G. Aug. iii. 357. iv. 142.

- Ernesti's Cicero, notice of, iii. 91, 160. Vindication of, from D. Wyttenbach, xi. 129, 222. His edition of the Odyssey compared with the Harleian MS., 95, 201. xii. 7. xiii. 107. xiv. 80, 333. xv. 14, 292. xvi. 119, 309. xvii. 97, 292.
- Erodian Avis, presages from it, xviii. 23.
- Errata to List of MSS. published in the Classical Journal, No. XXXIII, xviii. 95.
- Error in the Translation of the Periplus, x. 323.
- Erythrean Sea, Periplus of the, iii. 60.
- Erzerum, description of the City, ix. 636.
- Esculape, incendie du temple d', xvii. 91.
- Esoteric Worship, xv. 120.
- Esquimaux Language, iv. 350. Ten numerals of the, 114.
- Essay on the sources of pleasure derived from literary compositions, i. 225. On the standard of taste, 267, 752. On Greek Prepositions by Moor, iii. 23. On the respect paid to old age by the ancients, iii. 142. iv. 319. Prize, on Sculpture, iv. 20. On the Standard Labarum, iv. 223. On Classical Learning, as subservient to Theological Studies, vi. 225. On Blank Verse, vii. 442. Notice of Sir William Drummond's, on a Punic inscription, including biblical criticism, iii. 198. Descriptive, of a Chart of Ten Numerals in Two Hundred Languages, iv. 327. On Funeral and Sepulchral Honors, Oxf. Priz, iv. 391.
- Essai sur les Mystères d'Eleusis, notice of, xiii. 399. xiv. 165.
- Essences, their doctrines of Scripture Allegory, xviii. 229.
- 'Essentials of English Grammar,' notice of, i. 251.
- Estechemines, iv. 350.
- Ethics, i. 768.
- Ethiopic, Modern, or Abyssinian Language, iv. 343. Ten Numerals of the, 106.
- Etienne, H., Mots omis par, xii. 215, 463. xiii. 161, 406. xiv. 280. xvi. 31.
- 'Etona,' Lat. Poem by C. L. xi. 33.
- Etruria, colonized by Lydians, i. 535.
- Etymological Disquisitions, ix. 121. xi. 6. Pursuits; character of, vi. 42.
- Etymologia Græca, Lamberti Bos Dissertatio de, i. 862.
- Etymology, on, iv. 437. Of words expressive of the mental affections, Memoir on, ix. 126. On the, of some Egyptian words, ix. 153. On the, of the word 'Peor,' viii. 265.
- Euhemerus, System of, xv. 117.
- Eumolpus, ix. 633.
- Eunuchum, Prologus in, a Melancthon, xiv. 355.
- Euripides, on the philosophical sentiments of, xiv. 112, 305. Illustrated by Barker, xii. 101. Explained by reference to Horace, ix. 281. Emen-

- dations of, ix. 336, 559. x. 33, 879, xii. 213. Quoted, xvi. 182. Praise of, iv. 180. and Homer, coincidence between, xvii. 206. Compared with Ariosto and Milton, xviii. 238. Conjecture on a passage of, ib. Seager's commentaries on, xx. 78, 271.
- Euripidis Phœnissæ, notice of Burges's Edition of, i. 129. Observations on the, ix. 19. x. 340. Emendation of a passage in, ix. 336. x. 99. Illustrated, xviii. 232.
- Medea, remark on, i. 563. Observations on a passage in, v. 128. ix. 23. Curâ Elmsleii, notice of, xix. 267.
- Hercules furens, on Professor Hermann's Edition of, viii. 199. Supplices, on his edition of, viii. 417. ix. 49.
- Hyppolytus, observations on, ix. 24, 133. On Monk's edition of, ib.
- Hecuba, observations on, ix. 16. Orestes, 17. In fragm. Philoctet. i. 345. Commentarius in Dialogos, 609.
- Euripidem, observationes in, xii. 30. Variæ Lectiones in, xvii. 188.
- Euroclydon, on the wind, xix. 201.
- Europe, on the extent of, iii. 21.
- European words derived from the Persian, xi. 343.
- Eusebius on Jewish Philosophers, xviii. 229.
- Eustathius, the religion of, x. 177. Quoted, xv. 23.
- Eutropius, collation of a Cambridge MS. of, v. 349. x. 144.
- Evangelists, their difference of style, xi. 288.
- Eve, reasons for her curiosity, v. 99. Formation of, from Adam's rib, xviii. 225. Opinions of Philo, Origen, &c. concerning, 226.
- Evelyn, two letters of, to Dr. Bentley, xviii. 200.
- Evening, red or grey, xviii. 50.
- Evil in the world, True origin of, v. 100.
- Evremond, St., quoted, xvi. 283.
- Ewers, M. Gustavus, vi. 315.
- Examination of the Candidates for the Classical Medals at Cambridge, xvii. 209.
- 'Exeter School, Vindication of the Master of, Notice of, xix. 192.
- Existence of Troy, on the, v. 15. Remarks on, vi. 25.
- Exodus xiv, 26, &c., translated into Greek Iambics, xix. 329.
- Explicit, on the word, in MSS., xii. 450.
- Extemporary Latin verses, v. 143.
- Ezekiel, 1st chap. 4th verse, on, i. 149. Tradition respecting the burial of, ix. 462.

'Η, on the pronounciation of, by the ancient Greeks, x. 139.

'Εγίσιμος ὕπνος, xii. 217.

'Εδρακον, a word used by the ancient Greeks, and why, xvij. 349.

Ἔϊσκω, xiv. 281.

Ἐκείνος, in contradistinction to αὐτός, refers to something mentioned before, xi. 145.

Ἐλπος, Ἐλφος, v. 58.

Ἐμβατεύω, xiii. 162.

Ἐν, Remarks and Controversy on, xvii. 137. xviii. 457.

Ἐναίλος λόγος, in Plato's Menexenus, illustrated by a quotation from the 'Paradise Lost' of Milton, xii. 417.

Ἐνίργημα, on the philosophical meaning of, xix. 363.

Ἐντάφισι, xiii. 407.

Ἐντιλίχσια, meaning of, xvi. 8.

Ἐπειή, not used by Homer, or by any classical Greek writer, ix. 374.

Ἐπειρος and Epirus, x. 169.

Ἐπὶ, on the use of, ix. 251.

Ἐπειμήλιδες, not in Stephens' Greek Thesaurus, xiv. 218.

Ἐπιποτάμιδες, ἱφυδριάδες, also omitted, ib.

Ἐπιχρίάζειν, xii. 101.

Ἐπτάκλινον, xiii. 409.

Ἐσβασις, xii. 217.

Ἐσδρόμη, xiii. 410.

Ἐσμὸς μελίσσης, remarks on, xviii. 347.

Ἐρυνκρίων, signification of, when applied to Agamemnon, vi. 29.

F.

Faber, referred to, iii. 281. Remarks on Aristophanes, ix. 36. Objections of, refuted, iii. 179, 272. iv. 210. On Pagan Idolatry, notice of, xvii. 1. Referred to, xix. 67. Faber's and Bryant's hypotheses reconciled, xix. 65.

Fables of Æsop, on the, xi. 220.

Fabula Phædriana amico meo, J. G. M. D. iv. 489.

Fabulæ novæ Julii Phædri, xiv. 381. xv. 131.

'Fabularum utilitas,' Paris Pr. Poem, xvii. 453.

Facciolati, i. 929. Quoted, xv. 347.

Facetiæ Classicæ, v. 285, 297.

Facio's distich on Laurentius Valla, xx. 205.

Fæhse, M., iv. 147.

Faernus' attempt with regard to one of Phædrus' Fables, xvi. 77.

Falconer's Edit. of Strabo, examination of a criticism on, vi. 45. Observations on the criticism, vii. 152. His two letters upon the criticism of the Strabo in the Edinburgh Review, vii. 445.

Falkland, Lord, where educated, ix. 5. His trial of the 'Sortes Virgilianæ,' viii. 10.

'Fall of Man,' Genesis account of the, defended, v. 99.

- Famine, the cause of slavery in Africa, x. 231.
 Farhill's, Prize Cambridge Lat. Ode, i. 408.
 Farnese Hercules, iv. 246.
 'Farrago Libelli,' v. 297.
 Fates, the children of the ocean, and the daughters of night, xiii. 17.
 Fathers, on the study of the, viii. 368. ix. 87.
 Faunus, oracle of, method of consulting it, xx. 3.
 Fegatoso, application of the word by the Italians, ix. 29.
 Fell's preface to Clemens Romanus, i. 194.
 Fell, Dr., anecdote of, ix. 9.
 Felooop's, language of the, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of, 118.
 Female sex, their condition in various countries, xii. 44. Education, vii. 149.
 Females, anecdotes of eminent, viii. 28. Their chastity revered by a sect of fanatics, 232.
 Fenica, on an inscription at, i. 557. v. 395.
 Fessler, Dr., on his history of Hungary, vi. 319.
 Festus Avienus' poem, notes on, iii. 136. v. 108. vi. 148, 295.
 Feth Ali Shah, embassy to, i. 221.
 Fever, commentary on Aretæus on, xx. 242.
 Fevre, Le, conjecture of, iv. 49.
 Fictions in Plutarch, xvii. 111.
 Finn's language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of, 118. Its analogy with the Sanscrit, xi. 5.
 Fiorillo de inscriptione repertâ in Insulâ Chio, i. 117.
 Fire signals, on, i. 430.
 Fire, an emblem of the Deity among many barbarous nations, xiii. 413.
 First Aorist, observations on the, v. 118.
 Fischer's Commentaries on Aristophanes, vii. 410.
 Fischer, G., on a fragment of a Donatus discovered by, iv. 482.
 Fish not often found in the rivers of the East, ix. 620.
 Fishes, the numerous, of Avienus described, vi. 150.
 Fisher's Prize Greek Odes, x. 80. xi. 186. xiv. 187.
 Flaccus, C. V., new reading of, proposed, xviii. 238.
 Flaminio, Latin verses of, on the death of Savanarola, xvi. 185.
 Fleet of Xerxes, xv. 296.
 Fleetwood's Latin inscriptions, vii. 425.
 Flight of Hector, xvi. 70.
 Floralia, origin of the, ix. 241.
 Florian, M. De, imitation of Virgil in Numa Pompilius, xi. 55.
 Floribus, præagia de, xviii. 25.
 Florus adduced in illustration of Tacitus, iii. 133.
 Florus Christianus quoted, xv. 148.

- Flowers and fruits, on the implied language of, ix. 208.
 Fontal fathers in the Chaldaic doctrine, xvi. 336.
 'Fontes quos Tacitus in tradendis rebus videatur secutus', viii. 244.
 Foolah's language, iv. 351. Ten Numerals of, 118.
 Forcellinus quoted, xv. 148.
 Ford's imitation of Strada, xviii. 237.
 Forgeries, account of literary, xvi. 123.
 Forgery, instance of Arabian, xv. 279.
 Formation du langage, i. 204.
 Forrest's, Capt. voyages, i. 811.
 Forster, Reinold, reference to his tract 'De Byssu Antiquorum,' ix. 154.
 ———, T., x. 182. Notæ et curæ in Arati Diosemea, xiv. 368. xvii. 46.
 xviii. 19. xix. 84.
 Fortune of Carthage, xv. 97.
 Foster, Dr., iii. 44, 478. Quoted, xv. 97.
 Fountain, Greek verses on a, xi. 366.
 Fox, Mr., Wakefield's correspondence with, xi. 187. Where educated,
 ix. 5.
 Fox, George, account of the University intended to have been founded at Durham, xiii. 82.
 Foxes, with fire-brands, on the story, vi. 325.
 Fragment of Longus, viii. 403.
 Fragments of Sappho, metrical arrangement of, by Holt Okes, i. 139.
 Of Bacchylides, 436.
 Fragmenta, Sophronis Mimorum, iv. 380.
 Fragmenta Basmurico Coptica, notice of, xiii. 61.
 Fragmentis, de, Poetarum Græcorum minorum, xv. 216.
 Fragmentum Antiquum Ovidii Heroidum, i. 127. Philoct. Euripid., 345.
 Francklin, on the site of ancient Palibothra, xvii. 321.
 Frank, Professor, on the MSS. in the Royal Library at Munich, xiv. 341.
 Frauenhobz, M. of Nuremberg, his archæological work, noticed, v. 11.
 Freheri Theatrum viroꝝ eruditorum, iii. 270.
 French literature, on, x. 189, 358, 377, 419, 427. Letters, v. 385, 389.
 Prosody, xi. 369.
 ——— language, H. Stephens on its conformity with the Greek, ix. 529.
 On the, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 112.
 ——— Revolution, lines written by a poet who suffered in it, ix. 39.
 Frenchman, a, on some verses in the Henriade, xv. 361.
 Frey's Hebrew Bible, notice of the publication of, iii. 487. v. 178. Hebrew Dictionary, notice of, xii. 381.
 Frogs, a shower of, xii. 72.
 'Fugir via,' on the Italian expression, x. 119.
 'Fulmina belli,' &c. on the expressions, x. 166.

- Fulleborn, M., one of the German Literati, his excellent work on antiquities, entitled, 'Encyclopædia Philologica,' noticed, iii. 352.
 Fust, one of the fathers of the art of printing, iv. 474.
 Futurity, on anticipations of, in Epic Poetry, i. 305.

G.

- Gabriel Sionita, publisher of the Polyglott of Paris, xi. 70. xii. 251.
 Gagnierii Jo. Carolina, and his Latin style, ix. 47. Ecloga in Laudem Principis Walliæ, xiv. 248.
 Gail, M., 'Recherches sur Apollon,' xii. 115, 463. xvii. 170. Sur les mots omis par H. Etienne, xii. 215, 463. xiii. 101, 406. xiv. 280. xvi. 31. Annonce de Xenophon, xv. 175. Various publications of, xv. 176. xviii. 205. Philologue de, notice of, xviii. 135. Letter to Mr. Barker on a passage in Theocritus, 351. Note on his 'Recherches,' xvii. 170.
 Gajado, H. xvi. 141.
 Gaisford's instance of the quantity of  $\nu\epsilon\upsilon$ , in comic verse, xi. 181. Barker's Letter to, on the reading of,  $\kappa\eta\rho\sigma\lambda\acute{\alpha}\sigma\tau\alpha\varsigma$ , xii. 325. xiii. 169, 381. xiv. 285. Notice of his 'Poetæ minores,' xii. 410. Epistles to, by Barker, xv. 216. xvi. 217. xvii. 323. Quoted or referred to, iii. 77. iv. 159, 203, 285, 291. xv. 257.
 Galatia, ancient, present aspect of the country of, ix. 634.
 Galatians, epistle to the, commentary on part of the, v. 310.
 Galien Traité de, xvii. 91.
 'Galilee of the nations,' why so called, vi. 328.
 Galileo's scientific doctrines referred to, i. 240.
 Gall and Spurzheim on the brain, x. 180.
 Galt on a history of translations, vi. 201.
 Gambia, the language of the river, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of, 118.
 Gambling among the ancient Germans, x. 250.
 Gamelia, meaning of the word, vi. 13. On the month derived from, ib.
 Games, on the Chronology of the secular, among the Romans, xvii. 351.
 Gardane, Mons. De, author of Travels in Turkey, i. 225. Embassy of, 221.
 Gardiner, Richard, orations spoken in 1620, at Oxford by, viii. 20.
 Garzoni on a sect called 'Yezidis,' vii. 143.
 Gaspard's distich to Albert Durer, xi. 180.
 Gelasius, decree of the pope, against the Apocryphal books, xvi. 132.
 Gell's, Sir William, itinerary of the Morea, xv. 156
 Gellius, A., iii. 33, 108, 145, 328. iv. 199, 504. Quoted, xv. 260. Passage in, illustrated, v. 268.

- Genders, on, by Mr. Harris, x. 294.
 Generation, theory of, xiv. 305.
 Generosity valued by the ancients, xviii. 75.
 Genesis, chap. 49th, dissertation on, iii. 389. Supplement to, v. 30. Remarks on the dissertation, xi. 305. Answer to the Remarks, xii. 149.
 ———, chap. 1st and 11th explained, vi. 344. On the four first chapters, vi. 387. 29th chap., remarks on, ix. 482. On Mr. Bellamy's translation of the 9th and 19th chapters of, xix. 359. On a passage in, vi. 34. Illustrations of various passages in, x. 228. Account of the 'Fall of Man' in, defended, v. 93. Chap. 13th, ver. 16, referred to, i. 150.
 Genesius, M., his work on the astronomy of the ancients noticed, v. 11.
 Genitive, on the absolute, xi. 147.
 Gentleman's Magazine, iv. 45, 223, 275, 454.
 Geography, i. 696. Ancient, v. 13. viii. 1. xvi. 257. Ancient and Modern, Dr. Butler's, notice of, viii. 329. Walckenaer on ancient, xvi. 237.
 Geometrical Problem by Porson, x. 401.
 Geometrical Query with respect to a passage in Plato's Meno, xvii. 171.
 Geometry, whether it was known to the Egyptians, xvii. 27.
 Georgia, language of, ten numerals of the, iv. 109.
 Georgics, observations on the, ix. 95. On the prominent features of Virgil's, xvii. 353. Hoblyn on a passage in the 1st, xx. 339.
 German Literati, researches of, iii. 348. Their attention to Greek literature, iv. 139. To Oriental literature, 148. To biblical, v. 1. To history, vi. 313. To religion, vii. 17.
 German Jews, on the Query, viii. 386.
 ——— and English Dialects, affinity between the, x. 318.
 ——— language, iv. 349. Ten numerals of, 111.
 Germans, simplicity of the habits of the ancient, xii. 52. Their intemperance in drinking, 54.
 Gertrude, Amy, inscription on, v. 32.
 Gesner, on 'dignitas' and 'dignatio,' as synonyms, iii. 162. Observation in his Thesaurus on the Samothracian deities, iv. 94. On his Edition of Horace, and his accuracy as an editor, v. 338.
 Ghazikumak, language of, iv. 348. Ten numerals of the, 109.
 Oheybya, Lybissa, ix. 632.
 Giacomelli, a commentator upon Æschylus, i. 21. His observation on a remarkable passage in the Prometheus quoted by Butler, iv. 219.
 Gianni, on, one of the Italian improvisatori, xv. 250.
 Giants, on the term used in Genesis, vii. 204.
 Gibbon, Mr., iii. 137, 300. On the term Labarum, iv. 227. On the modern Greek language, 342. Extract from the supplemental volume Ind. Cl. JI.—Suppl. to No. XL

- of his works, xi. 359. On a passage in Livy, xv. 368. Remarks on his translation of a passage in Julian, vii. 126.
- Gibbon, where educated, ix. 2. Inscription for, by Dr. Parr, xi. 367. Notice of the publication of his works by Lord Sheffield, xi. 356.
- Gibeon, derivation of, vi. 327.
- Gibraltar, description of, v. 111.
- Gifford, Mr., iii. 323.
- Gillan, Dr., on the goitres, or swelled neck, in illustration of Juvenal Sat xiii, i. 702.
- Gillies, Dr., corrected, iii. 473. Quotation from his History of the World on a passage in 1 Kings, chap. 10th, ver. 22, iv. 5.
- Gipsey language, on the, and ten numerals of, iv. 107.
- Girolamo Preti, sonnet of, ix. 40.
- 'Globus Aërostaticus', Oxford Pr. Poem, xviii. 391.
- Glossio, de, v. 363. De Glossis Lexicographorum, xiv. 294.
- 'Gnain,' Remarks on the Hebrew, viii. 97.
- Gnomologia Homerica, Duport's, x. 32.
- Goats reputed sacred by the Zabii, xiii. 289.
- God, on the notion conceived of, by Aristotle, xvii. 330. On his doctrine with respect to, xix. 32.
- 'God save the King,' translation of, into Greek verse, xviii. 255.
- Goddard, Dr., ungratefully neglected, ix. 5.
- Goddesses, Heathen, representing the passive principle of nature, xiv. 43.
- Goeschen, M., on his editions of the New Testament, v. 5.
- Goethe, M., one of the German literati, on his work on ancient mythology, v. 9.
- Golden Fleece, on the, by Hager, i. 179.
- Golden Age, happiness of the, vi. 229.
- Geldmann, M. G. A.:F., one of the German literati, and author of an essay on the old Belgic and Celtic dialects, v. 8.
- Goldsmith's Citizen of the World, iii. 6. Dr. Johnson's epitaph on, xiii. 354.
- Gordon's, Rev. Mr., Letter to Dr. Bentley, x. 171.
- Pr. Gr. Ode on the death of the Princess Amelia, iii. 194.
- Gordys, the settlement of the Argive Colony of, v. 265.
- Gospels, division of the, as mentioned by Suidas, vii. 456.
- Gossett's, Dr., Sale, prices of books at, viii. 471. Referred to, iii. 162.
- Gottingen, University of, detail of lectures given at the, ix. 27.
- , Journal Report of Vincent's voyage of Nearchus, xiv. 208.
- Government, character of, in different climates, xii. 61.
- Governor, on the duties of a, vi. 237.
- Gowen, Bishop, his translation of the Æneid, xviii. 44.
- Græcorum, de Verbis, i. 151.

- Græcorum Accentuum, Regulæ præcipuæ Lamberti Bos, vi. 338.
 ——— Poetarum de fragmentis, E. H. Barker, xvii. 323.
 Græcos in Auctores Conjecturæ, i. 563, 892. iii. 76, 287. iv. 154. v. 36, 361. vi. 342.
 ——— Auctores, Canteri de ratione emendandi, v. 203.
 'Grammar,' on the Article, in Rees's Cyclopædia, iii. 408.
 Grammars, Notice of St. Quentin's French and English, vii. 148. Of Matthiæ's Greek, 216. Of Allen's English, 318. Of Grant's English, x. 174. Of Gyles's Hebrew, x. 356. Of Lumsden's Persian, xii. 429. Of Jones's Greek, 23. Remark upon Dr. Valpy's, iv. 338. Observations in the Greek Grammar of Dr. Valpy on the use of the Æolian Digamma, vi. 384.
 ———, List of Hebrew, ix. 381.
 'Grammaticæ, Nugæ,' on the peculiarities of the English Verb, i. 773. iii. 1.
 'Grana,' why the Spanish word signifies scarlet, x. 118.
 Granicus, Battle at the, conjecture on, i. 902.
 Grant's Buchanan's Prize Poem, v. 317.
 ——— English Grammar, notice of, x. 174.
 Grant, Captain, Death of, ix. 463.
 Granta's Biblical Criticism, iii. 195, 284. On the pronunciation of Latin words, v. 91.
 Grattan's Prize Essay on sculpture, iv. 20.
 Grave Accent, to be considered as the final acute, xi. 271.
 'Gravina de ortu et progressu Juris Civilis,' referred to as illustrative of Dr. Valpy's remarks upon the laws of the twelve tables, iv. 504.
 Gray's Elegy, Epitaph to, translated into Latin verse, i. 675. The works of Gray by Mason, notice of, xi. 183. His translations from the Greek Anthologia, 173.
 Grecian History, ignorance among the Romans of, ix. 143.
 ——— Literature, before the time of Homer, 363. And Roman Coins, iii. 89. Navy, number and force of, xvi. 27. Mythology, remarks on, vi. 29.
 Greece, antiquities of, v. 262.
 Greek Grammars enumerated, i. 156. Matthiæ's noticed, vii. 216. Jones's, xii. 23.
 ——— Lexicon, Schleusner's, notice of, ix. 223.
 ——— and Latin accents, on, i. 357, 567, 843. xi. 72, 259. xii. 304. xiii. 124.
 ——— and Latin Epigrams, iv. 62. xv. 317. xvi. 178. xviii. 195. xix. 349. xx. 102.
 ———, Latin, and Sanscrit Languages, parallel between the, vi. 375. ix. 219, 529.

Greek accents and metre, iii. 476. iv. 139.

— language, iv. 349. Ten numerals of the, 111.

— character and excellence of the, vi. 242. Advantages of an early acquaintance with it, ib. Observations on some of its idioms by Neilson, xiii. 355. Its superiority to Latin, xi. 144. Its precision, xiii. 168. Its resemblance to the ancient British and Cornish, xviii. 107, 111. On the modern pronunciation of, vii. 378. Illustrated by the Eastern languages, v. 182.

— letters, on the, v. 382, 384. Remarks on the alphabet by Mr. Payne Knight, i. 94. On the accentuation of, ix. 236. Accentuated pronunciation of, proved, ix. 41.

— words in the New Testament formed from the Latin, xiv. 386.

— accents of the New Testament by Pasor, xv. 39.

Greek Testament, an edition of it not generally known, xi. 365. On the perfect state of the, v. 62. On the use of the, in public Schools, v. 138.

— fathers, remarks on the, ix. 87.

—, style of composition on the, vii. 165. Composition, proposal for a critical history of respectable exercises in, xiii. 184.

— accents, on, i. 357, 567, 843.

— adverbs, derivation of, xiii. 75.

— prepositions, on, by Tate, their importance with respect to Greek Syntax, i. 896. Doctrine of some great scholars with regard to the contradictory signification of the same preposition, refuted, iii. 24. Primary significations of, 27. Secondary, 29.

— article, observations on the, ix. 225, 481. xi. 144. xiii. 201. Examples of its use, xiii. 186.

— irregular verbs, Hauptman on the, i. 151.

— constructions in Horace, xv. 78.

— translation of the Epitaph on Alexis by Porson, ix. 475. From Shakspeare, xvi. 178. xviii. 197. xx. 102. Of Johnny Gilpin, by Cæcilius Metellus, xvii. 354. Of 'God save the King,' xviii. 255.

— Letter, by Bennet Langton, xv. 355.

— Epigram, xv. 212. i. 10.

— Lines, by J. Scaliger, xv. 367. Iambics on the death of Prof. Porson, i. 81. Verses to Mr. Elliott, i. 160.

— Poem on hunting, xv. 237.

— Inscription, xi. 181. In the Greek theatre at Syracuse, vi. 391.

— Drama, xii. 58. Chorus, Gender of, xiii. 79. Polytheism, absurdities of, covertly attacked by Euripides, xiv. 115.

— Anthologia, disparities of style in the, xii. 192.

— Sapphic Ode, on the composition of, v. 120. vii. 169.

— cases, on the origin of, i. 896.

- Greek Literature of Germany, on the, iv. 139.
- , knowledge of, necessary for a theological student, xviii. 323.
- Dialects, xvii. 80, 84. Dramatic authors collected by Dr. Burney, xvii. 434. Feminine names in verse, xvii. 350. Modern proverbs, xvii. 39. MSS. of the University of Cambridge, xviii. 93. Pastoral poets, Essay on the, xvii. 74. xviii. 30.
- Sapphic Odes, by E. V. Blomfield, i. 1, 397. By J. Gordon, iii. 194. J. Bailey, iv. 52. Remarks on it, 122. Tyas, vi. 353. Lawson, 356. J. Fisher, x. 80. Hayter, 164. xi. 240. Fisher, xii. 186. xiv. 187. J. B., xv. 315. Hall, xviii. 193. Waddington, xx. 97.
- Ode, v. 283, by Downes, Coll. Dubl. xiv. 385.
- Jeu d'Esprit, xiv. 356.
- , modern, specimen of, v. 401. War song, 404. Testament, declaration in favor of, xii. 237.
- Greeks, their perfidy, xi. 3. Their superiority in taste and the elegant arts, xvi. 149. Improvisation among the, xvi. 96. Strong proof of the civilised state of the, vi. 28. Indebted, for their medical science, to the Egyptians, xviii. 7, 18.
- Greeks, modern, their penuriousness, ix. 632. And Chinese, religious worship of the, i. 177.
- Greenland, description of, vi. 300. Language, iv. 350. Ten numerals of, 114.
- Gregory, St., illustration of his epithet on St. Basil, ix. 130.
- . Dr., refuted, xvii. 331.
- Grenville, Lord, Letter of, on the republication of Stephens's Greek Thesaurus, iv. 513. Where educated, ix. 4.
- Homer, on some readings in the, ix. 191. Its editors defended from a charge brought against them by the Edinburgh reviewers, i. 905.
- Grey, Dr., on the excellence of the English version of the Scriptures, iv. 440.
- Grey, Lord, where educated, ix. 4.
- Grey, Lady Jane, Latin verses by, xi. 180.
- Griesbach, memoirs of, x. 295.
- Gronovius, on a supposition of, iv. 50.
- Groot, Signification of the name, xii. 214.
- Grotius, to Du Maurier, on a course of reading, i. 765. To James Augustus de Thou, on his controversial writings, 770. Epitaph on, ix. 593.
- Gryphiadæa, xv. 237.
- Guebres, descended from the Zabii, xiii. 289.

Gutenberg, on his claim to the invention of the art of printing, iv. 473.

Gwarchanau, xvi. 207.

'Gwawd Ludd y Mawr,' xiii. 420.

Gyles's Hebrew Grammar, notice of, x. 356.

Gymnasium, sive Symbola Critica, by Dr. Crombie, notice of, x. 384. Remarks on the 'notice of,' xi. 296. On 'the remarks on the notice of,' xii. 167. xiii. 423. xv. 145.

'Gyp,' in linguâ vernaculâ, ix. 526.

Γηρώ, γηρώστω, xiv. 280.

Γηώγη, on a reading of, in Thucydides and Herodotus, xii. 122.

Γράβιον, meaning of the word, xv. 34.

II.

Habaziniab, mentioned by Jeremiah, chap. 35th, probably the originator of the Abyssinians, xii. 293.

Habeschi, on the name, xii. 299.

Hacken, M., a German, his history of the Holy Wars, vi. 315.

Hæck, M., one of the editors of the new German Edition of the 'The-saurus Linguarum Orientalium,' iv. 152.

Hærlern, the city of Mentz indebted to him for its knowledge of the art of printing, iv. 474.

Hafez quoted, xv. 94.

Hager, on the numismatical history of the Chinese, i. 47. His Chinese dictionary, 57. Notice of his 'Pantheon Chinois,' 176. On his opinion respecting Murrhine Vases, 472.

Hailes, Lord, quoted, in refutation of a calumny raised against the first Christians relative to Asinine worship, iv. 50.

Hails's Biblical Criticisms, vii. 67. ix. 246. Remarks on Sir Wm. Drummond's dissertation on Genesis the 49th, xi. 305. Hebrew criticisms, xiii. 49.

Hair, singular use of, in devotion, ix. 365.

Halde, Du, his work on the history and legal code of China referred to, in illustration of 10th chap. of Genesis, iv. 17.

Hales, Dr., on Chronology, viii. 385.

Hales, Mr. John, Golden Remains of, x. 97.

Hall's Cambridge Prize Greek Ode, xviii. 193. Criticism on, 381. xix. 103.

Hallelujah, a word known to the American Indians, xiv. 245.

Halou, an ancient festival, description of, vi. 20.

Halys, derivation of its name, ix. 635.

Hamersley-hall, inscription over a fountain at, xi. 182.

Hamey, Bald., nota de carissimo medico, xvii. 287. His explanations of the ἄρκος 'Ἱπποκράτους, 288. Letter from Pearson to, 291. His eulogy, by Pearson, in Latin verse, 291.

Hamilton's Memoirs of Count Grammont quoted, xvi. 285.

———— translation of Antar, noticed, xix. 182.

———— introduction to the Hebrew Scriptures, xii. 240.

Hamlet, error in the representation of the ghost scene in, noticed, i. 234.

Hammer, on ancient alphabets and hieroglyphics, i. 61. On the implied language of flowers and fruits, ix. 208. On Mad. Cottin's characters of Saladin and Malek Adhel, xii. 112.

Hammond, the poet, where educated, ix. 3.

Hampden, the patriot, where educated, ix. 4.

Hannibal's remarkable exclamation, xv. 116.

Happiness, sources of, ix. 82. Modes of attaining it, ix. 25.

Harems, Turkish, languages of the, ix. 209.

Harleian manuscript of the Odyssey, on the, ix. 191. Collated with Ernesti's edition of the Odyssey, xi. 95, 201. xii. 7. xiii. 107. xiv. 80, 333. xv. 14, 292. xvi. 119, 309. xvii. 97, 292.

Harles, de nominibus Gæcorum Libellus, notice of, viii. 385.

Harles of Erlangen, Professor, one of the German Literati, on his 'Supplementa ad introductionem in historiam linguæ Græcæ,' iv. 145.

Harmer's, on Mr., illustration of the Scripture expression, 'Lay the hand upon the mouth,' Job, chap. 29th, v. 10., Judges, chap. 18th, v. 19., &c., iii. 141. On his exposition of 'sending portions to those for whom nothing is prepared,' iv. 487. On the use of bells in the East, i. 809.

Harmony of the verses of Theocritus remarked, xviii. 293.

Harpocrates, an Eastern god, description of his representation, iii. 142.

Harris on the force of the auxiliary verb to be, i. 779.

Harris's 'Travels of the two Mahometans,' quotation from, to illustrate a passage in Dr. Vincent's translation of the Periplus, iii. 304.

————, Dr., a description of a Tartar tent, in the travels of Monk William de Rubriques, inserted in the first vol. of his collections, iv. 34.

Hartley on Man, referred to, vi. 86.

Hartman, Dr., of Oldenburg, on his work on Biblical and Oriental literature, v. 4.

Harvests, two annual, in Italy, Turkey, and Sicily, ix. 335.

Harwood, Dr., on the 2d chap. 10th v. of 1 Corinth., iv. 273.

Hastings, Warren, Latin verses addressed to, xiii. 177.

Hauptman on Greek irregular verbs, i. 151.

- Havilah, on the region named after the Patriarch, xvii. 6.
- Hawkins's Oxford Prize Poem, viii. 153.
- Hayter's Essay on the Standard Labarum, iv. 223. His Cambridge Latin Prize Ode, x. 164. Latin Distich on Lord Wellington, xi. 380. On the Alexandra of Lycophron, v. 113. Biblical Criticism, xii. 193.
- Hayter, Mr., on his transactions at Herculaneum, i. 525. vii. 43. On Sorrento, v. 271.
- Head Master of a public school, requisites for the situation of, xv. 190.
- Hearne's Diaries, extract from, v. 125.
- 'Hearth, The,' in the Roman language the image of social life, xv. 125.
- Heath, a commentator upon Æschylus, i. 21.
- Heath, Mr., prices at the sale of his library of classics, i. 662.
- Heathcote, Mr., prices of the Delphin classics at his sale, i. 171.
- Heaven, a name for God, x. 107.
- Heber, Mr., quotation from his Bampton Lectures, on the demon of Socrates, xv. 205. His opinion, there expressed, confirmed, xvi. 161.
- , Richard, in a note, in Dr. Clarke's Travels, observation of, on the horsemanship of the Nogay Shepherds adduced in illustration of Homer, b. 15, l. 679, iv. 456.
- Hebiesu, History of, ix. 189.
- Hebraists, Female, xi. 367.
- Hebrew, motives to the study of the language, i. 184, 743. On the state of literature in England, 185.
- numerals, Ten, iv. 106. On the language, 348. Plural adjectives often joined to singular nouns, x. 337. Originally written without distinction of words or sentences, xii. 304. On the cultivation of, xiii. 450. Use of moods and tenses in, xix. 342. Points of resemblance between it and the ancient British language, xviii. 103.
- numerals, on the, iv. 401. vi. 186.
- alphabet, on the, iv. 404. ix. 538. x. 7.
- MSS., on, iv. 404.
- Text, on the integrity of the, v. 61. viii. 374. ix. 395. Answers to Mr. Bellamy on ditto, xi. 112. xii. 77. Its incorrectness proved, viii. 412. From the circumstance that the apostolical quotations do not agree with it, x. 272. Various readings of the, collected by the Jews, xii. 80.
- Scriptures, editio princeps of the, x. 269. Observations on the existing translations of the, viii. 375, 378.
- Bible, on the, viii. 114. xi. 66.
- Scriptures, introduction to the reading of the, by Hamilton, xii. 240.
- Points, Inventor of, ix. 543. Essay on, viii. 374. Answer to ditto, x. 268. On the diacritical, ix. 255.

- Hebrew criticism and poetry, remarks on, i. 624, 860. Defence of, ii. 252. Criticism of Dr. Clarke, iii. 88. Poetry, x. 9. Criticism, ix. 538. x. 1, 7, 23, 335. xi. 104, 275. xii. 252. xiii. 49, 485. xiv. 102. xv. 190.
- Language, on the arts used by certain professors of the, xiii. 380.
- Folly of deriving every classic name from the, vi. 375.
- Bible, Boothroyd's edit. of, viii. 386. On Frey's, iii. 487. v. 178.
- Grammars, list of, ix. 381. Notice of Gyles's, x. 357.
- Dictionary of Frey, notice of, xii. 381.
- Reader of the bishop of St. David's referred to, as adopting the Anti-masorethic method, x. 335.
- descent of the Abyssinians, on the, xii. 293.
- Hebrews, epistle to the, ed. v. 6. Remarks on the, ix. 469.
- Hector, Tumulus of, ix. 623. His spirit after death conveyed to the islands of the blest, xiv. 41.
- Hecuba, translation of a passage in, by Battic, xi. 227.
- Heeren, Professor, of Gottingen, author of an excellent work, 'Alliances of the ancient world,' and of an 'Essay on the Crusades,' vi. 314. His life of Heyne, xix. 136.
- Hegesander, Greek Epigram by, ix. 525.
- Hegewisch, M., one of the German literati, author of several valuable works on ancient history, vi. 314. And of a history of Ireland, 313.
- Heilmann, Professor, of Gottingen, on his translation of Thucydides, iv. 148.
- Heindorf, M., of Berlin, on his new edition of Plato, iv. 144.
- Heineken, on Ruperti's edition of Juvenal, viii. 236.
- Heinrich's observations in Auctores vetres, notice of, xi. 10. On his edition of Hesiod, iv. 141. vi. 313.
- Heinsii oratio de Lectione Tragœdiarum, xii. 340.
- Hejaue, account of, ix. 548.
- Heliandus, by birth a Christian, viii. 347.
- Hellenophilus, on Porson's literary labors, ix. 286.
- Hellaspont, on Homer's representation of the, xvi. 64.
- Helvetius, extract from, ix. 548.
- Hemsterhusio Epistola Bentleii, xii. 157, 438.
- Hendecasyllabi ad Bruntonam, F. Wrangham, i. 281.
- Hendy's Oxford Prize Essays, vi. 226. xviii. 320.
- Henna, on the antiquities of, v. 44.
- Henriade, verses in the, imitated from Gregory Nazianzen, xv. 361.
- Henrietta de Coligny, inscription under the picture of, ix. 595.
- Henry IV. of France, epitaph on, ix. 593. On the equestrian statue of, x. 173.

Hephaestion, some of his opinions on metre examined and combated, iv. 293, 296. Scholiast on, illustrated, vi. 94.

Heraclæa Bithynica, ruins of, ix. 632.

Heraclidæ of Euripides, notice of Elmsley's edition of, vii. 298. viii. 391.

Herbelot, M. D', on Egypt, and its production of emeralds, iv. 166.

Herbert's Oxford Latin Prize Poem, xviii. 26.

Herculanæan Papyri, on, xvii. 203.

'Herculanensia,' critical notice of Sir Wm. Drummond's dissertations in the, i. 524. Remarks on the critical notice, iii. 113.

Herculaneum, on its size, population, and political state, i. 527. On the etymology of the word, 529. Extract from Mr. Hayter's letter on, vii. 43. On the Manuscripts of, 272.

'Herculaneum,' an Oxford Prize Poem, by Hughes, iv. 375. Extract from Hayter's poem on, xi. 42.

Hercules, his mode of destroying the monster appointed to devour Hesione, xiii. 11.

'Hercules Furens,' of Euripides, notice of Hermann's edition of, viii. 199.

Hermann's edition of 'Supplices' of Euripides, notice of, viii. 417. ix. 49. His 'Metricæ Doctrinæ,' notice of, xv. 79. His 'Hymni Homeri,' notice of, iv. 140. v. 9. His 'Censura in Nov. Edit. Stephaniani Thesauri,' xviii. 169. Criticism on the 'Censura,' 381. xix. 103. His 'Wolfii Miscellanea critica,' xviii. 344. His commemoration Odes, xix. 77. His oration on the jubilee of the king of Saxony, xx. 141.

Hermannus de Metris quoted, and his mistakes noticed, respecting the metres of Anacreon, iv. 205, 286. 'Orphica,' its character with regard to the Digamma, ix. 369. On the quantity of the penultimate of 'Academia,' xi. 221. His metrical canon, xii. 306. On his edition of the 'Hercules Furens' of Euripides, viii. 199.

Hermes Trismegistus, the numerous works of, all lost, xvi. 124.

— Romanus, by Veymars, xvii. 219.

Hermesians, on the, and their ceremonies, i. 63.

Hermeticus, on the attributes of Mercury, xvi. 234.

Hermocrates of Syracuse, Milford's observations on his character, xv. 297.

Hermodorus, the code of the Decemviri composed with the assistance of, a Greek exile, iv. 506.

Hermogenis Progymnasmata, v. 331, 343. vii. 417. viii. 155.

Hero worship, some hints on it in Hesiod, xi. 340.

Hero's temple, xvii. 332.

- Herodian's observation on the image of Baal in the city of Emesa, in Syria, iii. 180. Remark of, on the ancient Britons, iv. 45.
- Herodote, sur le γινωσκ attribué à l', xii. 125.
- Herodotus, parallel between, and a modern historian, xviii. 235. His description of Babylon, xvi. 149. Remarkable passage in, respecting Cyrus, v. 266. Unjustly abused by Plutarch, xvii. 109. Comment on a passage of, and explanation of it, v. 334. xviii. 234. His account of the conduct of Darius, compared with that of Tippoo Saib, 236. His mention of the innovations of Clisthenes of Sicyon, 237. Defence of a reading of, x. 336. Conjecture on a reading of in Wesseling and Schweighæuser, xviii. 238. Emendation of, in illustration of St. Luke, chap. 2d. vv. 18, 19, l. 569. An observation of, on the Ammonian dialect, iv. 411. Emendations of, iii. 142, 146, 177. ix. 490.
- Herods of Ossian, xvi. 348.
- Heroism, two similar acts of, in ancient and modern times, compared, xvii. 349.
- Herophileans, a medical sect, xvii. 16.
- Herophilus, a physician at Alexandria, xviii. 15.
- Heroum Homeri Catalogus, xiv. 174.
- Hesiod, the poems of, probably compositions of the Improvisatori, xvi. 365. On the edition of his works by Prof. Heinrich, iv. 141. Translation of them into German by Voss, noticed, 147.
- 'Hesperiae Triumphi,' Latin Poem, vi. 21.
- 'Hesychii de quibusdam Glossis,' Barker's epistle to Schäfer, xii. 393.
- Hesychius, Dr. Burney's reasons for supposing the Scripture glosses in, interpolated, x. 179. Vindicated, vi. 190. xi. 323.
- Hesychio, Milésio Conjectura de, ix. 585.
- Heumannus de summo bono, viii. 277.
- Heusinger, M., in conjunction with Hudson, the editor of Æsop, iv. 143.
- Hewlett's, Dr., Bible, notice of, iv. 251.
- Hexameters, on the inventor of, ix. 529.
- Heyne, Nodell's epistle to, x. 52. xi. 52. His edition of Homer, character of, with respect to the digamma, ix. 370. Greek epitaph on, x. 174. Epistle of, to W. Vincent, xi. 169. On the situation of the Troad, xv. 342. Notice of Lagupa's epistle to, viii. 138. On Virg. Æn. i. lib. corrected, xviii. 232. His life, by Prof. Heeren, xix. 136. xx. 17. List of his publications, xx. 41.
- Hiatus, on the, in the Sapphic Ode, xv. 321.
- Hic, hoc, on the quantity of, ix. 333.
- 'Hiero Botanicus,' Classical criticism by, ix. 137.
- Hieroglyphical learning, on, i. 549.
- Hieroglyphics, on, i. 61. xvi. 312. Bishop Hurd's opinions on, i. 555.
- Hermes, the original inventor of, i. 62.

High Priest, conjecture on the use of the title by Josephus, and in the New Testament, xviii. 238.

Hilfskr., the Hebraist, his opinion respecting the facility of acquiring a knowledge of the Hebrew Language, i. 190. Again alluded to, 710.

Himlico's voyage, notes upon, iii. 136. v. 108. vi. 148, 295

Hindoo, mythology of the, in conformity with the Greek, ix. 221 Religious ceremony of the, xiv. 242.

Hindustan, indolence of the women in, x. 24.

Hindustani Tales, notice of, xi. 377

Hindu language, read from left to right, ix. 309

'Hindu Pantheon,' of Moor, notice of, vii. 307

Hindustani, of the language of, ten Numerals, iv. 107.

Hippocrate, Traité d', xvii. 89

Hippolyte Taine's Epistola, xiii. 440.

Hippolytus of Euripides, Monk's edition of, critique and comments upon, v. 193 vi. 71, 317 vii. 206. viii. 81. ix. 103. The excellence of, attested by Fate, iv. 515.

Hippolytus Euripidis, on the 17th line, and an English translation of the passage, xii. 112 Latin translation of the same, and an emendation proposed, 167, 170 On the same passage, vi. 391.

-- -- Seneca, Observations on the, v. 57

Historian, on the claims of Plutarch to the character of, xvi. 284

Historical Monuments, a collection of, vi. 513.

History, on the style best adapted to, ix. 164.

-- -- of Translations, on a, vi. 201.

Hoar's Scaloman Prize Poem, xv. 269.

Hoare, Sir R. C., referred to, in his notes, on Guald of Wales, ix. 247

Hobbes, on his character of Man, ix. 71. Refuted by Cudworth, 72

Hoblyn, on a passage in the first George, xx. 339.

'Hoc tantum,' on the expression, xi. 55

Hodgkin's Publications on Greek Literature, ix. 179. His table of the Greek alphabet, 411.

Hoffman's Lexicon, account of, iii. 269

Hog, on the physiology of the, x. 242.

Holland, I did, where educated, ix. 4

Holland, Dr., on the present state of Tempe, viii. 171

Holland, on the Belles Lettres of, by Professor Nothder, ix. 308.

Holmes, Dr., on his edition of the Septuagint, ix. 477. xix. 367. On his preface to the Syriac version of the Testament, vii. 196.

Holomannus, an author, noticed, xi. 359.

Holwell, a passage in his translation of an Indian account of the creation Holidays, Scævola on, xv. 368.

Homæoteutis et Homæritis, Canterus de, v. 370.

Homer, instance of his art in the management of Hector's death, p. 235.

Passage from the 6th Iliad illustrated, and Pope's and Cowper's translations of it compared, 760. On his account of the Ethiopians in the first Odyssey, iii. 250. On some lines in the first Iliad, and Pope's defective translation of them, 378. Illustrations of Homer, 375. A passage in the fifteenth Iliad illustrated by a note of Mr. Heber in Dr. Clarke's Travels, iv. 457. Critical Review of the Illustrations of Homer, 517. On his use of the particle ἀλλά, 518. On the late German editions of, by Heyne and Wolf, 139. By Herman, 140. Excellence of the German translation of, by Voss, 147. Homer's description of Troy from, how far are we justified in supposing that such a place ever existed? v. 15. Referred to 'de Ludis Veterum,' 70. Critical Review of illustrations, of, 155. On his use of μοῖρα, 215. Illustrations of Homer, 214. Critical Review of Illustrations of Homer, 429. On his description of the Shield of Achilles, vi. 8. On the story contained in his Iliad, 29, 30. Critical Review of Illustrations of Homer, 262. Had his Troy ever an existence? vii. 106. Mr. Payne Knight's Prolegomena to, 321. viii. 33, 289. An inquiry into the versification of, and his use of the digamma, ix. 361. On his language and dialect, 363. On the readings in the Grenville edition, 191. On the 121th line of his 1st Iliad, 603. On 809th of 23d ditto, 604. On the Margites of, xii. 161. On the edition of his fragments, xi. 191. His text much altered, 113. Corrected, 11. Mr. Addison on his merits, 280. On the truth of his descriptions, xv. 326. xvi. 57. On his knowledge of human nature, xv. 298. xvi. 345. On the famous simile in the 13th Iliad, 183. Fabulous anecdotes concerning, 367. Apparent harshness in some of his lines corrected, 353. On his peculiar use of prepositions, 71. On a passage in Iliad o, 50, xvii. 265. Imitated by Milton, xviii. 273. On the spuriousness of a passage in, xvii. 265. His scenes and characters delightful to us in all ages, xx. 1.

Homer, Mr., panegyric upon, as a Latin editor, v. 166. *

Homeric and Icelandic Poetry, xv. 352.

Honors, University, how obtained, vi. 305. Account of Cambridge, vii. 363.

—, On Funeral and Sepulchral, an Oxford Prize English Essay, iv. 391.

Houker, observations on the Christian name of, ix. 2. Where educated, 3.

Hoppius, devout trifling, ix. 588. *

Horace, explanation of a passage in his Sat. ii. 2, v. 49. 'Unctam convivis præbebit aquam,' i. 749. On some of the metres used by,

- iii. 49. Professor Porson's imitations of, iv 97. Ipist. 10th to Fuscus illustrated, 501. 1st Epist. of book i. illustrated, v 101 Variorum edition, notice of, from the British Critic No I, v 161 No II. 336. No. III. vi 97 No IV 279 Annotations to some passages of, Auctore Broukhusio, vi. 145. On his Art of Poetry, vii 83 Metrical arrangement of an Ode, book 3, ode 2, 455 New reading of a passage in, ix. 41, 95. Symptoms of melancholy described by, 130 Explained by reference to Empirides, 281. Transformation of part of one of his Odes into a Christian hymn, 588, and Livy, Od I, i 595. Syllabus of his metres, 697 On the metre of Od iii 12, 598 Proposal for emending, x 421. Curious interpolation of, ix. 526 Sketch of the scansion and structure of the Alcain Stanza, xi 351. Coincidence between him and a Greek Epigram in Suidas, xii 260 His odes turned into elegiac verse as an exercise, xii. 87 'Disiecta membra poetæ,' in his style, xi 238 Illustrations of various passages in, xiii. 196 Essay 'de felici Audaciâ Horatii,' 291. xv 61 Quoted in illustration of the mythological offices of Mercury, xvi 225. On his Sapphic Ode, xv 229 On his Alcain Ode, xvi 50. On his strict and accurate versification, xv 224 xvi 55 Observations on Od iii 29, xvi. 333 Chronology of his works, xvii. 206. Various emendations and illustrations, xvii 13. Coincidence between and Ferdusi, 458 Markland's notes to, xviii 126 Inconsistent in the quantity of Gyges, 234
- Horæ Classicae*, iii. 105, 332.
- Pelagica, Dr. Herbert Marsh's, notice of, xii. 383 Observations on, xiv 56
- Hornayr's*, Baron, History of the Tyrol and Tyrolese, the excellence of, vi 319.
- Horn*, Dr, Professor of Theology at Dorpat, notice of his Præ Essay, entitled 'The Gnostics of the Bible,' v 5
- Horne Tooke*, referred to, in 'Nugæ Grammaticæ,' iii 8. On his opinion that the foundation of the Latin language is in the Greek, 119 On the opposition to his opinions expressed under the article 'Grammar,' in Dr Rees' Cyclopædia, 409.
- Horne's* Introduction to the Knowledge of the Scriptures, notice of, xvii 215. ix 58.
- Horse*, on the Trojan, considered as a proof of the reality of a Trojan war, by Mr. Townsend, xx. 1.
- , veneration of, by the earliest of the Postdiluvians, xx 4.
- Horsley*, Bishop, his opinion on Greek accents, noticed and confirmed, i. 574. His Horse referred to, in illustration of the word 'Hades,' iii 276.
- 'Hortus ubi,' Latin poem. by Joy, vi. 374

- Horus, Egyptian idol, on the, ix. 573.<sup>1</sup>
- Hosea, chap. 13th, ver. 3, referred to and illustrated, i. 150.
- Hospitality practised in ancient times, and held in high estimation, x. 229. xviii. 75.
- Hotibius and Porson coincide in an emendation of Aristophanes, xvii. 11.
- Hottentot Language, iv. 351. Ten numerals of the, 119. Lord's Prayer in the, xii. 452.
- Hottinger, on a quotation of, from Kircher, iii. 372.
- Hou, in the Arabic language, xviii. 52.
- 'Houardius carceres invisens,' Latin Poem, x. 345.
- Houses in Spain, regulations respecting their structure, xiii. 310.
- Houshold gods, on, x. 230.
- Howes, translator of Persius, additional remarks of, upon his author, viii. 174.
- Howling of dogs, on the, by Barker, v. 73.
- Hudson, a German editor of Æsop, iv. 143.
- Huet, Bishop of Avranches, on his opinions respecting the Latinisation of names, i. 247. His violation of the rule of Terentianus Maurus, 269.
- Hug, Professor, of Tübing, in his introduction to the books of the New Testament, the opponent of the opinions of M. Eichhorn, v. 6.
- Hughes, I. S., Cambridge Prize Latin Essays of, iv. 446. xvii. 311.
- , J., Oxford Prize Latin Poem, iv. 375.
- 'Hui' and 'cui,' used as dissyllables, xviii. 238.
- Hullman, Professor, of Franckfort, one of the German literati, on his 'Essays on the history of the middle ages,' vi. 315.
- Human character, inquiry into the diversity of the, in various nations, by Professor Scott, vi. 82, 248. vii. 1. ix. 68. x. 237. xii. 41, 263. xiii. 305.
- race, progressive improvement in the, from South to North. x. 252.
- Sacrifices, on, x. 238. Whether they ever formed a part of the Roman worship, xi. 362.
- Hume, on his character as an historian, ix. 1.
- Hungary language, Ten numerals of the, iv. 112.
- Huntley, Marquis of, Dr. Brown's Oration before the, xiv. 126.
- Hurd's Moral and Political Dialogues, quotation from, in illustration of an opinion advanced in the 'Nugæ Grammaticæ,' iii. 11.
- Hurd, Bishop, his discovery of allegory in the third Georgic, anticipated by the Jesuit Catrou, xi. 260.
- Huron language, iv. 350. Ten numerals of, 119.
- Hurter, M., of Schaffhausen, on his history of the reign of Theodoric, vi. 318.
- Huschke, edit. 'Analecta Critica in Anthologia Græc.,' notice of, viii. 281.

- Hutcheson, Dr., his opinions on the operation of a moral sense, ix. 74.
 His character as a writer, 81.
 Hyperboreæ, M. Ouvaroff on the functions of the, xv. 121.
 Hylas, on the quantity of its first syllable, ix. 342.
 'Hymns Homericæ animadversiones in,' notice of, viii. 4.
 Hyperborean isle of Diodorus identified with Albion, iii. 176, 247 ————— nations, to whom the term was applied, viii. 225.
 Hyperboreæ, mentioned by Pindar, and by a Scholiast on Pindar, viii 225.
 Hypo-bacchius, the foot possesses dignity and gracefulness, xi. 123.
 Hypochondriacism, observations on, ix. 126.

I.

- Iambic verse, properties of, iv. 515.
 ——— Foot, last syllable, though naturally short, frequently lengthened by the classic writers, vii. 33.
 ——— metre of Anacreon, on the, by Holt Oakes, v. 173. On the Iam-bic metre of Phædrus, xvi. 74.
 ——— Trimeter, peculiarity in, i. 76.
 Iambics, Professor Porson's, translation into Greek of a Cantata, iii. 332.
 And of the epitaph on Alexis, 233. Observations on them, 293.
 Iarchi, Biblical Criticism by, i. 323.
 Ibrahim, Bashaw, his tyranny; and a description of his residence, ix.
 640.
 Icelanders, historical Chronicles of the, xii. 266.
 Iconographie ancienne, vii. 209
 Ictus metricus, called by Hermann and his followers, Arsis, description of the, ix. 375.
 Ideas, on the imagination and association of, i. 280.
 Ideler, M., of Berlin, on his work entitled, Historical researches on the astronomical observations of the ancients, v. 10.
 Idem, on the application of the word, vi. 69.
 Identity of Albion with the Hyperborean islands of Diodorus, iii. 176, 247.
 Ideots, or Cretins, inhabiting certain vallies of the Alps, a peculiar and anomalous race of men, x. 239.
 Idioms, on the, of the Chinese language, xiii. 355.
 Idriary, on the, of the Chinese world, xv. 91. xix. 71.
 Idols, the first representation of the Deity by, ix. 216.
 ———, Union of, by the Egyptians, 217. In the form of pillars or blocks, 218.

Idyllia, on the, of the Greek pastoral poets, of Theocritus, of Bion and Moschus, xx. 124.

Ignatii Epistolæ, xvii. 275.

'Ilia ducat,' on the meaning of the expression, v. 102: * .

Iliad, on the introductory lines of the, iii. 314. On the magnificence of the descriptions in the eight first books of the, xv. 334. Of the MS. of, discovered at Milan, xx. 402.

Imagery, complication of, vii. 395.

Images, dedicated to the sun and other celestial orbs, by the Zabii, xiii. 286. Boldness of the, in Horace, xv. 68.

Imitations of Horace by Porson, iv. 99.

Imitative versification, on its nature and efficacy, xi. 119. xii. 329. xiii. 273. Johnson's sentiments on, xii. 335.

'Imminente, Lunâ,' on the expression, ix. 284.

Imposition of hands, the practice of, applied to the illustration of Scripture, iv. 465.

Improvisation, de l', Poétique chez les anciens, xv. 249. xvi. 96, 357.

Improvisatori, on the Italian, xv. 249.

Inca language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of, 117.

Incisio in Latin versification, Putschius quoted on the, xv. 102.

Index auctorum, qui citantur in Philemonis Lexico, vii. 40.

— to the three volumes of Brunck's Analecta, x. 115.

Indexes, on Greek, by Merrick, xx. 247.

Indians, notions of, respecting the creation, v. 375.

Indian cities, on the vast extent of, xvii. 321.

Indians, North American, on their superstitions, ix. 214. Their ferocity, ib. On their martial songs, xii. 56.

Induction, on reasoning by, xvi. 303.

Inductive method of Philosophy, on the, xvii. 114, 118.

Infanticide in the East, on the prevalence of the practice, vii. 316.

'Informatus,' query respecting the word, xiii. 193.

Inhospitality, severely fined by the Lucanians, ix. 229.

'Injuriarum finis Africarum,' Cambridge Latin Prize Ode by Farhill, i. 408. Another on the same subject by E. Blomfield, 403.

Injuries, the forgiveness of, recommended by the ancient moralists, xviii. 79. *

Inopus, a river of Delos, overflows at the same time with the Nile, xiv. 9.

Inquiry into the causes of the diversity of the human character in the different nations of the world, in a series of essays, by Professor Scott, vi. 22, 242. vii. 1. ix. 63. x. 237. xii. 41, 263. xiii. 305.

Inquiry relative to 'Nestoris Novariensis vocabula.' ix. 261.

Ind. Cl. J.—Suppl. to No. XL.

- Inquiry into the nature and efficacy of imitative versification, xi. 119.
 xii. 329. xiii. 273.
- Inquisition, history of the, x. 423.
- Insanity, more frequently arising from joy than grief, ix. 67.
- Inscriptio a Pouquevillio Actii inventa, et interpretatio, xvii. 367.
 Artæ reperta in Templo, τῆς Παρθενίας, 371. Thermitana, 372. In P.
 Titidium Capitonem, 373. Bæbii in Glyconem, 374. Clarkiana, 375.
 Quam post Corayum edidit Jacobsius, ib. • Faurisiana, 376. Albana, a Marino illustrata, ib. Syracusana, ib. A Grutero edita, 377. In lapidem Anatellontis, 378. A Sponio edita, ib. Leakiana, 381. Mem-moniæ Statuæ, 384.
- Inscriptionem ad Actiacam Commentatio, auctore J. F. Boissonade, xvii. 366.
- Inscriptions, Latin, in St. Helier's church, in Jersey, i. 82. At Axum, 83. at Damietta, 93. Delian, 94. Greek, found in the island of Chios, 117. At Sens, 161. On a helmet and caldron found in the Alpheus,
 328. On an Ionic temple in Blenheim Park, 521. On a Sarcophagus at Fenica, 557. At Saguntum, 657. In the ruins of Herculaneum, 531. Antiquity of, on stone, 540. For the monument of London, in Latin, by Wheelwright, 676. Fac-simile of a Greek, found at Eleusis, 720. Remarks on the inscription at Blenheim, 897. And on that at Saguntum, 907. iii. 63. iv. 263. vi. 4. On a gate in the fortress of Amboor in the East Indies, iii. 111. Punic, notice of essay on the, 198. In Asia Minor and Greece, by Mr. Walpole, iv. 85, 456.
 On a Sarcophagus at Alexandria Troas, and on a ruined temple at Parchia, 406. On a monumental urn in a grove at W . . . , 489. On a stone from Alexandria, 498. A Phœnician, v. 47, 399. On bricks found at the supposed site of ancient Babel, 126. Collected in the islands in the Mediterranean, 144, 395. Found at ancient Saguntum, 270. vi.
 153. On the Tyrian, 191. vii. 147: Latin, on Addison, Johnson, and Raine, vi. 203. On the Greek theatre in Syracuse, 391. On a Cippus found at Lyons, vii. 42. Latin, on F. Wilkinson, 141. On the Phœnician, 191. At ancient Saguntum, 226. On the Tyrian, 276.
 Fleetwood's Latin, 425. At Saguntum, viii. 30. At Beroth, 185. Latin, 139. On Dr. Beattie, ix. 132. For Sir John Moore's Monument, 178.
 On Dr. Jowett's tablet, 258. On the Rosetta stone, remarks on, x. 66.
 At Bournabat, 167. At Samos, 172. On a fountain of mineral waters, of Bourbon, 174. At Barcelona, 331. On Bishop Stillingfleet and Dr. Cotes, 343. At Messina, on some young men, who perished in the straits, 344. Inscriptione, de Græcâ, xi. 181. Inscription over a fountain at Hamersley Hall, 182. Ancient Elean inscription, 348.
 Curious Latin, xii. 204. From Dr. Clarke's Travels, 314. With points, an ancient Roman, 451. The Elean, xiii. 118. On some re-

- markable, by Col. Leake, 152. At Skripú, 331. On T. Wilson's monument, 444. On one of the Elgin marbles, xiv. 185. On a church wall in the ruins of Cyretia, 339. By Michael Angelo, 386. Upon the column of Diocletian, remarks on the, xv. 161, 374. On a marble tablet found at Pompeii, 324, 325. Roman, at Tarragona, xvi. 387. Orchomenian, from the British Museum, 392. On Arrian's tomb, 394.
- Inscriptions et Belles Lettres, prix proposés par l' Académie des, xviii. 207.
- ' Insuetis propius adeundi metus erat,' Lat. poem by Joy, ix. 87.
- Integrity of the Text of the Hebrew Scriptures, on the, viii. 374. ix. 395. x. 268. Answers to these remarks, xi. 112. xii. 77.
- ' Interea,' on the derivation of the word, xv. 346.
- Interpolations in the present version of the Bible, pointed out, xvii. 154.
- Introduction to the knowledge of the Scriptures by Horne, notice of, xx. 58.
- Invernizzi, Phil., of Leipsic, his edition of Aristophanes, noticed, iv. 142.
- Invidi supplicium, xvii. 454.
- ' Iol debellata,' Cambridge Latin Prize poem, xvi. 175.
- Ion, Sir William Drummond's mistake with respect to, i. 536.
- Ionia, on Diana's Temple in, i. 898.
- Ionic Temple at Blenheim, inscription on, i. 521.
- dialect, on the, ix. 364. Rarely used by the Greek Tragic Poets, xiii. 3.
- ' Ionicæ, horæ,' extract from, vii. 377.
- Iopas, perhaps drawn by Virgil from an individual character, xi. 231.
- Iota, derived from the Hebrew Jod, x. 26.
- Iphigenia, contrary accounts of the fate of, xiii. 21.
- Irish language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 107. Its similarity to the Scythian, xi. 359. Use of moods and tenses in, xix. 345.
- Iron age, on the evils attending it, vi. 129.
- Isaiah, on the three first chapters of, i. 809. iii. 235. iv. 422.
- Isidore Clarius, proscribed in the Index Expurgatorius, x. 26.
- Isocrates, MS. of, xi. 86. His Censura Polycratis, falsely called, Laudatio Busiridis, xviii. 5.
- Italian language, on the, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of, 112. Points of resemblance between it and English, ix. 117.
- Italy, on the antiquities of, v. 262. Its indirect intercourse with us, and influence on our language, ix. 120. Two annual harvests in, 335. On the western islands of, said to have been peopled with monkeys by Jupiter, xiv. 15.

Ithome, siege of, xvii. 111.
 Itinerary of the Morea, notice of, xv. 156.
 Itinerarium Alexandri, notice of, xix. 374.

ia and ω permutata, ix. 302.

Ἰατρὸς ὅτι ἄριστος καὶ φιλόσοφος, xvii. 91.

Ἰεροφάντης, ἱεροκέρυξ, in the Eleusinian mysteries, xiv. 167.

Ἰνα, joined with ἐν signifies ubi, xi. 47.

Ἰππῶν, on Blomfield's derivation of, ix. 114.

Ἰσθί, on the Syntax of, v. 185, 377.

Ἰσοκράτους λόγος περὶ ἀντιδόσιως, illustrated by Mustoxydi, viii. 124.

Ἰστάμενον μῆνα, ix. 283.

J.

J, French, the sound of it in English words; xii. 215.

Jacobs, Greek epigram by, x. 341. Greek poems of, xi. 178.

Jacob's blessing of his sons, dissertation on, iii. 387. Supplement to, v. 30.

Jade, employed in the making of Murrhine vases, i. 472.

Jaloff Numerals, iv. 520.

Jamblichus, translation of, by Mr. T. Taylor, xvii. 213.

Jamee quoted in illustration of some remarks on Pagan worship, xv. 94.

Jasher, on the book of, mentioned in the Old Testament, x. 23.

Jefferson's remarks on an antique metal figure, iv. 490.

Jeremiah, chap. 31st, v. 15, quoted and illustrated, i. 851.

Jersey, Latin inscription in the church of St. Helier's, i. 82. Epitaph discovered in, iii. 284.

'Jerusalem,' Cambridge Prize English Poem, xvi. 167.

'———', The Siege of,' Oxford Prize Latin Poem, xviii. 96.

Jeu d'Esprit, Greek Iambics, xiv. 356.

Job, chap. 38th, v. 1, illustrated, i. 147.

——, Book of, translated by Miss Smith, remark on by Bellamy, i. 163.

'Bellator equus,' Latin translation, xvi. 397.

Joddrell's Latin poem, 'Effodiuntur opes,' xiii. 394.

Joecher's Universal Lexicon of learned men, continued from Adelung, by Rotermund, notice of, xi. 68.

1 John, St., chap. 5th, v. 7, 8, observations on, by a Country Parish Priest, i. 869. Remarks on the observations, ix. 182, 305.

John, St., chap. 10th, v. 1—5, explanation of, i. 510.

Johnian, a, on the existence of Troy, vii. 105.

- Johnson, Dr., on the English verb, i. 783. Latin inscription on, vi. 203. Remarks on his epitaph upon Mrs. Thrale, xii. 6. His letter to the Rev. T. Wilson, xviii. 199. On the difficulties of Lexicography, xvii. 411. He allows that an image may be undefined without being incorrect, xiii. 8.
- Jonah, Mr. Bryant's criticism upon, vi. 328.
- Jones, on Eastern languages, as illustrative of the Greek, v. 183. Illustrations of Homer, 221. Classical criticism, vi. 193. Greek Grammar, notice of, xii. 23. On Marsh's 'Horæ Pelasgiæ,' xiv. 58. On the introductory chapters of Moses, xvi. 378. Correction of a passage in Photius, 390. Remarks on Æschylus' Prometheus, xvii. 30. On Josephus, 198.
- Jonson, Ben, referred to as a grammarian, i. 793. On his expression, 'Noon of Night,' v. 107.
- Joseph, on the interpretation of the name, v. 407.
- Josephus, passage of, quoted, iv. 40. Question respecting the existence of a translation of, in Germanico, Hebræâ Linguâ, viii. 386. Apologetical paragraph at the end of his antiquities, xvi. 389. Whether an historian and apologist of the Bible, xvii. 198. Explanation by Pearson of a passage in, 285.
- Joshua, on Mr. Bryant's criticism upon, vi. 326.
- 'Journal of Travels through Asiatic Turkey and Persia,' notice of, i. 221.
- Jowett, Dr., inscription for a tablet to the memory of, ix. 258.
- Joy's, H. H., Latin poems, i. 261, 303, 890. iii. 217. v. 104, 225, 406, 410. vi. 374. vii. 30, 414. ix. 87. Epistola Jacubo Jones, S. T. P. i. 280. His Prize Poem, iv. 75.
- Jubilee of the King of Saxony, Odes in commemoration of the, xix. 77. Oration of Herman upon, xx. 141.
- Judges, chap. 11th, v. 36th, quoted, i. 302.
- Juellius, apologia ecclesiæ anglicanæ, Smith's version of, xii. 457.
- Jumonville, his imitation of Virgil, xi. 55.
- Juno wounded by Hercules, xiii. 11. Named Gorgas, παρὰ τὴν γοργόπητα, from the power of producing fright, xiv. 49.
- Jupiter, wrestled with Hercules, xiii. 11. Called Cerdylas, because he is the source of all gain, xiv. 37. On the coincidence between, and the planet Jupiter, and Jupiter Demiurgus, by Thomas Taylor, xx. 324.
- Jurisprudence, tempered by climate, instances of, xii. 63.
- Justi Lipsii animadversiones in Senecæ Hippolytum, v. 57.
- Justin emendated, iv. 31. Conjecture on by Dresigius, x. 21.
- Juvenal, extract from the scholiast on, i. 456. Illustrated in the passage 'Quis tumidum guttur miratur in Alpibus?' 702. Proposed emendation of, v. 415. Observation on Sat. 1st, 157. vi. 125. Rupert's

- edition of, notice of Hermann's critique on, viii. 236. Sat. 14th, l. 97, vindicated, x. 107. Corrected, xi. 14. Coincidence between, and Pope, xiii. 167. Desultory remarks on, xv. 18.
 'Juvenis,' on, as synonymous with 'adolescens,' i. 473.
 'Juxta,' on the use of the word, x. 398.

K.

- Kadiac Island language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 114.
 ——— River ———, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 115.
 Kæpke, M., of Berlin, teacher in the Gymnasium, an able philologist, author of a valuable work on the tactics of the Greeks, ix. 11.
 Kætel language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 118.
 Kaimes, Lord, on the figures of Icelandic poetry, xvii. 356.
 Kakkerlaks, or moon-eyed Indians, x. 239.
 Kalmuks language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 113.
 Kampshatha language, on the, iv. 349.
 Kamshatka language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 113.
 Kant, philosophy of, too exclusively followed by Hermann, xi. 45.
 Kasson language, iv. 118.
 Katon, on the Abyssinians, xii. 304.
 Kaune, M., on his work entitled 'Charts of General History,' v. 10.
 Kayser, Phil., assistant editor with M. Creutzer of the early Greek historians, iv. 144.
 'Kedem,' explanation of the Hebrew word, xiv. 73.
 Keedaar, meaning of the word, xv. 195.
 Kemble, Mr. John, his introductions of improvement in theatrical costume commended, vii. 60.
 Kennicot, Dr., passages in the old version of the bible corrected by, iv. 5. Referred to on the best methods of translating the Scriptures into the Eastern languages, 440. On his merits as a Hebrew scholar, iii. 254. v. 63. xiii. 50.
 Ker, Dr. John, on the title 'Rex Britanniarum,' i. 193.
 Keys of Life and Death explained, xi. 92.
 Kidd, Rev. T., his proposals for a Greek translation of Milton, xviii. 238.
 Kimchi, on the Buchanan Roll of the Pentateuch, viii. 10. On Mr. Belamy's translation of the Scriptures, xviii. 157. Biblical Criticism, viii. 412.
 King's 'illumina<sup>ta</sup> antiqua' referred to, for prints and plans of Welsh houses and fortresses of ancient times, iv. 45.
 King, Archbishop, where educated, ix. 4.
 ——— Edward, Milton's Lycidas supposed to have been verses written upon him by Bishop Pearson, xii. 211.

- 1 Kings, Book of, illustrations of, iii. 266.
 2 Kings, vi. 11. Referred to, i. 149.
 Kippis, Dr., anecdotes of Casaubon, xii. 181.
 Kisti language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 109.
 Kletzel, M., one of the editors of 'Thesaurus Linguarum Orientalium,' iv. 152.
 Klimius, parts of his subterraneous travels, similar to those of Gulliver,
 ix. 596.
 Klotzii, Opuscula, notice of, x. 309. Libellus de felici audaciâ Horatii, xiii. 291. xv. 61.
 Knapp, Professor, at the University of Halle, the Journals of their Indian missionaries printed under his inspection, iv. 153.
 Knight, Mr. Payne, on the Delian inscription, i. 95. Prolegomena in Homerum, vii. 321. viii. 33, 289. On an Elean inscription, xi. 348. xiii. 113. His opinion of some of the Elgin marbles, xiv. 99. And on the existing text of the works of Homer, ix. 365.
 Knivoel, his edition of Aristophanes, vii. 410.
 Knistenaux language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 116.
 Knoess, Gustavus, a Swedish Scholar, author of some valuable works, iv.
 151.
 Koarta language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 118.
 Koehler, on the monument of Comosarya, xiii. 129.
 Kohlers, John David, referred to, in a dissertation upon the Vulgate
 Bible of 1450, 55. iv. 477.
 Kookist language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, 108.
 Koriak language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 114.
 Kothe's Memoirs of Griesbach, notice of, x. 295.
 Kotzebue, on his admirable historical works, his activity in his literary researches, vi. 317.
 Krichthan, Professor, his work on the Olympic hymns of Pindar noticed,
 iv. 143.
 Kuster, on his edition of Xenophon Æconomicus, vii. 403. Remarks on his opinions on the force of the middle verb, xv. 304. His explanation of διάθεται, in his doctrine of the middle verb, iii. 155. Short account of his life and works, 269.
 Kyz Devrent described, ix. 633.
 Kyzil Irmak, the River, anciently called Halys, from the Greek ἅλς, ix.
 635.
και, on the quantity of, before a vowel, ix. 338.
κάλαμος explained, ix. 138.
καλίωμα, in the sense of celebration, xii. 23.

Κατὰ, remarks on, by Mr. Gail, xviii. 137.

Καταρχηρισιάζειν, x. 21.

Καταφθίρειν, denotes universal destruction, xii. 90. Used in a peculiar sense in the New Testament, 91.

Καταφθίμινος, ix. 59.

Κε, on the use of, with the optative mood, x. 21.

Κίκλημαι, on the meaning of, xiii. 252.

Κελεύω, ix. 244.

Κενητάριον, xi. 361.

Κηροπλάστας, de Lectione, Barkeri Epist. ad Gaisfordium, xii. 325.

Κινδυνύειν, on the use of the word by Plato, viii. 275.

Κολχίας, M. Gail on the word, xvii. 170.

Κόρημα, xii. 396.

Κότος, xii. 218.

Κόκλος, locus in foro, ubi σκυῖη venibant, xii. 160.

Κύριος τῶν τριακονταετηρέων, on the expression, on the Rosetta stone, x. 73.

Κυτάζω, xii. 393. Κυτίω, 401.

Κώνισα, xiv. 294.

L.

'Labarum,' Essay on the standard, iv. 223.

Lacedæmonians, on the character of the, xiii. 308. On the respect paid by them to old age, iii. 320.

'Lachrymæ Elegiacæ,' xx. 113.

Ladder ascending up to heaven, a notion parallel to this in the mythology of Persia, ix. 217.

'Lady,' on the derivation of the English term, v. 313.

Lælius, Cicero's essay quoted, in illustration of remarks in an essay on the respect paid to old age by the ancients, iii. 330.

Lagoas Bay language, iv. 351. Ten Numerals of, 119.

Laguna, Epistle of, to Heyne, viii. 128.

Lainex, distich of, on himself, xii. 214.

Laire, the Abbé, quoted respecting the variations in two copies of an edition of the Schelhorn Bible, iv. 479.

Lambinet's valuable work noticed, 'Recherches sur l'origine de l'Imprimerie,' iv. 481.

Lamouts language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 113.

Lampoon language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 110.

Langhorne, an incorrect translation of a passage in Plutarch, iii. 145.

Langlés, M., sur l'Art du Deafin, xvii. 182.

Langton, Bennet, Greek letter of, xv. 375.

Language, essay on the origin and progress of, by Scott, i. 37, 422. The - Latin, its affinity to the Teutonic and Celtic languages, iii. 117. To the Greek and Sanscrit, vi. 375. ix. 219. To the ancient British, xviii. 355. On the copiousness of the, xii. 194.

- Language, Welsh, its affinity to the Biscayan, iv. 267.
- , on the ancient British, xvii. 457. xx. 169, 260. Its connection with the Phœnician, 446. With the Hebrew, xviii. 103. With the Greek, 107. With the English and French, xix. 225.
- , on the, of action, xvii. 142. Of flowers, fruits, &c., ix. 208.
- , on the effect of time upon, ix. 38.
- , Italian and English, resemblance between, ix. 117.
- Languages, on some of the Eastern, xii. 229.
- Langue de l' Egypt, sur la, i. 101. vii. 54.
- Langage, de la formation du Grecque, i. 204.
- Lansdowne, Marq. of, where educated, ix. 4.
- Laplanders, their general character highly amiable, xii. 59. The refinement of their songs, ib. Linnæus' eulogy on them, 60.
- Larcher, de M., notice sur la vie et les écrits, x. 130.
- Latham's Oxford Latin Prize Poem, vi. 182.
- Latin language, on the, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 111. Its affinity to the Celtic and Teutonic, iii. 117. Greek and Sanscrit, parallel between, vi. 375. ix. 219. Origin of, 222. Its affinity to the Portuguese, 600. Distinctive mark over the indeclinable particles of the, x. 64. Its copiousness, xii. 84. Metres on, i. 515. Supines, 434, 848. Literature, iii. 353. Words, list of, similar to the ancient Cornish, xviii. 359. Poetry of Milton, Symmons on the, ix. 338. Poetry of Professor Barrow and Dupont, on the, x. 29. Poets, Modern, on the, i. 283.
- Latinization of names, on the, i. 247.
- Latomus, Epigram by, xvi. 186.
- Laughter, on, as not always the effect of joy, i. 606.
- Laurentius Toscanus, epitaph on his tomb, xvi. 185.
- Laws of the Twelve Tables, on the, iv. 504.
- ' Law of brotherhood,' in Peru, xiii. 308.
- Lawson, M., his Latin Ode on the Comet, vii. 65. His Tripes paper, 1814, ix. 507. Remarks on his Ode, viii. 288. His Latin Prize Ode, vi. 356.
- Lawyers educated at public schools, List of, viii. 449.
- Leake's, Major, answer to some observations upon his work, ' the Researches in Greece,' contained in the Quarterly Review, x. 402. On some remarkable inscriptions, xii. 152. His account of an inscription found among the ruins of Cyrene, xiv. 399. On the inscription upon Diocletian's column, xv. 161. Upon the controversy respecting Troy, xviii. 141.
- Ind. Cl. Jl.—Suppl. to No. XI.*

- Learned men, on the longevity of, xv. 207.
- ‘ Learning, on ancient and modern,’ discourse by Addison, xi. 229.
- Le Clerc, defended from the censures of Bentley and Porson, viii. 89.
- Lectures, detail of, delivered at Gottingen University, ix. 27.
- Leda, on the origin of the fable of, xiii. 14.
- Legion, Roman, its numbers and divisions, dissertation on the, by Heyne, in an epistle to William Vincent, xi. 169.
- ‘ Legione de Manliana,’ Dr. Vincent’s tract, xiv. 192.
- Leigh, Mr., his account of the sudden illness of Professor Porson, i. 720.
- Leipsic Book Fair, catalogue of books sold there, xiii. 453.
- Leland’s Latin Epistle to Cranmer quoted, in illustration of the term, ‘ Rex Britanniarum,’ i. 194.
- Lempriere, Dr., Master of Exeter School, vindication of, xix. 192.
- , Classical Dictionary of, iii. 132, 139. iv. 93.
- Lene accent, initial sign, introduced by the grammarian Aristophanes, xi. 272.
- Lennepp’s conjecture on a passage in Propertius, xiii. 415. xiv. 216.
- Quoted, and his opinion examined in reference to the originality of Kuster’s observations upon the middle verb, xv. 304. His new edition of Hesiod announced, iv. 141.
- Lennox’s Enquiries concerning the course of studies to be pursued by students of the English Law, xi. 370.
- Critique on Ossian’s Temora, xiv. 274. xvi. 344.
- Lentz, M., one of the German literati, on his archæological work, v. 12.
- Leo Diaconus, Prospectus of an edition of, xvi. 403.
- Leo’s observations on Mr. Bellamy’s specimen of a new translation of the Scriptures, xvii. 221.
- Leo IX. and Leo X., distich on the death of each of these popes, xx. 203.
- Leonidæ utriusque carmina, notice of, xii. 239.
- Letronne, analysis of the first book of Clavier’s Pausanias, xiii. 316. Sur l’annonce de Xenophon, par M. Gail, xv. 175.
- Letter, Latin, from Hearne’s diaries, v. 125. From Mr. Maurice, iii. 283.
- From Mr. Barker, on pagan trinities, iii. 125. iv. 89. From Lord Grenville, on the new edition of Stephens’ Greek Thesaurus, iv. 515.
- Latin, on covering the head in churches, v. 125.
- Letters, Greek, in Hermogenis Progymnasmatâ, v. 382, 384. French, from M. Sallier, in the same work, 385, 386, 390. English, from R. Ellys and W. Pemberton, 387, 394. Latin, from J. Ward, 389, 392.
- Lettson’s Prize Odes and Epigrams, xiv. 346. xvi. 175.
- Levesque, de la formation du langage Grecque, i. 204.
- Levetzow, Professor of Arts at Berlin, notice of his valuable archæological works, v. 12.

- Leucophrys, the ancient name of Tenedos, xiii. 29.
 Lewis XIV., eminent artists in his reign, iv. 27.
 Lexicography, Johnson's account of the difficulties of, xvii. 411.
 Lexicon, Jacobi Facciolati, noticed, i. 929. Suidæ, iii. 268. Hoffmanni, ib. Philemonis, critical notice of, vii. 37. Smith's edition of Schleusner's, ix. 223. The Universal, of Adelung, xi. 68.
 Ley's Letter to Dr. Lempriere, xix. 197.
 Libanius, MSS. of, account of, xi. 87.
 Libellus de felici audaciâ Horatii, C. A. Klotzii, xiii. 291.
 Libraries of Oxford and Cambridge, on the comparative merits of the, xvi. 5.
 Lichtenstein's testimony adduced, in the controversy respecting the Vulgate Bible of 1450, iv. 483.
 Lie, definition of a, v. 82.
 'Life, Stages of,' alluded to in the Roman poets, i. 473.
 Lily, in the Holy Scriptures, the emblem of humility, xv. 203.
 'Lindley Murray examined,' notice of, i. 254.
 Lines, Latin, by a Sub-Professor at Cambridge, xvi. 395.
 Lingam, idol, similar to the Phallus of the Egyptians, xii. 73.
 Linnæus, quoted in illustration of remarks on the Hebrew word Nachash, iii. 75.
 Lipenius, his date of the Vulgate Bible coincides with that of Andrea Schottus, iv. 474.
 Lipsius, on a passage in the Germany of Tacitus, iii. 159.
 Lipsii animadversiones in Senecæ Hippolytum, v. 57.
 'Littera scripta manet,' Latin epigram, i. 266.
 'Litteræ,' on the Delian marble brought from Athens by Lord Sandwich, observations on the, by Dr. Taylor, xi. 184.
 Literary Notices, i. 391, 660. iii. 252. iv. 522. v. 226, 431. vi. 213, 434. vii. 227, 459. viii. 219, 454, 482. ix. 225, 411. x. 184, 419. xi. 187, 370. xii. 220, 479. xiii. 202, 449. xiv. 219, 386. xv. 182, 376. xvi. 186, 400. xvii. 213, 458. xviii. 204, 395. xix. 197, 366. xx. 211, 396.
 ——— forgeries, account of, extracted from the Parian Chronicle by Robins, xvi. 123.
 ——— compositions, on the pleasures derived from, i. 225.
 Literati, German, of the researches of the, relative to sciences and ancient and general literature, iii. 348. iv. 139. v. 1. vi. 313.
 Literature Grecque, par Mustoxydi, viii. 124.
 ———, Traité d' Hippocrate, xvii. 89.
 Littlehales, Latin epitaph upon, v. 221. His Tripos paper, 1789, xv. 86.
 Lithuanian language, iv. 349.

- Liturgy, the English, illustrated by the Latin and Greek versions of it, xix. 178.
- Liverpool, Earl of, where educated, ix. 4.
- Livonian language, on the, iv. 349.
- Livy, remarks on his Roman History, on the materials from which he composed it, ix. 39. Anecdote from, relative to the Athenian Matron, 67.—and Horace, 594. On a passage in, subsequently to the relation of the death of Asdrubal, xv. 115. Emendation of, by Gibbon, 368. Quoted in illustration of Juvenal, 21. In illustration of a passage in Tacitus, iii. 162.
- Locke, on education, quoted, vi. 238. Coincidence between and Alexis and Clearchus, xiii. 165. His ignorance of the writings of Aristotle asserted and proved, xix. 45.
- Locket, Capt., his elementary treatises on Arabic Syntax, notice of, xii. 194.
- Lockett, A., Biblical Criticism, xii. 436. Classical, 471.
- Locrians, the nation of the, noted for perfidy, xi. 9.
- Lofft, Capel, Mr., his Latin poem 'Etona,' xi. 33.
- Logic, its utility as the ground-work of a liberal course of studies, i. 766.
- London Polyglott, observations on the, iii. 239.
- , Bishop of, his Latin verses to Hannah More, i. 120.
- Longevity, the opinion of, familiar to the ancients, proved and illustrated by a dissertation of Lucian upon the subject, vi. 390.
- of learned men, instances of the, xv. 207.
- Longinum animadversiones in, iii. 64.
- Longinus, critical remarks on, i. 818. iii. 340. iv. 395. v. 40. viii. 79. Quoted in illustration of remarks on the excellencies of Horace, xv. 61. Coincidence between and Milton and Ovid, xiii. 167.— between and Young, 166.
- Longolius, his just explanation of a passage in Tacitus, iii. 160. On the meaning of dignantur as used by Tacitus, 162.
- Longus, fragment of, viii. 403.
- Lonsdale, J., Cambridge Prize Latin Ode, i. 6.
- Lord's Prayer, in the Hottentot and Madagascar languages, xii. 452. In the Romaic, v. 401.
- 'Lord;' derivation of the English title, v. 313.
- Lot, daughters of, on the error with respect to them, derived from the common version of the Old Testament, xix. 249.
- Lots, on the divination by, xvi. 207.
- Love Feast, curious account of, among the Yezidis, a sect of Mahometans, vii. 144.

- Lowth, in his Latin verses, instances of his violation of the Rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 296. Greek and Latin verses by, xi. 176. Ode by, xii. 176. His rule with respect to Conjunctions, iii. 3. On the use of were as a Subjunctive Mood, 15. Quoted in exposition of a passage in 1st of Isaiah, 235. His comment on the same passage, 237. His metrical arrangement of Isaiah, 254. His translation of a passage in the 1st chapter, 256. His remark on Horace's implied contempt of the mythology of his country, iv. 490.
- Luc, M. de, anecdote of, ix. 76.
- Lucan, quoted in illustration of remarks in an essay, 'De felici audaciâ Horatii, xv. 73.
- Lucanians, a law amongst them, imposing a fine upon inhospitality, x. 229.
- Lucchesinius, quoted in explanation of a passage in the 1st Olynth. of Demosthenes, iii. 152.
- Lucian emendated and explained, vi. 125, 143. ix. 158. xi. 199. xiii. 71. xiv. 77. xv. 151. xvi. 232. xvii. 326. xviii. 48, 317. xix. 24. On a valuable MS. of, xi. 87.
- , coincidence of with Claudian and Cicero, xi. 52. And Pope, parallel passage in, xx. 15. Quoted by Stanley in his notes upon Callimachus, xvi. 167.
- Lucretius, inscription on a leaf of, of Mr. Bryant, v. 174. Quoted i. 44.
- Luden, Professor, of Jena, his valuable histories of the lives of Grotius and Sir William Temple noticed, vi. 313.
- Ludicrous, essay on the, i. 242.
- Ludis de veterum, privatis et publicis, v. 67.
- Ludolf, J. on the Abyssinians, xii. 294.
- Ludorum veterum de origine, v. 69. De divisione, 71.
- Luke, chap. ii. 18, 19, illustrated, i. 588. Illustrations of various passages of his Gospel, ix. 487.
- Lumsden's Persian Grammar, notice of, xii. 429.
- Lunkit's language, ten Numerals of the, iv. 108.
- Lunn, Mr., account of, by Dr. Parr, xii. 220. At his sale, the prices of the books, xiv. 343.
- 'Lusitania Liberata,' Lonsdale's Cambridge Prize Latin Ode, i. 6.
- Luther, Erasmus' opinion of, xi. 181.
- Luxury, superstition in alliance with, ix. 349. Different apprehensions of, xii. 48. Its character and prevalence among the ancients, 49.
- Lybissa, formerly the name of the present Gheybize, the repository of the ashes of Hannibal, ix. 632.

- Lycidas, Milton's, was Edward King, verses on him supposed to be written by Bishop Pearson, xii. 211.
- Lycophron, on the 'Alexandra' of, v. 113. Birth-place and life of, ib. Patronised by Ptolemy Philometor, 114. Account of a MS. of, xi. 88. Translation of his Cassandra by Lord Royston, xiii. 1. xiv. 1. One of the poets named the Pleiades, xiii. 3. Peculiarly conversant with the tragic writers, 7. On the obscurity of the word, πῆψα in, xviii. 362.
- Lycurgus, his object in framing the laws of Sparta, xiii. 310. The respect to old age which his laws inculcated, iii. 148. His senate selected from the aged of the State, ib. His encouragement of matrimony among the Spartans, 149.
- Lye's Grammatica Gothica, quoted in illustration of a remark on Greek accents, xii. 319.
- Lygdamus, Edit. Vossius, notice of, xi. 369.
- Lyric metres of Anacreon, iii. 31. iv. 196, 280. Lyric metre of Anacreon a peculiar metre, neither Trochaic, nor Iambic, iv. 197. Difficulty in arranging it from the blunders of transcribers, 199. Its characteristic feature, that it admits isochronous latitude in the thesis of the first foot, 204. Dr. Burney's opinions upon, 281. On the Lyric metres of Ilorace, 291. Of Catullus, 293, 297.
- Lyrical Rhythm, definition of, iii. 56. To be found in the odes of Pindar and in the chorus of the Greek Tragedians, ib.
- Lysander, his remark upon the respect which was paid to old age by the Lacedæmonians, iii. 146.
- Lysias, epitaph explained, xii. 200.
- Lysistrata of Aristophanes, remarks on the, by Seager, i. 496. Emendations of by Bentley, xiv. 137.

- Λυκηναῖος, application of the word by the Greeks, ix. 28.
- Λίος, xii. 398.
- Λίδιος, λύγος, notice of the work, xx. 173.
- Λιμναιὸς, not in Stephens, xiv. 217.
- Λιμνὴ Ἰσπερίτις, the infernal Lake, xi. 318.
- Λίσσομαι, its government, vi. 263.
- Λωτίζω, xiv. 88.

M.

- Ma and Me, terminations in Greek, Latin, and French, power of the letter M in, xii. 216.

- Macassar language, ten numerals of the, iv. 110.
- Mac Donald, Mr., on the information given in his Geographical Memoir of Persia, ix. 450.
- Machinery of Ossian's Poems, xvi. 350.
- Macrobe, dissertation sur la vie de, par M. Alphonse Mahul, xx. 105.
- Macrobius quoted, xv. 124. xvi. 217.
- Macrology, in 'Momi Miscellanea Subseciva,' a fantastical epigram, ας γρημματολογος, by Hegisander, ix. 525.
- 'Macte,' on the construction of, viii. 353.
- Madagascar Language, the Lord's Prayer in the, xii. 452. Ten Numerals of the, iv. 110.
- Maggilwray's essay on the Greek pastoral poets, xvii. 74.
- Magi, on the North American, xiv. 241.
- Magindanao language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 111.
- 'Magnetica vis,' Oxford Latin Prize poem, xix. 216.
- Mahakuass language, ten Numerals of the, iv. 116.
- Mahmud, Sultan of Gheznein, ix. 550.
- 'Mahomet,' Cambridge Prize English Poem, xiv. 153.
- Mahomet's religion modified by Sheikh Mahommed, viii. 231.
- Mahometan history, Major Prince's, notice of, ix. 456.
- Maichelius, two remarkable copies of the Vulgate Bible overlooked by him in his account of the principal libraries of Paris, iv. 477.
- Maittaire's edition of the Latin poets, very imperfect in the indexes, xiii. 80.
- Malabar language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of, 107.
- Malay language, ten Numerals of the, iv. 110.
- Malcolm's, Col., mission to Persia, i. 223.
- Malek Adhel, on the character of, by Hammer, xii. 112.
- Malgre ses dens, derivation of the phrase, x. 318.
- Mallebranche on the philosophical writings of Aristotle, xix. 34. His objections to them founded on ignorance, 37.
- Mallett, his testimony adduced relative to a mine of emeralds in Egypt, iv. 167.
- Malos, signification of the word in Juvenal's 15th Satire, xv. 23.
- Malta, remarks on a Phœnician inscription found in, v. 47, 399. vii. 191. On a Tyrian inscription found there, vii. 147.
- Maltby's edition of Morell's Thesaurus, notice of, xiv. 85. xv. 27.
- Cambridge Prize Epigrams, xviii. 195.
- Maltese language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, 107.
- Malthus, Mr., quoted, on the progressive increase of the human race iv. 327.
- Mamilius, enquiry respecting Dr. Bentley's, ix. 36.

- Man, fall of, defence of the account of the, in Genesis v. 30. The character of, drawn as faithfully as that of female, v. 99. Observations on, vi. 84. Analysis of the active principles of, 86. On the origin of, x. 240.
- Mandingoes language, ten Numerals of the, iv. 114.
- Mandsour language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of, 113.
- Manetho, on the sacred dialect of ancient Egypt, iv. 414. And on the name Hyksos, which was given to the Royal Shepherds, ib.
- Mangu, high character of his letter to Louis V., i. 42.
- Manilianæ Lectiones, xv. 171.
- Manly exercises defended, viii. 192.
- Manna language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 118.
- Mannert, M., of Nuremberg, on his valuable work on the remote periods of the history of Bavaria, vi. 319.
- Mansfield, Lord, ambiguous panegyric on, v. 163.
- Manso, on his translation of Bion and Moschus, iv. 147.
- Maploo language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 108.
- 'Maps', Cambridge Tripos paper, xi. 338.
- Marathon, battle of, the day of its commemoration, i. 901.
- Marathonian inscriptions and antiquities, ix. 196.
- Marchand, his 'Histoire de l'Imprimerie,' quoted in illustration of remarks on the Vulgate Bible of 1450, iv. 474.
- Margites of Homer, on the, xii. 161. Not wholly written in Heroic measure, 162. Doubts respecting the author, 163. On the character Margites, whether an ideot, 164. Eustathius quoted to illustrate it, 165.
- Mariana's account of the Biscayan tongue, vi. 4.
- Mariner's compass, ancient discovery of the, xix. 307.
- Marinus, Boissonade's notice of, xi. 334.
- Markham, Dr., his lectures at Westminster School, xiv. 193.
- Markland's Notes on Horace, xviii. 126. On some of Cicero's orations, xvii. 134. On Tonp, 458.
- Marlborough, Duke of, the prices of remarkable books at his sale, xx. 389.
- Marlianus quoted, relative to the site of the temple of Castor and Pollux, iv. 95.
- Marriage, the precedence of the elder daughter in, by the Hindoo Code, xii. 68. Marriages, on the ceremonies of ancient, x. 230. Of African, 231.
- Marron Henrici, Elegia et Odarium, xx. 201.
- Marsden, quoted in illustration of Deuteronomy, c. xxi. v. 12, i. 797. Referred to, on the affinity of the Irish to the Hebrew and Arabic languages, iv. 265. On the paucity of the primitive languages, 333.

- Marsh's, Dr., Horæ Pelasgica, notice of, xii. 383. His note to Mr. Yates on his Indian copy of the Pentateuch, xviii. 254. Quoted by Dr. Clarke in confirmation of opinions expressed in his Hebrew criticisms, iv. 169.
- Martial, illustrations of, i. 797. Quoted, on the strictness introduced into compositions in Latin verse, viii. 55. Particular characteristic of his epigrams, xv. 213. Two lines of, adapted to religion, ix. 588.
- Martin, in his description of the Western Isles, on the coarse diet of the ancient Britons, iv. 45.
- Martinus Scriblerus, translated into French by M. Larcher, x. 134.
- Martyrium, observations on the word, x. 31.
- Marullus, his imitation of one of the choral odes of Sophocles noticed, xv. 68.
- Marvel, Andrew, ix. 4.
- Mary, Queen of Scots, Latin distich of, at an inn at Buxton, xii. 214.
- Masch's and Boerner's account of the Schelhorn Bible in their edition of Le Long's Bibliotheca Sacra, iv. 479.
- Mashawùn, a sect descended from the Hermesians, i. 64.
- Maskelyne, Gul. Oratio habita Trin. Coll. Cantabr., xii. 241.
- Masks, on the, of the figures on the Portland Vase, xix. 226.
- Mason's edition of the works of Gray, notice of, xi. 183.
- Masorites, the, the inventors of the vowel points and accents in the Hebrew Language, about 500 B. C., x. 26.
- Materialism, on Gall's and Spurzheim's system of, x. 181. Summary account of, 180.
- Materials, writing, of the ancients, i. 539. For the improvement of Stephens's Greek Thesaurus, x. 193.
- Mathematics, advantages of the study of, xvi. 3.
- Mathematicians and Medallists at Cambridge University, vi. 413.
- , whether the Syllogistic form of argument was first adopted by them, xvii. 122.
- Mathew, Mr. H., a communicator of a note of Porson on Sallust, vi. 393. His classical criticism, vii. 142. On the study of the Christian fathers, viii. 368.
- Matlock, on the temperature of its baths, ix. 621.
- Matthew, St., observations upon the first chapter of his Gospel, xvii. 413. On various passages of his Gospel, ix. 467.
- Matthiæ, on his edition of Homer's Hymns and Batrachomyomachia, iv. 140. On his Greek Grammar, 146.
- , Bloomfield anticipated in a note by, vi. 392. Animadversiones in Hymnos Homericos, viii. 4. Græca Grammatica explicita, vii. 316. Observations on the Greek poets, x. 11.
- Ind. Cl. Jl.—Suppl. to No. XL.*

- Matthias, Mr., error of, in his postscript to Gray's works noticed, xx. 321.
- Maurice, Rev. Mr., letter to the Editor of the Classical Journal, iii. 283. Observations on the ruins of Babylon, xix. 181. His translation of Œdipus Tyrannus noticed, viii. 466. Barker's letters to, on Pagan Trinities, iii. 125, 137, 179. iv. 17, 89, 334, 439, 484. v. 240.
- Maurier, Du, letter of Grotius to, i. 765.
- Mawes, St. John, Prize Poem, xii. 273.
- Maximinian's palaces, ruins of, ix. 633.
- May, discoveries of the Abbé, xviii. 207.
- Mayer, M., notice of his expected Mythological Lexicon, v. 9.
- Measures, on the ancient Greek, xvi. 263.
- Mecænas, anecdote of, ix. 41.
- Mecca, captured by the Wahabis, viii. 235. And its pilgrims murdered, ib.
- Mechasphin, what they were, xviii. 302.
- Mecheir, on the Egyptian month, x. 69.
- Medaille, d' un de Siris, description, x. 358.
- Medallists and Mathematicians at Cambridge University, vi. 413.
- Medals, examination for the, at Cambridge, xvii. 209.
- , Roman, perfection of, in Adrian's, and Trajan's time, xi. 363.
- Mede's explanation of 1 Cor. 11th, v. 10, i. 100.
- Medea of Euripides, remarks on the, i. 563. On a passage in the, v. 128. Notæ in, edit. Porson, x. 412. Notice of Elmsley's edition, xix. 267.
- Medes, habits of luxury among the, xii. 51.
- Medical science, on the, of the ancient Egyptians, xviii. 1.
- Medicine, remarques sur la, xvii. 95.
- Medicina, Græci scriptores de, xvii. 461.
- Medina, subjected by the Wahabis, viii. 235.
- Meditari, its derivation, xiii. 194.
- Megerlinus, doubt respecting the publication of his Moguntia Topographia, iv. 476.
- 'Megha Duta, the,' notice of, xii. 432.
- Meierotto on the sources whence Tacitus drew his information, viii. 244.
- Meinecke's edition of 'Leonidæ utriusque Carmina,' notice of, xii. 239. His Emendations of Horace, xvii. 13.
- Meiners, Professor, of Gottingen, his work quoted, to illustrate remarks on the analogy subsisting between the English and German languages, ix. 118.
- Melancholy composition, gratification of, i. 237.
- Melancthon's Prologue to Terence's Eunuch, xiv. 355.

Melita, on the controversy relative to the situation of, v. 290. Reasons for supposing that this was the island where St. Paul was shipwrecked, xix. 212.

Memnoniæ Statuæ Inscriptio, xvii. 384.

Memoir, of the ruins of Babylon, by Rich, ix. 287. Extract from a, relative to the translation of the Scriptures, xvi. 194.

Memorabilia Xenophontis, animadversiones in, iii. 444.

Memorandum of Lord Elgin's pursuits in Greece, iv. 244.

Memory, conjecture with respect to the, x. 178.

Menage, Epigram by, xvi. 185.

Menagii Distichon, xiii. 438.

Menander, praise of, iv. 180.

Menart, distich on the door of his country seat, x. 178.

Menckenius, F. O., quotation from his work, 'Observationum Ling. Lat. Liber,' to illustrate the word 'amanus,' ix. 324. His ancestor Otto Menckenius, author of 'Acta Eruditorum,' ib.

Mender, remarks on the stream, in the plains of Troy, ix. 609.

Menexenum in Platonis, notulæ quædam, xii. 415.

Mental affections, physical result of the, ix. 217.

Mentor, drawn by Homer from an individual character, xi. 230.

Mercury, on the mythological attributes of, xvi. 224.

Merrick's letter to Joseph Warton on Greek indexes, xx. 247.

Messina, inscription at, x. 344.

Metallic mirrors used by the Greeks, xvi. 152.

Metals, transmutation of, examination of the question, 'whether this art was possessed by the ancient Egyptians,' xix. 297.

Metallurgy, on the, of the ancient Egyptians, xviii. 298.

Metaphors, on the origin of, xvii. 32. On the use of some by Æschylus, ib.

Metaphysics of Aristotle, of little value, xvii. 334.

Metaphysicians, inadequate terms used by English, ix. 122.

Metathesi de Literarum et Verborum, v. 368.

Metempsychosis, Sideral, the doctrine of, alluded to, in the mythology of Persia, instance of it, ix. 217.

Method of a course of classical studies arranged, iii. 352.

Methodius, a Bishop of the primitive Christian Church, ix. 88. Account of his work, entitled the Banquet of Virgins, ib.

Meting, on a mistake of, in the exposition of a passage in Tacitus, iii. 160.

Metra Horatiana, ix. 597.

Metre, on, iii. 49. Distinction of Rhythm and Metre, 50. Quintilian's and Cicero's definition of it coincide, 51. Its divisions, ib. On metre as connected with music, 59. Plutarch quoted in illustration, ib.

- Its constituent parts, iv. 196. Not indispensable in all Lyrical compositions, 208. Its affinity to music, 300. And accents, iv. 476. Restored to Æschyl. Prom., xi. 63.
- Metre, on Latin, i. 515. xii. 10. On the Iambic, of Phædrus, xvi. 74. Holt Oakes on the Iambic, of Anacreon, v. 174.
- Metres, on the Lyric, of Anacreon, iii. 31. iv. 196, 280. On the Sapphic and Alcaic, xiv. 361. xv. 105, 221. xvi. 49. On the poetical, of the ancients, iii. 79. Improvements in, iv. 515.
- 'Metricæ Doctrinæ Hermannî,' notice of, xv. 79.
- Metrical lines from various prose authors, xv. 181. xvi. 353. xvii. 349.
- Metrical arrangement of Horace, remarks on the, vii. 455.
- Metris, de, Tentamen, by Dr. Burney, critical notice of, i. 643.
- Metrodorus on Greek accents, i. 843. Answer to his observations, iii. 476. On ancient Metres, iii. 79.
- Metropolis, original derivation and meaning of the word, ix. 119.
- Mexican language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 117.
- Mexicans, on the state of the, when first invaded by the Spaniards, xiii. 306. On the military profession among the, 307.
- Mezeriac's violation of the Rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 288.
- Michael Angelo, commendation of, iv. 27.
- Middle, on the origin of the term as applied to verbs, xviii. 157. Remarks on Kuster's observations on the, verb, xv. 304. Voice, remarks on the, vi. 380.
- Middleton, Dr., Epitaph by, on H. G. Prettyman, i. 142. Where educated, ix. 4.
- Milbiller, M., notice of his historical German works, vi. 318.
- Mildmay, Mr. St. John, verses recited at Oxford by, xiv. 97.
- Military education, on, in conjunction with classical studies, viii. 442.
- 'Mille pericula sævæ urbis,' Latin Poem by Joy, i. 303.
- Miller, Mr. J. F., on his German publications, as connected with the history of Hungary, vi. 513.
- Millin, A. L., his explanation of the inscription at Sens, i. 161. His 'Observations sur le costume Théâtral', vii. 60. Critique on his 'Description d'une médaille de Siris', x. 358.
- Millman's Oxford English Prize Poem, vi. 186.
- Milton, where educated, ix. 5. Instances in his Latin verses of violation of the Rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 293. On an error in his Latinity, vii. 393. On his Greek compositions, ix. 342. On his Latin Poetry, 338. The advantages and universal interest of his subject in 'Paradise Lost,' xi. 238. Coincidences in, with Synesius and Methodius, ix. 88. Passages in his works compared with some in Demosthenes, x. 120. A passage in his 'Paradise Lost,' cited to explain ἡταυλος

- λογος, in Menexenus of Plato, xii. 417. His censure of John Tzetzes, xiii. 7. Coincidence between and Seneca, i. 67. Cicero, ib. Ovid, and Longinus, ib. Falsely accused of plagiarism, xvi. 135. Compared with Euripides and Ariosto, xviii. 238.
- Mines in the East, account of, i. 391.
- Mingrelia language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 109.
- Minsheu's observation cited, asserting the antiquity of the Biscayan tongue, iv. 267.
- Minucius Felix, observations upon passages in his writings, ix. 93, 230, 235, 240.
- Miracles of Moses, on the, xviii. 303.
- Miscellanea Sacra, i. 113. Critica, xv. 296. Classica, xv. 302. xvi. 351. xvii. 33, 348. xviii. 232. xix. 325. xx. 7, 344.
- Miscellanea Critica, Cl. Wolfi, xviii. 344.
- Miscellaneous observations on ancient and modern authors, vii. 425. viii. 240. ix. 90, 229.
- Mitford's History of Greece quoted, to illustrate remarks on Pagan Trinities, iii. 128. Remarks upon several of his observations, xv. 296.
- Mithra, Cave of, in Persia, superstitious regard paid to it, ix. 217. Rites of, appeared in Rome under Trajan, xiv. 169.
- Mithras, the sun worshipped under that name in Persia, xii. 73.
- Mithridates, The, of M. Adelung, noticed, as a German work upon Palæography, v. 7.
- Mitscherlich, Epistle of, to C. Gail, notice of, xi. 10.
- M'Knight, referred to, in illustration of a passage in 1 Cor. ch. 1st, i. 100. An omission of, noticed, on a passage in the Epistle to the Romans, 112.
- Moan language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 108.
- Moderns, in what arts were they excelled by the ancients? i. 439, 681.
- Modern Greek, specimens of, v. 401. Its difference from the ancient Greek language, xvii. 39.
- words derived from the Eastern, x. 317.
- travellers, discrepancy in the accounts of, accounted for, v. 18.
- Mæso-Gothic language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 111. Its affinity to the Latin, Greek, and Sanscrit, xi. 4.
- Mogul, The Great, grand celebration of his birth-day, xii. 69.
- Mohammedes, Oxford Prize Latin Poem, xv. 344.
- Mohsin's description of the ancient religion of the East, referred to, iii. 181.
- Moitay language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, 108.
- 'Mola Juventutis Restauratrix,' Latin verses, xvii. 210.
- Molière, character of, as a writer of comedy, i. 489.
- Mollweide, M., on a geometrical query in Plato's Meno, xvii. 171.

- Momi Miscellanea Subseciva, ix. 525. x. 176. xii. 261. xiii. 19.
- Monasteries, anciently established for the purposes of public education, i. 827.
- Monboddo, Lord, his opinions on English accents examined, i. 633. His arrogant assertion respecting the knowledge of music among the ancients, iii. 35. His commentary on the Chinese dialects referred to, 313. His opinions advanced in his System 'on Map,' confirmed by the Rev. W. Tooke's work, 334.
- Mongeraye language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 110.
- Mongouls language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 113.
- Monk's edition of the Hippolytus, critical notice of, v. 193. vi. 74, 347. vii. 206. viii. 81. ix. 133. On his excellence as a critic and a commentator, iv. 515.
- 'Monostrapha in Carmina Tragicorum Græcorum Commentarius,' Auctore G. B. vii. 167, 369. viii. 140.
- Montanus, his Atlas Chinesis quoted, to show that Atlas in the Greek mythology was borrowed from Eastern superstition, iv. 221.
- Montesquieu, on the different effects of music on the English and the Italiana, i. 278. Quoted on insolvent debtors' laws, iv. 511. On the effects of climate on the human character, xii. 267.
- Montfaucon's Palæography quoted, in illustration of ancient inscriptions, i. 87. On his interpretation of the Delian inscription, 94. Ancyranæ Inscriptio in Palæographiâ expressa, 118. Lines in his Palæography cited, proving neglect of Rhythm in the compositions of the latter ages, iv. 200. His observations on accents, xi. 74.
- Months, on the Attic, ix. 324.
- 'Montrolianum, in Suburbanum,' Latin verses, xx. 202.
- 'Monumenta Boica,' published at Munich, a German historical work, vi. 313.
- Monument of Comosarya, xiii. 129.
- Moods, on the, of the English verb, i. 872. iii. 1.
- , on the use of, after the Relative, x. 398.
- , Essay on, xix. 336. xx. 63. On the origin of, xix. 336. Imperative Mood, 337. Indicative, 339. Subjunctive, ib. Optative and Infinitive, 340. Connexion of Moods and Tenses, ib. On the force of, in various modern languages, xx. 63.
- Moon in a well, xvii. 352.
- Moor, Dr. James, Essay on Greek Prepositions, iii. 23. Objections to some of his doctrines, by Tate, 470. His essay, 'Vindication of Virgil,' viii. 106.
- Moor's Hindu Pantheon, notice of, vii. 307. Referred to, in illustration of the notes in Dr. A. Clarke's Bible, iii. 434.

- Moor's, Gipseý, or Hindustani language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, 107.
- Moore, Mr. Thomas, his beautiful translation of Anacreon referred to, iii. 32.
- Moore, Sir John, Latin inscription upon, ix. 178.
- 'Moræ Hannæ,' Latin verses by the Bishop of London, i. 120.
- Moral Principles, ancient, ix. 71.
- Morales Affections, Influence des, sur la Santé, xvii. 96.
- Morality, Modern System of, ix. 71.
- Morals, State of, at Sparta, xiii. 312.
- More, Sir Thomas, where educated, ix. 4.
- More, his translation of a passage in Longinus, iii. 342.
- 'Morea, Itinerary of the,' by Sir William Gell, notice of, xv. 156.
- Morell's Greek Thesaurus edited by Dr. Maiby, notice of, xiv. 85. xv. 27.
- Morelli, J., Keeper of the Venetian Library, list of his edited works, xx. 220.
- Morhofii Liber de pura Latina Dictione, ix. 43.
- Morritt, Mr., on his opinions with respect to the actual existence of Troy, v. 15.
- 'Mors Nelsoni,' Oxford Prize Latin Poem, ix. 102.
- 'Mosaic,' on the derivation of the word, viii. 138.
- Moschus, on the Idyllia of, xx. 132. Analysis of the 2d Idyllium, and imitations of it by the Latin poets pointed out, 133.
- Mosers 'Nonni Dionysicorum Libri Sex,' vii. 354.
- Moses, anecdote of, by Tacitus, ix. 48. On his introductory chapters, xvi. 378.
- Mosheim, J. L., on the imputation cast by him upon English scholars, x. 43.
- Motion, definition of, by Aristotle, xvi. 10.
- Motives to the study of the Hebrew language, by the Bishop of St. David's, extract from, i. 185.
- Mots omis par H. Etienne, indiqués par J. B. Gail, xii. 215, 463.
- Mouncey, Dr., anecdote of, x. 366.
- Mounteney, an observation of, upon a passage in the 1st Philippic of Demosthenes, i. 590.
- Mountjoy, character of, by Erasmus, xii. 181.
- MSS. of the Persians of Æschylus, i. 59. Περὶ τῶν θινῶν, 543. On the, of Herculeanum, by Morgenstern, vii. 272. Of Cicero de Senectute, collation of, iv. 301. De amicitia, 304. Of Persius, 362. Of Æschylus, compared with Pawe's edition, x. 100.* Of Sallust and Eutropius, 144. On the Cambridge, of the Gospels, xii. 276. In the Cottonian library, xiv. 103. Discovery of a, of Ulphilas, xix. 373. Account of, in

- the Public Libraries of Great Britain, vii. 365. viii. 149, 450. ix. 554. x. 302. xi. 86. xiv. 102. xvi. 214. xvii. 184. xviii. 92, 251.
- MSS., ancient Arabic, ix. 600. Enquiry relative to the Hebrew MS., x. 170. Plan of a projected work, including extracts from valuable MSS., ix. 260.
- , account of, in the Royal Library at Munich, xiv. 341.
- , what are the most ancient Cornish? xvii. 443.
- Mule, on a passage in Scripture respecting the, ix. 149.
- Muller, Professor, of Copenhagen, his Prize Dissertation, on the two gold horns in the Museum, noticed, v. 12.
- , M., of Switzerland, on his eminent character as an historian, vi. 318.
- Munich, Royal Library of, account of MSS. in the, xiv. 341.
- Munter, Dr., Bishop of Seelande, his dissertation on Scripture poetry noticed, v. 7. And another work on the religious notions of the Egyptians, 10.
- Muretus, instances of his violation of the Rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 287. On his edition of Seneca, vi. 139.
- Murphy, Mr., on a mistake of, in the translation of a passage of Tacitus, iii. 160.
- Murr, M. De, Biblical work of, noticed, v. 4. Announcement of his expected bibliographical work, 8.
- Murray, Mr. Lindley, opinion of, with respect to the subjunctive mood, iii. 3. Quotation from his Preface to his Grammar, i. 776. 'Lindley, examined,' critical notice of, i. 254.
- Murrhine vases, on Dr. Hager's opinion with respect to, i. 472.
- 'Musæ Cantabrigienses,' observations on the Preface to, iv. 78.
- Musæus, a correction of, vii. 241. On the poems falsely attributed to, xvi. 126. Manuscript of, xi. 88. Mentioned as one of the fathers of Grecian poetry, ix. 363.
- Museum Criticum Cantabr., observations on the Emendations of Strabo in the, ix. 113.
- , British Manuscripts of the, vii. 366. viii. 149, 451. ix. 554. x. 302. xi. 86.
- Musculogus, Classical Criticism by, xvii. 456.
- Music, its affinity to accent, iii. 82. To metre, iv. 300. Considered in connection with public establishments, viii. 444. Difference between that of England and Italy, xii. 267. Appreciation of, often influenced by national habits, xi. 237. Of ancient composition, xi. 237. The ancient Greek, 20. Its practice has uniformly preceded its notation, 73. A passage in Plutarch relative to, 21.
- Muskohge language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 117.
- Musonius, Manuscript of, xi. 88.

- Mustoxydi on Greek literature, and his edition of Isocrates Περὶ Ἀντιδότου, viii. 124.
- Mutewukkel, account of, ix. 549.
- Myas, Manuscript of, xi. 88.
- Mylius quoted on the antiquity of a Vulgate Bible in the public library at Jena, iv. 476.
- Myrinna, Tumulus of, ix. 526.
- Myrtilus, thrown by Pelops into the sea, xiii. 19.
- Myrryrian Archæology, Lines extracted from, and commented upon, xvi. 212.
- Mysticism, influence of, in all pagan systems of mythology, xiv. 350.
- Myth of Bacchus, xv. 119.
- Mythological researches of the German literati, an account of the, v. 8.
- Persons in the Egyptian idolatry, xv. 29.
- Mythology, Heathen, Latin Satirical poem on, iv. 362. Grecian, character of, xviii. 324.

- μα*, terminating nouns, implies the object of action, xii. 216.
- μάρος*, xiv. 90.
- μεθ' ἑαυτά*, meaning of, vi. 271.
- μελίτη*, generally short, xiv. 33.
- μίνος*, vi. 266.
- μελόμεν*, xii. 101.
- μουσική*, xii. 419.
- μωρὸς*, xii. 367.

N.

- 'Nachash,' observations on the Hebrew word, iii. 70. iv. 241. v. 245.
- Names, on the derivation and Latinisation of, i. 248. Opinions of ancient philosophers with respect to their assignment, xi. 212.
- Nanking, in Chihā, signification of the name, i. 54.
- Napoleon in Insulam Stæ. Helenæ Ahlegatus, Cambridge Prize Greek Ode, xiv. 187.
- Nares, Archdeacon, high character of his essays, i. 673. His observations on the Demon of Socrates, xv. 205. His Life of Dr. Vincent, xiii. 221. xiv. 190.
- Natic language, iv. 350.
- National Education, temporary decline of, ix. 4. Gross falsehoods respecting, 8.
- Natolia, Modern, short account of the country and its capital, ix. 636.
- Nature, in our climate, on the uniformity of, vi. 300.

- Naudowessie language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 115.
- Nauplius, the father of Palamede, incited the wives of the Grecian princes to rebel against their husbands, liii. 31.
- Nautical phrases in classic authors, examples of, ix. 466.
- Nazianzen's Epigrammata, viii. 31.
- Necas language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 110.
- Necrology, Classical, epitaph by Dr. Middleton on G. H. Prettyman, i. 142. Character of the late Professor Scott of Aberdeen, iv. 191. Inscription on Mr. Littlehales, v. 221. Character of the late Dr. Raine, vi. 220. Life of Dr. Vincent, xiii. 221. xiv. 190.
- Negroes, White, facts of the existence of, adduced in illustration of remarks on the diversities among the tribes of men, x. 238.
- Neilson's observations upon some idioms of the Greek language, xiii. 355. His essay upon moods, xix. 336. xx. 63.
- 'Nelsoni Mors,' Oxford Prize Latin Poem, ix. 101.
- Nemesius, MS. of, xi. 88.
- Neocesarea, the ancient episcopal seat of St. Chrysostom, ix. 635.
- Nereus, Dr. Parkhurst on the derivation of, iii. 278.
- Nero's suspicions of Agrippina, the true motive for the removal of Felix from the government of Judea, x. 1.
- Nervousness, weakness not necessarily included in, x. 175.
- 'Nestoris Novariensis vocabula,' inquiry relative to, ix. 261. Barker's observations on, x. 54.
- Neuernberger, M., his edition of Diogenes Laertius, published at Nuremberg, noticed, iv. 144.
- New Testament, corrections in the common version of the, xiii. 145. xiv. 148, 374.
- Newcombe, Archbishop, mentioned, iii. 254. His translation of Hosea compared with the common version, iv. 7.
- Newton's Life of Milton quoted in reference to Mr. Kidd's proposal for a Greek version of his poem, xviii. 238.
- Newton, Sir Isaac, praise of, in a Latin Essay, iv. 184. In a Greek Ode, vi. 355. On his ignorance of the writings of Aristotle, xix. 39.
- Nicea, the city described, ix. 633.
- Nichols, Mr., notice of his Literary Life of Bowyer, iv. 251. His work quoted, ix. 35.
- Nicias, a Grecian artist, an observation of, noticed, iii. 224.
- Niclas, Professor, on his projected edition of Stephens's Thesaurus, x. 307. The communications of his son with the editors of the present edition, ib.
- Nicolopoulo's notice of Mustoxydi's work on Greek literature, viii. 124.
- Nicolopoulo, Constant, article communiqué par, xvii. 29.
- Nicomedia, the city described, ix. 632.

- Nightingale, contest of the, and the musician, by Strada, imitations of, xvi. 180.
- Nightmare, mentioned in Suidas, xii. 261.
- Nischar, description of the city, ix. 635.
- Nisseni Curæ novissimæ in Ciceronis opuscula, viii. 131.
- Nitsch, M., one of the German literati, his valuable work on the domestic lives of the ancient Greeks and Romans, noticed, v. 10.
- Noah, connection between, and Fohi, ix. 216. Superstitious belief current among a body of Armenian Monks relative to his ark, ix. 639.
- No-Ammon, on the Egyptian idol, ix. 561.
- Nodell, Jo. Ad., Epistola Critica ad Heyneium, x. 156. xi. 52. Account of his death, ix. 552.
- Noehden, on the worship of Vesta, xv. 123, 257. xvi. 321. Observations upon the Belles Lettres of Holland, xx. 308.
- 'Nominibus, de Græcorum Libellus,' viii. 385.
- Nonni Dionysiascorum Libri, vii. Moser, vii. 354.
- Nonnus quoted, as proving the union which subsisted between the worships of Ceres and Bacchus, xv. 121.
- Nootka Sound language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 115.
- 'Noon of Night,' Ben Jonson's expression illustrated, v. 107.
- Norberg, M., Professor in the University of Lunden, his Persian Grammar noticed, v. 8.
- Norfolk Sound language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 115.
- Normans, The, their attempts towards the corruption of the old British language, xix. 224.
- Northern and Southern Climates, influence of, on the understanding, xii. 264.
- Norton Sound language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 114.
- Notæ in Medeam, edit. Porson, x. 412.
- Notæ et curæ sequentes in Arati Diopsemea, a Th. Forster, xiv. 368. xvii. 46. xviii. 19. xix. 34.
- Notarum Romanarum interpretatio, vii. 248. viii. 359.
- Notulæ quædam in Platonis Menexenium, xii. 414.
- Nouvelles Littéraires de France, x. 189.
- Nova Chrestomathia, Tragica Græco-Latina, auctore J. C. Volborth, xi. 23.
- Novicensis Oratio, by Barron, x. 108.
- 'Now and then,' on the English expression, xvii. 208.
- 'Nubere,' on its meaning, use, and etymology, vii. 118. x. 395. xv. 149. As synonymous with 'ducere,' ix. 509.
- Nubes of Aristophanes, remarks on the, by Seager, i. 704. On the date of, vi. 135.

- Nubium inosculatio, presages from, xviii. 25.
 Nugæ Grammaticæ, i. 773. iii. 1.
 Number 'Seven,' remarkable scriptural use of, viii. 365.
 Numerals, a chart of ten, in two hundred tongues, iv. 105. Referred to, to prove the similarity of origin of all the nations of the earth, 16. Essay descriptive of it, 327. Observations on the chart of, vi. 218.
 ———, on Hebrew, iv. 401. vi. 186. Collection of, in the Jaloff language, iv. 520.
 Numeration among the savage nations of America, xi. 185.
 Numero de Literarum ex antiquissimo Codice, viii. 365.
 Numismatical History of the Chinese, by J. Hager, outline of the work. i. 47. Mentioned, 184.
 Numitor's desultory remarks upon Juvenal, xv. 18.
 Nunnesius, mistake of, noticed respecting the gender of πάπυρος, xv. 29.
 Nurses, respect paid to, in ancient times, x. 229.
 'Nux' of Ovid, remarks on a passage in the, i. 740.
 Nymphodorus, the historian, quoted, on the respect which was shown to old age by the ancients, iii. 142, 320.

Naufragium, xiv. 280.

Nuy and ny, precise difference between, xvii. 208.

Nûy, on its quantity in comic verse, viii. 20. xi. 181.

O.

- O, instance of its improper collocation in Latin, ix. 340.
 Oberlin, a note of, on a passage in Tacitus, quoted, iii. 164.
 Oberthur, M., of Wurtzburg, one of the Literati of Germany, his 'Biblical Anthropology,' noticed, v. 5.
 Objections against Col. Leake's Conjectures respecting the plains of Troy, xviii. 145. Against the style and sentiments of Theocritus noticed and refuted, xviii. 292.
 Obscure passages of the Bible, translation of, iv. i.
 Observations, Miscellaneous, on ancient and modern authors, vii. 240.
 'Occultè,' on the etymology of, x. 387.
 Ode, on the composition of the Greek Sapphic, by Tate, v. 120. vii. 163.
 — of Aristotle, new translation of an, xvii. 157.
 —, Greek, on the death of Dr. Craven, xii. 184. On the Comet, xv. 317. On the death of the Princess Amelia, iii. 194. Εἰς τὴν σταύρωσιν, v. 283. By Downes, Trin. Coll. Dublin, xiv. 385.
 — by Bishop Lowth, xii. 176.
 Odes, Greek, Camb. Priz. E. V. Blomfield, i. 1, 397. Bailey, iv. 52.

- Tyas, vi. 353. Fisher, x. 80. Hayter, 164. Bouquet, xi. 240. Fisher, xii. 186. xiv. 187. Hall's, xviii. 193. Waddington's, xx. 97.
- Odes, Latin, Camb. Priz. Lonsdale, i. 6. Blomfield, 403. Farhill, 408. Waddington, iv. 57. Lawson, vi. 356. Blunt, x. 83. Stainforth, xii. 189. Taylor, 206. Lettsom, xiv. 346. xvi. 175. Hall's, xx. 99.
- , Latin, v. 333. xv. 365.
- Odin, Paradise of, contrasted with Mahomet's, to illustrate the different tastes of Northerp and Southern nations in their religious opinions, x. 256.
- Odyssey, on the 24th Book of the, xiii. 122. Emendation of a passage in the, vi. 148. Porson's collation of the Harleian MS. of the, ix. 191, 492. xi. 95, 201. xii. 7. xiii. 107. xiv. 80. xv. 14, 292. xvi. 119, 309. xvii. 97, 292.
- Odysseum Promontorium, Ulysses built there a temple to Hecate, that he might appease the spirit of Hecuba, xiv. 33.
- Oeconomica, Kuster's edition of Xenophon's, noticed, vii. 403.
- Oedipus Romanus, Mr. Townsend's, notice of, xix. 323.
- Oenone slew herself for grief at the death-wound of Paris, xiii. 12.
- Ogilby, Mr., quoted, on the Roman method of crucifixion, in illustration of the Prometheus of Æschylus, iv. 426.
- Ogilvy, Dr. Skeene, his character and account of the late Professor Scott, iv. 191.
- Okes, Holt, metrical arrangement of some fragments by Sappho, i. 139. Remarks on the Iambic metre of Anacreon, v. 174. His Classical Criticism, vi. 147. On the inscription found at Beroot, viii. 185.
- Old Age, Essays on the respect paid to, by the different nations of the ancient world, iii. 142, 319.
- Old Testament, English version of the, critical remarks upon, iii. 166. iv. 63.
- Olen mentioned, as one of the fathers of Grecian poetry, ix. 363.
- Olympia, inscription found in the Alpheus of, i. 328.
- , did it ever exist as a city? xvi. 304.
- Olympic Games, on the date of the suppression of the, xii. 210.
- Olympus, Mount, mentioned in the account of Salvatori's journey to Persia, ix. 634.
- Olynthiaca, on the, of Demosthenes, iii. 150.
- Omission of words in the present version of the Old Testament, xviii. 154.
- Onga or Oga, the goddess mentioned in fictitious inscriptions, xiv. 43.
- Onkelos, as a Hebrew critic quoted, in illustration of remarks on the English version of the Old Testament, iii. 163.
- Oonalaska language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 113.

- Ophion, notice of Mr. Bellamy's, iv. 290. Review of reviewers of, v. 418.
- Optative Mood, in Greek possesses no conditional power without av, x. 103.
- Opuscula Ruhnkeniana, i. 618.
- Oracles, Chaldean, collection of, xvi. 333. xvii. 128, 243.
- of Zoroaster, xvi. 338.
- Oratio, priore præmiorum mediis Baccalaureis annuo propositorum, ornata, Cantab. Ashbridge, iv. 179. De Lingua Arabicâ, 320. Hughes, 446. 'De Moribus Atheniensium,' Auctore Valkenarîo, vi. 359. 'De constitutione Tragediarum,' auctore Buxhornio, ix. 9. Norvicensis, by Barron, x. 108. A Gulielmo Crowe, L. L. B., x. 183. Habita in Coll. Stæ. Trinitatis, Cantab. a Gul. Maskelyne, xii. 241. Heinsii de lectione Tragediarum, 340. J. Phillimore, Oxon., xiv. 91. Ad Marchionem de Huntley, a Gul. Brown, 126. In Solemni inauguratione æmul. Lat. Soc. Lugd. habita, 260. In Solemnibus Regni semi-sæcularibus Friderici Augusti, xx. 141.
- Orations, two, spoken at Oxford in the seventeenth century, viii. 22.
- Observations on some, lately discovered ascribed to Cicero, xvii. 134, 394. xviii. 113; 241: xix. 55.
- Oratiuncula Richardi Bentleii, ix. 315.
- Orchomenian Inscription from the British Museum, on the, xvi. 392.
- Ordeal, the Trial by, derived from the ancients, xv. 369.
- Orestides, the name of the nymphs of Diana, i. 899.
- Organon of Aristotle, on the, xvii. 127.
- Oriensis, remarks on the emerald by, i. 325.
- Oriental intelligence, i. 221, 672. vi. 217.
- communication, iv. 162. Literature, i: 414. iv. 148. x. 293, 317, 426. xvi. 146. xx. 173.
- research, i. 65.
- MSS. of the University of Cambridge, xvii. 184.
- antiquities, xx. 352.
- Origen, a remarkable assertion of, relative to the patriarch Jacob, v. 30. His authority adduced, in remarks upon Mr. Bellamy, and the Hebrew Text, 65. His opinion upon Scripture Allegory, xviii. 220.
- Origin of evil, on the reasonableness of the Scripture account of the, v. 100.
- of Language and Writing, on the, i. 37, 477.
- Original signs, i. 43.
- Originality of the classic authors disputed, iv. 275.
- Orion, why called ἑρμῆς, xix. 314.

- Orlando, the extravagance of Ariosto's, justly considered fabulous, v. 17.
- Ormerod, T. H., English Prize Poem, 'The Colisæum,' xvii. 100. Latin, 96.
- Orpheus mentioned as one of the fathers of Grecian poetry, ix. 363. On the poems falsely attributed to him, xvi. 125. Fragments of, 217. Mythological opinions of, xvii. 159.
- Orphic remains, unnoticed by Hermann, xvii. 159.
- Orthography, Grecian, æras of, xi. 7. Classical, its marks and signs, 81.
- , on the, of the Cornish language, xx. 169.
- 'Osculum,' distinguished from 'suavium,' ix. 319.
- Osiris, the same as Adonis, xiv. 166.
- Osses language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 109.
- Ossian, Epigram on, viii. 391. Critique on the Temora of, xiv. 269. xvi. 344. His poems cited among instances of literary forgeries, xvi. 136.
- Ostracismo, de Atheniensi, dissertatio, xix. 346. xx. 150.
- Otaheite language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 110.
- Ouseley, Sir Gore, on the inscription upon Arrian's tomb, xvi. 394.
- Ouvarov's Essay on the Eleusinian mysteries, notice of, xiii. 399. xiv. 165. xv. 117.
- Ovid, an ancient fragment of, supposed to belong to his Heroides, i. 127. Remarks on a passage in the 'Nux,' 740. On the literary and personal character of, ix. 347. Emendated, xi. 178, 237, 334. Character of his Tristia, xii. 88. Coincidence between, and Milton and Longinus, xiii. 167. Quoted, on his peculiar use of 'monitus', xv. 22. On his use of 'lampas,' 38. Lines illustrative of his own character, 65. Referred to, frequently, in Klotzius's Essay 'de felici audaciâ Horatii,' xv. 60, &c. Classes the goddess Vesta among the Penates, 124. On the Vestal virgins, 259. Quoted in illustration of remarks on the offices of Mercury, xvi. 228. On the peculiar epithet, which he applies to the goddess Vesta, 321. Contrasted with Virgil, xviii. 238.
- Owen the Epigrammatist, observation of, on Martial's Epigrams, xv. 212.
- Owyhee language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 110.
- Oxford Prize Essays, Whateley's, i. 439. Benwell's, 681. Addington's, iii. 219. Grattan's, iv. 20. Atfield's, 391. Coplestone's, v. 145. Hendy's, vi. 225. xviii. 320. Adolphus's, xix. 90. Rickards, xx. 227.
- Prize Poems, Benwell's i. 121. Chinnery's, 437. Hughes's, iv. 375. Burdon's, v. 160. Millman's, vi. 142. Latham's, 182.

- Hawkins's, viii. 153. Burrows's, xv. 344. Herbert's, xviii. 26. Lord Chief Justice Abbot's, 391. Ormerod's, 96, 100. Rathbone's, xix. 216.
- Oxford, on the course of studies pursued at, vi. 305. Two orations spoken at, in the 17th century, viii. 22. Recitations at, upon the visit of the Prince Regent and the Emperor and Princes, xiv. 91.
- O——d, Bishop of, Letter to the, on the character of Dr. Bentley, xx. 357.
- Oxlee's Hebrew Criticism, xiv. 108.

- οἰκιστῆς, domus avium, xii. 204.
- ὀλοχρῆς, xiv. 281.
- ὀλπις, ἔλπις, ἱερεῖς, ix. 300. x. 58.
- ὀμικρὸν, characteristic of, xi. 120.
- ὀράσις, of Suidas, query on the, ix. 600.
- ὄρκος ἱπποκρατοῦς, xvii. 287.
- ὀσπρωδης, meaning of the word, xvii. 456.
- ὀρανία, on the deity, vi. 71.
- ὀδιστοφειτος, &c. xi. 30.
- ὄυτος, peculiar meaning of, xi. 145.
- ὄφης, xiv. 90.
- ὦ γάμοι, γάμοι, proverbially used, xii. 202.

P.

- P, account of a poem wherein every word began with, ix. 528.
- P, the letter, not in the Arabian language; F substituted for it, xi. 51.
- Pace's letter to Henry VIII. referred to, on the facility of acquiring a knowledge of the Hebrew language, i. 190, 743.
- Pagan Trinities, Letters of Mr. Barker to the Rev. Mr. Maurice on, iii. 125. iv. 89, 484. v. 240.
- account, The, of the creation, corresponds with that of Scripture, vi. 299.
- worship, remarks on the similarity of, that prevailed in different parts of the Pagan world, by D. G. Wait, xiii. 410. xiv. 350. xv. 92. xvi. 205. xvii. 1. xviii. 52.
- Idolatry, Faber's Treatise on, noticed, xvii. 1.
- Pagans and Schamanists, six tribes of, lie on the polar shore of Western America, iv. 116.
- Painters, scale of foreign, x. 168.

- Painting, on the progress of the art among the Mexicans, xiii. 306.
- Palæography, attention paid by the German literati to, v. 7. Its use in philological criticism, ix. 77.
- Palæographia Assyrio-Persica, xi. 98.
- Palæographie, Mémoire sur les Manuscrits d'Herculeum par M. Morgenstern, vii. 272.
- Paley, Archdeacon, on the fundamental doctrines of his system of morals, ix. 75.
- 'Palibothra, on the site of ancient,' notice of, xvii. 321.
- 'Palimpsestus,' observations on the word, xii. 204.
- Palindromes, instances of several, xix. 365.
- Pallene, a peninsula of Macedonia, anciently called Phlegra, xiv. 52.
- Palm-tree, according to oriental writers, an emblem of man, xiv. 319.
- Male and female, 320. In oriental writers also, figurative of the year, xv. 1.
- Palmer, Professor, of Giessen, on the theological works of, v. 7.
- Panic of the Greeks, how concealed by Plutarch, xvii. 203.
- 'Pantheon Chinoise,' by J. Hager, critical notice of, i. 177. Hindu, critical notice of, vii. 307.
- Panzer's authority cited, in illustration of Remarks on the Vulgate Bible, iv. 479.
- Papua language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 108.
- Papyrus, the Egyptian, mentioned and described in a letter from Drovetti, vii. 317.
- Papyra, Herculanensian, on, by Philellenius, xvii. 203.
- Paradise, a map representing the site of, xvii. 1. Discussion respecting its situation, 3.
- Paradys, dissertatio de Ostracismo Atheniensium, xix. 346. xx. 150.
- Paragraphe, on its invention and derivation, xi. 269.
- Parallel between the Latin, Greek and Sanscrit languages, vi. 375.
- Parallel passages between ancient and modern authors, xiii. 165. xv. 300. xvii. 33, 37, 356. xix. 330.
- Paranatellon, explanation of the term, ix. 334.
- Parchia, inscription upon a ruined temple at, iv. 406.
- Pareau, M., account of the theological works of, v. 3.
- 'Parietes conscios,' in Hippolytus of Euripides, illustrating another expression in the same play, ix. 18.
- Paris, asserted by several authors to have carried only a visionary resemblance of Helen to Troy, xiv. 319. Recorded by some to have been nursed by a she-bear, 320.
- Parkhurst quoted in illustration of some remarks upon the emerald, i.
- Ind. Cl. Jl.—Suppl. to No. XL.*

68. Quoted in illustration of some biblical criticism, iii. 168. On the derivation of the word Nereus, 278. .
- Parr, Dr., panegyric upon, by Symmonds, ix. 339. His observations upon Milton's Latin Poetry, ib. His inscription for the monument of Sir John Moore, 178. For the mausoleum of Gibbon, xi. 367. His account of Mr. Lunn, xii. 220. .
- Parry, Dr. Charles, critical examination of certain opinions respecting the Troad, xv. 326. xvi. 57. .
- Parsees or Guebres, a religious sect of Persia, fire-worshippers, descended from the ancient Zabii, xiii. 289.
- Parsons, Mr., on his edition of the Septuagint, ix. 447.
- ' Parthenon, the,' Oxford Prize English Poem, v. 160.
- Parthians, on the perfidy of the, xi. 3.
- Participles, observations on, contained in Neilson's essay on Moods, xix. 341.
- Parysatis, a name of illustrious Persian females, its derivation, xi. 51.
- Pasigraphy, article upon, xvi. 22. The first writer on, was Chancellor Bacon, 24. On the earliest attempt in, 25. Account of Professor Schmid's Lectures upon, 27. On Professor Leibnitz' proposal respecting, 30.
- Passerat, Epitaph on Henry IV. of France by, ix. 593. On himself, xx. 205.
- Passions, the, how they differ from the affections, appetites, or desires, ix. 65.
- Pasow's edition of Persius, critical notice of, ix. 501.
- Pastoral poetry, on its origin, xvii. 77. General history of, xx. 200.
- poets, an essay on the Greek, by Macgilwray, xvii. 74. xviii. 30, 280. xx. 124.
- Paternosters of Chamberlayne, quoted, iv. 271.
- Patricius, quoted in illustration of remarks upon literary forgeries, xvi. 125.
- Patrick's remarks on Sir G. Staunton's Penal Code of China, i. 387. His ' Chinese world,' iii. 16. Notes on the poem of Avienus Festus, 141. Chart of Ten Numerals in two hundred tongues, iv. 105. Essay descriptive of it, 327. His China of the Classics, appendix to, vi. 204. Observations on his Chart of Numerals, 218.
- Paul, St., vindication of, from the charge of wishing himself accursed, i. 112. Conjectures on the chronology of his travels, x. 1. On the time of his conversion, 6. Dissertation on his voyage from Cesarea to Puteoli, xix. 201. His shipwreck on the island of Melita, 212. .
- ' Paul, St., shipwreck of,' a Seatonian Prize Poem, xv. 269.

- Paulus, Professor, account of his German Theological work, v. 6.
- Pausanias, on the Seres, iii. 296. Quoted in illustration of remarks on Pagan Trinities, iv. 89. On M. Clavier's, x. 354. Analysis of the 1st vol., xiii. 316.
- Pauw mentioned, as a commentator upon Æschylus, i. 19. His edition of Æschylus collated with MSS., x. 100.
- 'Pax' of Aristophanes, remarks on, by Seager, i. 718.
- , Bentley's emendations of the, xiii. 139.
- Paxamus de duodecim modis veneréis, xiii. 45.
- Pearce, Dr., his observations on a passage in Longinus, i. 819. A supposition of, illustrating the same author, iii. 344. His charge against Virgil, of puerility, answered by Dr. Moor, viii. 106.
- Pearson's, Bishop, Tracts chronologically arranged, vii. 86, 356. ix. 197, 266. x. 95. xi. 187. xii. 1. xiii. 91. xvii. 164, 272. Verses supposed to have been written by, on Milton's Lycidas, xii. 211.
- 'Pecunia,' on the derivation of the word, xvii. 205.
- 'Peking,' on the derivation and signification of the name, i. 54.
- Pelagii, on the probable time of their establishment in Greece, vi. 12.
- Pelagic antiquities by Dr. Herbert Marsh, notice of, xii. 383.
- Pelew islands, language of the, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of ditto, 111.
- Pellegrin, the Poet, his avocations described in an epigram, ix. 596.
- Pemberton, Dr., his letter to Mr. Ward, v. 387.
- Pen, signification of, in Cornish, xvii. 450.
- Penates Dii, the, remarks on by J. Jefferson, iv. 490. On the etymology of the word, 491. Virgil's description of them, 492.
- Penelope, antiquated scandal relating to, alluded to, xiv. 20.
- Peneus, the river, the force and motion of its current, xi. 178.
- Pennington's Prize Epigrams, xvi. 178. His translation into Greek Iambics of a passage from the Henry IV. of Shakspeare for the Cambridge Porson's Prize, 179.
- Pension, on Johnson's definition of the word, ix. 117.
- Pentameters, by whom invented, ix. 528.
- Pentateuch, the, on the Buchanan Roll of, viii. 11.
- Peopling, first, of the earth, observations on the, iv. 14.
- 'Peor,' on the etymology of the word, viii. 265.
- Peor, the Moabite and Egyptian idol, remarks on, ix. 570.
- Percy, Lady, in Shakspeare, part of one of her speeches quoted, to illustrate the meaning of δύναμις, xvi. 9.
- Perfect, Subjunctive, in Latin, on the, xi. 46. Seldom used in Greek, 47.
- Perfidy of the ancients, observations on the, xi. 7.
- Pericles, his munificence and attachment to the liberal arts, iv. 23.
- Perionius, the Benedictine, the observation of, relative to the definition of motion by Aristotle, xvi. 11.

- Periplus of the Erythrean Sea, on the, iii. 60. Quotation from, 301.
 Error in the translation of, noticed, x. 323. Remarks on, xi. 154. The translation of the, vindicated, xv. 317.
- Perizadeh, in a Persian sonnet, explanation of the term, xi. 51.
- Perry, Mr., the brother-in-law of Professor Porson, mentioned, i. 721.
- Persæ, a manuscript of the, of Æschylus, in the Imperial Library of Paris, remarks on, by M. de Vauvilliers, i. 57. Edition of, by C. J. Blomfield, critical notice of, xi. 186, 318. xii. 90.
- Persia, Travels in, by Dourry Effendi, noticed, i. 414. A French work on the same subject, noticed, 221.
- Persia of the ancients, observations on the, xix. 362.
- , Narrative of a Journey to, by M. Salvatori, Physician of the French Embassy to Persia, ix. 631.
- Persian language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, 107. Its excellence and use, vi. 42. Facility of acquiring it, 43. European words derived from it, xi. 343. Use of moods and tenses in the, xix. 344. Lumsden's Grammar of the, critical notice of, xii. 429.
- Poetry, specimens of, vi. 41, 290. vii. 131.
- Ode, v. 203. Sonnets, xi. 49, 346. Poem, extract from a, x. 332. Literature, observations on, vii. 162, 220. Poems by the King of Persia, vii. 379. xix. 358.
- Persians, on the respect paid by the, to old age, iii. 144. Unjustly accused of cowardice, xvii. 109.
- Persiani, E., Letter from, on the present state of the Modern Greek language, iv. 340.
- Persius, extract from the Scholiast upon, i. 455. Sir William Drummond's observations on, iii. 363. A collation of the Galean MS. of, iv. 353. Howe's additional notes and observations upon, viii. 174. Notice of Passow's new edition of, ix. 501. A collation of a MS. of, in the Royal Library, with the edition of Stephens, 1544, xviii. 62.
- Person, the third, used frequently, in many languages, for the second, ix. 55.
- Peru, language of, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 117.
- , law of brotherhood in, xiii. 308. On the state of the country, when first invaded by the Spaniards, ib.
- Peruvians, on their ancient laws, customs, and character, xiii. 308.
- Pethor, the abode of the prophet Balaam, controversy respecting its situation, vi. 321.
- Petis, M. De, Travels in Turkey, i. 420.
- Pettingall's Letter to J. Taylor on Juvenal 14th Sat., v. 97, x. 107.
- Peutingarian Table, a table of ancient Geography, xvi. 257.
- Phæaces, the, on the origin of, v. 289.
- Plædri, Julii, Fabulæ Novæ, xiv. 381. xv. 131.

- Phædrus, an account of a collection of inedited fables of, published at Naples, i. 383. xiii. 367. On the Iambic metre of, xvi. 74.
- Phalaris controversy, on the authors of the Replies to Dr. Bentley in the, ix. 521.
- , Epistles of, MSS. of the, xi. 89. Observations on the, 363. Arguments against the genuineness of the, xvii. 204.
- Pharaoh, remarks on the derivation of the name, iv. 469. Answer to the remarks, v. 180.
- Phavorinus corrected, in strictures on Blomfield's edition of the Persæ, xi. 323.
- Phegnamayike, meaning of the Hebrew, xv. 199.
- Phemonœ, the inventress of Hexameters, ix. 528.
- Pherecydis Fragmenta, notice of Sturz' edition of, viii. 126.
- Phidias mentioned as one of the glories of the age of Pericles, iv. 23.
- Philaethes on the philosophical writings of Aristotle, xviii. 340. xix. 31.
- Philemonis Lexicon, critical notice of, vii. 37.
- Philetas of Cos, an edition of his fragments published by M. Phil. Kayser, iv. 144.
- Philippians, Commentary on part of the Epistle to the, v. 310.
- Phillimore's, Dr., Oration on the visit of the Prince Regent to Oxford, xiv. 91.
- Philo's Solution of Porson's Algebraic Problem, v. 411.
- Philoctetes of Sophocles, notes and emendations to the, by Philo-Sophocleios, i. 331.
- Philoctetes Euripidis, in Fragmentum, i. 345.
- Philodemus, one of the ancient authors discovered at Herculaneum, vii. 273.
- Philological researches by E. H. Barker, xvi. 109, 375.
- Philologue, le, par M. Gail, a periodical classical work to be published in Paris, announcement of, xvi. 192. xviii. 135.
- Philoponus, explanations of, on Aristotle, xvii. 126.
- Philosmaragdos, observations of, on the emerald, i. 65.
- Philosophers, Moral, proportion of, educated at public schools, viii. 446.
- Philosophical opinions of Æschylus, enquiry relative to the, xi. 201. Of Euripides, xiv. 123, 305.
- historian, duties of the, xvi. 285.
- Philosophy, Modern, under what obligations is it to the Ancient? xvii. 334. Ancient philosophy, and examples adduced to prove the excellence of its doctrines, xviii. 71. Falsely accused of impairing the mind, 329. Natural, pernicious if exclusively pursued, 322.
- Philostorgius, extracts from, illustrative of the history of Theophilus, the missionary, xiv. 382.
- Philostratus, account of a MS. of, xi. 89.
- Phocylides, account of a MS. of, xi. 89.

- Phœnician language, a dialect of the Chaldaic, v. 50. Its connexion with the ancient British, xvii. 446, 450.
- Inscription, remarks on a, found in Malta, by Sir William Drummond, a. 47. Calm's observations on the same, 399. vii. 191.
- , anecdote of a, ix. 39.
- Phœnicians, superstitions of the, xv. 118. Enquiry, Did they ever visit Britain? xix. 310.
- Phœnissæ Euripidis, cura G. Burges, notice of, i. 129. Additional notes to, 263. Et Troades, cura G. Burges, notice of, 314. Schutz' edition of, critique on, xiii. 177. V. 336 emendated, x. 99.
- Phoenix, researches relative to its history, by Sir William Drummond, xiv. 319. xv. 1. xvi. 88.
- , blinded by his father, and restored to sight by Chiron, xiii. 32.
- Photius corrected respecting the word στῆρος, xi. 323. An important passage of, corrected, xvi. 398.
- Phrynicus quoted to illustrate remarks on the usage of the Greek πάντες, xv. 29.
- Physics, Iacchæus the most perspicuous and useful author in the science of, i. 767.
- Physician, how Aristotle spoke to his, xvii. 157.
- Physiognomy, first cultivated by Pythagoras, xi. 214.
- Picus Mirandola, his conclusions on some Chaldean oracles, xvii. 129.
- Pierre, St., quoted, on the interest derived from a study of the history of the human species, iv. 16.
- Pigeons, not eaten in the neighbourhood of Hierapolis, in honor of the dove, xii. 67.
- Pilkington, Letters of Archbishop Secker to, on a revival of the translation of the Old Testament, xx. 188, 225.
- Pillars, the boundaries of empires, xii. 69.
- Pin, M. Du, quoted in illustration of remarks on universities, i. 836.
- Pindar quoted in his account of the Hyperborean nations, iii. 251. Preface to the Aldine edition of, v. 171. Quoted in defence of the egotism of poets, xv. 65. MS. of, in the British Museum, xi. 89.
- Pinkerton's History of Early Europe referred to, in illustration of remarks on the first peopling of the Earth, iv. 16. Assertions in his Dissertation upon the Goths confirmed, 263.
- Piron, M., a whimsical anecdote of, ix. 40.
- Pithæcussæ, inhabitants of islands in the west of Italy, xiv. 15.
- Pitt, Mr., remark on his character, ix. 5. Where educated, ib. His translation of a passage in Tacitus, xviii. 202.
- Pity, Essay on, i. 234.
- Plague, a, its effect upon morality, ix. 140. Affinity betwixt that of Athens and London, ib.

Plank, M., of Gottingen, his theological work noticed, v. 7.

Plato, list of authors quoted in the writings of the scholiasts upon, i. 619.

His definition of harmony, iii. 34. On his use of the word κινδυνεύειν, viii. 275. His character of Hipparchus, xv. 299. On an improvisatori poet, xvi. 103. His opinion of prophecy adduced, 163. Notes to his 'Menexenus,' xii. 414. Coincidence between, and Pope, xiii. 165. The probability of his acquaintance with the writings of Moses, xvi. 380. On a geometrical query of, xvii. 171. Opinion of, on the earth, xviii. 254.

Pleasure, on the, derived from literary compositions, i. 225.

'Pled,' the old preterperfect of 'plead,' as 'led' of 'lead,' x. 175.

'Pleiades, The,' the name given to seven eminent poets, of whom Lycophron was one, xiii. 1.

Pliny quoted, his application of rhythm to the pulse, iii. 36. His account of the superstitious rites of ancient Britain, 179. xvi. 206. Of the manners of the nations of the Hyperborean Isles, 249. His description of the silk-worm, iii. 295. iv. 162. Observation recorded of the physician Andocides upon wine, xi. 178.

Plotinus, passages adduced from his Ennead, illustrating a flagrant instance of Arabian forgery, xv. 279.

Pluperfect, third person plural of the, used by the Attics in lieu of the Perfect or Aorist, xii. 203.

Plurality of husbands allowed in some countries, xii. 43.

Pluræ Indicia, xviii. 20.

Plutarch's observation on music quoted, iii. 59. Illustrative of remarks upon the respect paid to old age, 145. Plan of Lycurgus, in his Laconic Apophthegms, for the encouragement of matrimony, 149. His quotation of a passage in Demosthenes, 157. His account of the opinion of Romulus upon parricide, iv. 429. Illustration of a passage in his life of Solon, v. 311. Character of his Tract upon superstition, 75. Emendations upon, x. 163. Observations upon his treatise περί τοῦ εἶναι τὸν Διὸς πυρρῶς, xi. 19. Quoted on the sacred fires preserved at Delphi and Athens, xv. 128, 257. On the power of the Vestal virgins to marry, 265. Asserts, that the Vestals were depositaries of the wills of Antony and Augustus, xvi. 322. Quoted on the Improvisation of ancient Greece, xvi. 97. Coincidence between him and Bacon, and Pope, xiii. 166. On his character as an historian, xvi. 278. xvii. 102. Emendation of, xi. 318. MS. of, 90. Corrected, xii. 200, 201.

Plutus of Aristophanes, remarks upon the, by Seager, i. 504. Emendation of the Scholiast upon, xvii. 455.

Pococke, the traveller, his account of a large emerald preserved at Cairo, iv. 167.

- Podager Vinosus, epigram upon, ix. 42.
 Podalirius buried in Italy near the Cenotaph of Calchas, xiv. 34.
 Pœcilographia Græca, ix. 179, 411. ℥. 176.
 Poem, an ancient Arabian, analysis of, i. 68.
 Poemata Græca, 'Desiderium Porsoni,' i. 1. 'In obitum Porsoni,' 81.
 To Mr. Elliot, 160. Εἰς τὸ Πέτρου ἀγάλμα, 143. 'Ad Regem,' 397.
 'Principissæ Ameliæ, in obitum,' iii. 194. 'In obitum illustrissimæ
 Principissæ Ameliæ,' iv. 52. 'Crinemque timendi Sideris, et terris mutantem regna Cometen,' vi. 353. 'Wellingtonius Regionem Gal-licam, Pyrenæis montibus subjectam, despiciens,' x. 80. 'Bellum Americanum,' 164. Παρωδία πρὸς τινὰ ποιήτην, xi. 240. On the Death of Dr. Craven, xii. 184. In Regem Galliæ, xii. 186. 'Ἀνακρίοντις αἰρίσις, xiv. 385. 'In obitum illustrissimæ Principissæ Caralettæ Augustæ,' xviii. 193. 'Reginæ Epicedium,' xx. 97. Gryphiadæa, xv. 237.
 Poemata Latina, Prologus ad Phormionem, i. 11. Hannæ Moræ,
 R. London, 120. Roma Alarico spoliata, 121. Calpe obsessa, 195.
 Elegia, de Ponto, 201. In villam perelegantem, R. H. 244. Quo quisque valet, suspectos terreat, 261. Jacobo Jones, S. T. P., 280.
 Ad Bruntonam, 281. Mille pericula sævæ urbis, 303. By J. Skinner, 674. By Wheelwright, 675. Ardentem frigidus Ætnam Desilit, 891.
 Quidquid delirant reges, &c., iii. 217. Lat. epitaph in a church in Jersey, 284. Templi Jovis Olympii demolitio, iv. 362. Poemata, auctore A. F. T., 489. Ἐχέθη δὲ οἱ ἑνδοθεὶ θύμῳς Ἄλκυοντις ἀειρομένης, v. 104.
 Inscribed on a window in Calais, 143. Templum Vacunæ, 225. Ad vesperam, 224. Votum senile, 333. Auditæque viæ causâ, &c., 406.
 Innate genius, 410. Hesperia triumphi, vi. 21. Hortus ubi, 374.
 Valentine's day, 393. Translation, from the Musæ Etonenses, of an Ode of Anacreon, 412. Ghosts, vii. 80. Cicero's Epitaph, 42. The Comet, 65. Charade, by Porson, 248. Farewell to Eton, 414. Ossian, viii. 391. Insuetis propius adeundi metus erat, ix. 87. Ode of Casimir, 170. Epig. in Mom. Miscellan. Subsec., 528. Address to the Prince of Orange, 551. In the Adversaria Literaria, x. 339. Etona, xi. 33. Insania, 171. In the Adversaria Literaria, 173. Ode by Bishop Lowth, 176. Translation of a chorus from the Hecuba of Euripides, 228. μαψ, 338. Art of building, 340. In the Adversar. Liter.
 xii. 211, 114, 453. On Triposes, xiii. 85. To Warren Hastings, 177.
 In the Advers. Liter., 200. Effodiuntur opes, 394. In the Advers.
 Liter., 438. Recitations at Oxford, xiv. 95. Cambridge Tripos, 162.
 Eclogue in honor of the Prince of Wales, 249. Mathematicians, xv.
 86. In the Advers. Liter., 362. De violatis regum sepulchris, xvi.
 43. In the Advers. Liter. 185. Ægyptus, 381. In the Advers. Liter.
 395. Strada's Nightingale, xvii. 180. In the Advers. Liter., 408.

- Mola Juventutis Restauratrix, 210. Sophs' Exercises, 240. In the Advers. Liter., 454. On Beddoes's factitious air applied to consumptions, xviii. 165. By Lord Chief Justice Abbot, 391. Skaiting, xix. 132. The White Bear tavern, 134. In the Miscellan. Classic., 328. Lachrymæ Elegiacæ, xx. 113. In the Advers. Liter., 201. In the Miscell. Classic., 348. Epitaph, 388. .
- 'Pœnas dare,' on the phrase, x. 397.
- Poetæ Minores Græc. Edit. Qaisford, notice of, xii. 410. xiii. 169, 381.
- Poetas, in Græcos, observationes Matthiæ, notice of, x. 11.
- Poetic Faculty, the advantages of cultivating it, vi. 247. The danger of excess in exercising it, ib.
- Poetical Latin expressions for the English term 'to run,' list of, xii. 84.
- Poetics of Aristotle, observation on a passage in the, xiii. 47.
- Poetry, requisites for, with an explanation of the 'Ars Poetica,' vii. 84. On the respect that was paid to it in ancient Greece, xvi. 100. Requisites for its cultivation, xii. 88.
- Poets, observations on the general moral character of, ix. 5. On their writings, 6. On the proportion of, educated at public schools, viii. 195.
- Poggy Isles, language of the, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 111.
- Points, on the Diacritical, of the Hebrew language, ix. 255.
- , on the Hebrew, viii. 368. xii. 304. On the use of, in the ancient languages, 451.
- Pola, or Polæ, a city of Istria, built by the Colchians, who were dispatched by Æetes to recover Medea, xiv. 33.
- Police of China, an account of the, iii. 17.
- Politiani Carmen, xix. 188.
- Politianus, instances of his violation of the Rule of Terentianus Maurus, i. 285.
- Politianus Plagiarius, xiii. 439.
- Political Economy, a maxim in, vi. 237.
- Polybius, ix. 18. Illustrated, vii. 127.
- Polychronius, quoted in illustration of remarks upon the Cherubim, iv. 418.
- Polycrates, a conceited Sophist, xviii. 8.
- Polygamy among the Araucanians, and its laws of precedence, ix. 27. Among the inhabitants of Florida, x. 229. General effects of, xii. 42. Its practice almost universal in warm climates, 43. In use from physical causes among the Christians in Ethiopia and Congo, 44. Among the inhabitants of Kamtschatka and the country round Hudson's Bay, from the low estimation of the female sex, ib.
- Polyglott, observations on the London, i. 661, 924. Dedication of Wal-Ind. Cl. Jl.—Suppl. to No. XI. O

- ton's, iv. 355. Projected plan of a, bible, 493. Of Paris; Sionita and Le Jay, editors, account of, xi. 70.
- Polystratus, an ancient author discovered at Herculaneum, vii. 273.
- Polytheism, whether the gods of were considered as men deified, xv. 117.
- Pompeii, researches made at, account of, xv. 330.
- Pomponius Mela, his account of the Hyperborean Isles referred to, iii. 249.
- Poole, his 'Synopsis Criticorum' quoted, on the distinction of colors, iii. 361. And of his opinion respecting the signification of the forms of the cherubim, iv. 419.
- Pope, coincidence between, and Plato, xiii. 165. And Plutarch, 166. And Diogenes Laert. and Scriverius, ib. Diodorus Siculus and Cicero, 167. Seneca, Juvenal, Bacon, and Denham, ib. Cowley, Butler, Wollaston, 168.
- Pope and Lucian, parallel passage of, xx. 15.
- Population of China, on the, iii. 17, 20.
- Porphyrius quoted, xvi. 12.
- Porson, on his merits as a critical scholar, i. 17. Gr. Iambics on his Death, i. 91. Cambridge Prize Gr. Ode, i. 1. Prices of the principal Classics at his sale, 385. Narrative of his last illness and death, 720. His character as it appeared in the Cambridge paper, 735. His algebraic problems, 736. His Greek Iambics, iii. 232, 286. Remarks on them, 293. His imitations of Horace, iv. 97. Commendations of him, 190, 515. His notes to Brunck's Aristophanes, v. 136. Solutions of his algebraic problem, 201, 222, 411. His repartees, 297. His generosity, 298. His note upon a passage in Sallust, vi. 393. Barker and Sidneyensis on, 234. His Critical Review of Brunck's Aristophanes, vii. 92. His charade on 'Cornix,' 248. His remarks on Schutz' Æschylus, 280. viii. 15. His notes on Æschylus, vii. 456. viii. 181. Vindicated by Sidneyensis, viii. 88. On his collation of Homers for the Grenville edition, ix. 191. His Greek translation of Alexis' epitaph, 473. On his literary labors, 286. His notes on Æschylus, x. 114. His geometrical problem, 401. His notes on the Medea, 412. Notice of his 'Adversaria,' xi. 329. His charades, xvi. 399. His unedited notes to Apollonius Rhodius, xviii. 370. Coincides with Hotibius in a correction of Aristophanes, xvii. 11. On Eurip. Phœn. xviii. 232. On Medea, ib.
- , prize instituted by, at Cambridge, for a translation from an old English dramatic author into Greek Iambics, prize exercises for it, xvi. 179. xviii. 197. xx. 97.
- Port Royale Grammarians, on the Cæsura, xv. 98.

- 'Portions sent to those for whom nothing is prepared,' the Scripture expression, explained by a reference to Eastern travellers, iv. 487.
- Portland Vase, observations on the, xix. 226.
- Portuguese language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 112. On its affinity to the Latin language, ix. 601.
- Postea, posthac, on the derivation of, xv. 346.
- 'Potores,' Latin verses, xvii. 208.
- Potter, Dr., on the Lacedæmonian σικυτάλη, iii. 108. Observations on his Archæologia Græca, xi. 143.
- Præsepis, the constellation, described, xviii. 20.
- Præterea, on the derivation of the word, xv. 357.
- Prætors, on the authority of the, v. 269.
- Prayer, The Lord's, on the excellence of, vii. 86.
- Prayer Book, Greek, by Professor Duport, notice of, xvii. 411.
- Precious Stones, superstitious veneration of, in South America, and in the East, xiv. 242.
- Preface to the Syriac version of the Septuagint, by Dr. Holmes, observations upon the, vii. 196.
- Prepositions, Essay on the Greek, by Dr. James Moor, iii. 23. Mistakes relative to their signification, 26. Secondary significations of, 29. Objections of Mr. Tate to Dr. Moor's doctrines on, 470. On Homer's peculiar use of, xvi. 71.
- Prépositions, remarques de M. Gail sur quelques, xviii. 136.
- Presentation, and congratulatory odes, recited upon the visit of the Prince Regent, and their Imperial Majesties to Oxford, in June, 1814, xiv. 91.
- Presents, oriental customs with regard to, x. 352.
- Prettyman, G. H., Latin inscription upon, by Dr. Middleton, i. 142.
- Prevost, M., Letters from Col. Leake to, relative to some inscriptions, xiii. 152.
- Priapus, the Egyptian Peor identified with, ix. 570.
- Price, Dr., his opinions on moral duty referred to, ix. 73.
- Price, Major, Notice of his Memoirs of the principal events recorded in the Mahometan history, ix. 550.
- Prices, at the sale of Porson's books, i. 385. Of Heath's, 662. At the Roxburgh sale, vi. 414. Of Horne Tooke's books, xvii. 283. Of Dr. Gossett's, viii. 471. Of Mr. Edwards's, xii. 35. Of Mr. Willett's, 473. Of Mr. Lunn's, xiv. 343. At Count M'Arthy's, xv. 220. At M. Talleyrand's xx. 209. At the Duke of Marlborough's, 389.
- Pride, distinction between, and vanity, vi. 254.
- Priestley, Dr., on the tenses of the English Verb, i. 791. On the ellipsis, which frequently follows conjunctions in the English language, iii.

- 10, 15. The Socinian notion adopted by, of our idea of God, noticed, iv. 315.
- Primatt's, Mr. W., opinion with respect to the Rhythm of ancient versification noticed, i. 571. His derivation of the word ῥυθμός, iii. 59.
- Principle, a good and evil, early notion of, xvi. 379.
- Principles, moral, of action in man, dissertation upon the, ix. 65, 70.
- Pringle, Sir John, anecdote of, ix. 76.
- Priscian, quoted in illustration of remarks on the Cæsura in Latin verse, xv. 104.
- Privatè education, disadvantages of, viii. 449.
- Prize Poëms, Greek, Cambridge, E. V. Blomfield's, i. 1, 397. J. Bailey's, iv. 52. I. Tyas's, vi. 353. J. H. Fisher's, x. 81. xii. 186. xiv. 187. J. Hayter's, x. 164. Bouquet's, xi. 240. Hall's, xviii. 193. H. Waddington's xx. 97.
- Ode, of Downes, Trin. Coll. Dublin, xiv. 385.
- Greek translations from an English dramatic author, Porson's bequest to the University of Cambridge, Pennington's, from Shakespeare's Henry IV., xvi. 178. Walker's, from Henry VIII., xviii. 196. Waddington's from Coriolanus, xx. 104.
- Greek and Latin Epigrams, Cambridge, E. H. Barker's, i. 10. J. Bailey's, iv. 62. Lettsom's, xiv. 349. Pennington's, xvi. 178. Maltby's, xviii. 193. Okes's, xx. 103.
- Poems, Latin, Cambridge, J. Lonsdale's, i. 6. E. V. Blomfield's, 403. Farhill's, 408. G. Waddington's, iv. 57. M. Lawson's, vi. 356. J. J. Blunt's, x. 83. Stainforth's, xii. 189. T. Taylor's, 206. Lettsom's, xiv. 346. xvi. 175. Hall's, xx. 99.
- Poems, Latin, Oxford, Benwell's, i. 121. Bowles's, 195. Joy's, iv. 75. Hughes's, 375. H. Latham's, vi. 182. B's, x. 345. W. Herbert's, xviii. 26. Ormerod's, 90. Lord Chief Justice Abbott's, 391. Rathbone's, xix. 216.
- Poem, Latin, Christ Church, Oxford, by Burrows, xv. 344. Swansea, W. Turton's, ix. 102.
- Poems, English, Cambridge, Whewell's, x. 87. xii. 145. Berresford's, xiv. 153. Townsend's, xvi. 170.
- , Buchanan's, Grant's, v. 317. xx. 371.
- , English, Oxford, Chinnery's, i. 437. Hawkins's, viii. 153. Ormerod's, xviii. 100.
- Poem, English, Dublin, Anster's, xviii. 64. Winchester, Torre's, viii. 387. St. Paul's School, St. John Mawe, xii. 273.
- Essays, Latin, Cambridge, Ashbridge's, iv. 179. Hughes's, 446. xvii. 311.
- , English, Oxford, Whateley's, i. 439. Benwell's, 681.

- H. Addington's, iii. 219. J. Grattan's, iv. 20. Attfield's, 391. Coplestone's, v. 145. Hendy's, vi. 225. xviii. 321. xix. 90. Rickards's,
xx. 327.
- Procli vita Marini, notice of Boisschade's edition of, ix. 334.
- Prodigies, related and exaggerated by Plutarch, xvii. 105.
- Prognostics, xvi. 50.
- Progymnasmata, Hermogenis, v. 381. vi. 396. vii. 417. viii. 153.
- Prolegomena in Homerum, auctore P. Knight, vii. 321. viii. 33, 289.
- , secundo volumini Editionis Londinensis præfixa, clarissimi
Joannis Pearsoni, Episcopi Cestriensis, ix. 197, 266.
- Prologues and Epilogues to Terence's plays, recited at Westminster School, i. 11. v. 157. vii. 52. viii. 414. xi. 16. xiii. 119. xv. 158.
xx. 383.
- Prologus in Eunuchum Terentii, 1514, Auctore Phil. Melancthon, xiv.
355.
- Prolusio Mercurialis, xvi. 224.
- Prometheus of Æschylus, notes on the, including remarks on Mr. Blomfield's edition of it, iii. 271. iv. 209, 425. vi. 193.
- , critical notice of Mr. Blomfield's edition, v. 299. A passage in, explained, iv. 33. Incidental remarks on, vi. 343. Emendation of a passage in, vii. 454. Metre restored to a passage in one of the Choruses, xi. 63. Remarks upon, xvii. 30.
- Pronunciation of Latin, on the, by Granta, v. 91.
- Proper names, reciprocal substitution of, critical remarks on the, ix. 49.
Often impairing the dignity of composition, xi. 238.
- Propertius, literary and personal character of, ix. 347.
- Lib. ii. Eleg. xvi. v: 15, explained, xi. 178. Conjecture on a passage of, xiii. 415.
- Prophecy, definition of, vi. 231. On Bishop Newton's definition of it, and the universal interest attached to the prophecies of the Jewish Scriptures, xviii. 327.
- Propitiation of the divinity, ancient notions on the, considered, x. 253.
- 'Proserpinæ, de Raptu,' of Claudian, remarks on, v. 24.
- Prosody, on the improvements with regard to, iv. 515. Notice of Dr.
Carey's system of Latin, xvii. 217.
- of Greek Verse, on the, as connected with dialect, xii. 208.
- Prosopopeia of Henna, in Claudian's 'Rape of Proserpine,' noticed as singularly beautiful, v. 28.
- Prostitution, religious, instances of its usage, x. 255.
- Protagoras, his opinion of virtue quoted, ix. 71.
- Protestant and Popish religions, plan for their union, xi. 183.
- Proverb, an old Greek, quoted, xi. 9.
- Proverbs, a collection of modern Greek, xvii. 39.

- Pryce, Dr., Remarks on the ancient Cornish language, xvii. 448. Animadversions on an assertion in these remarks, xviii. 109.
- Psalms illustrated and commented upon, xi. 6, clxvii. 4, in vol. i. 150. lxxviii. in vol. i. 603, 885. vi. 331, 338. lxxviii, vol. xx. 387.
- Psellus, the Chaldaic dogmas exposed by, xvi. 335.
- Ptolemy Hephæstion, an assertion of, respecting a wonderful stone near Cadiz, iii. 180.
- Ptolemy Lagus, hieroglyphics applied to him, v. 119. The founder of a library at Alexandria, 120.
- Public Schools, defence of, viii. 187, 441. ix. 1.
- Publicola, anecdote of, from Plutarch, iii. 326.
- Puerility, Plutarch charged with, in his historical work, xvi. 286.
- Punic or Maltese language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 109.
- Punishment of the Vestal delinquents and their seducers, xvi. 324.
- Puritans, The, their conduct with regard to Public Schools, ix. 3.
- Purley, diversions of, character of the work, ix. 121.
- Pyramid, the Great, those who built, knew how to take a meridian, xvii. 29.
- Pyrrhic foot in scansion, neither magnificent, nor majestic, xi. 123.
- Pythagoras, on the system of philosophy of, xvi. 148.
- Pythagoreans and Platonists accused of sorcery by a Protestant Divine of the seventeenth century, xiv. 170.

- Πάνδοκος, xii. 218.
- Πάπυρος, on the quantity of, xv. 28.
- Παράλιον, on the true meaning of the word, xviii. 19.
- Πάρος, προπάροιθε, πάροιθε, xiv. 284.
- Πεδίαις, xii. 218.
- Πίλω, xiv. 280.
- Πελάριον, xviii. 237.
- Πέββα, obscurity of the word in Lycophron, xviii. 362.
- Πήματα, κήδεα, xiv. 282.
- Πίντοι of Procopius, xi. 154.
- Πιττοκοπιῦν, xii. 405.
- Πεταμητς, not in H. Stephens's Lexicon, xiv. 217.
- Περεφόραις, on the word, x. 71.
- Πῶς ἂν, in Euripides used as utinam, xi. 28.
- Φανς, sense of the word, xv. 30.
- Φθαρὰ, apud Pictores, xii. 97.
- Φιῶλη, xiii. 164.
- Φοίνικας, περι τοῦ, xiv. 319.
- Φορμόσκω, xiv. 281.
- Φρόνιμος, meaning of, v. 98.

Ψαῖον, xiv. 88.

Ψχιν, on the word, x. 77.

Q.

' Quadragesimalia Carmina, ' Lat. Vers., a translation of a passage in Gray's Elegy, xv. 366.

Quantity, on the, of a final short vowel before a word beginning with an s followed by a consonant, i. 283.

———, on, and rhythm, in English verse, vii. 443.

———, variation of, in the same words by the Latin poets, instances of the, xvi. 352.

Quarterly Review, on the Preface to ' Musæ Cantabrigienses, ' noticed, iv. 86. On the Choral Odes of Æschylus referred to, 460. On the metrical canon with respect to i, 515. Its critique upon Major Leake's work answered, x. 402. Upon Mr. Bellamy's translation of the Scriptions replied to, xviii. 209. xix. 1, 233. Its assertion with regard to the quantity of the first syllable of Britones controverted, xviii. 232.

Quatremère sur la langue de l'Égypte, i. 101.

Quentin's, St., Grammars, notice of, vii. 148.

Queries by Lennox, xi. 370.

Qui and quis, on the derivation of, vi. 50. Observations at large upon the words, 51.

Quickna, Ten Numerals of the language of, iv. 117.

' Quid dedicatum poscit Apollinem vates, ' Lat. verses, xii. 454.

' Quidquid delirant reges, plectuntur achivi, ' Lat. verses, iii. 217.

Quin, on the use of the word, x. 387. xi. 296.

Quintilian, quoted in illustration of remarks upon rhythm and metre, iii.

33. His rules of Roman accentuation noticed, i. 361. Quoted by Klotzius de felici Audacia Horatii, xv. 61. Upon Latin accentuation, 97.

Quintus on Etymology, iv. 437. Biblical criticism, v. 187. Classical Criticism, 268.

Quintus Calaber, conjecture on a passage in, xviii. 233.

Quito, a province of Peru, on its temperature, x. 239.

' Quo quisque valet suspectos terræat, ' Lat. Vers., i. 261.

Quoad metrum, or quoad metri, which the preferable construction, x. 400.

' Quod, ' observations upon the conjunction, vi. 57. Difference between it and ' ut, ' ib. On the relative, 58. After the word ' scio, ' the authorities for, questioned, 60.

R.

- Rabutin, the banishment of, compared by Addison in his Essay on the Roman Elegiac Poets, with that of Ovid, ix. 348.
- Racine, a celebrated passage in his Athalie, compared with one of a Greek author, viii. 350. Lines from, translated into Greek verse, xvi. 356.
- Rainbow, the Chinese notion respecting the, ix. 216. Called, by Hesiod, 'The Great Oath,' ib.
- Raine, Dr., Master of Charterhouse, Latin inscription on, vi. 204. His character by G. P., 220. Greek verses of Tweddell addressed to, xv. 180.
- Raleigh, Sir Walter, where educated, ix. 45.
- Ramsden, Dr., his Greek Ode alluded to, iv. 123.
- 'Ranæ' of Aristophanes, remarks on the, by Seager, i. 501. Emendation of a passage in the, xii. 104.
- Randolph, Dr., critical notice of his edition of Miss Smith's translation of the Book of Job, i. 162. Observations upon his strong recommendation of the work, 369. On his interpretation of the Hebrew word Rangmaah, iii. 212.
- Raoul Rochette, M., observations of, on the ancient Improvisatori, xv. 249. xvii. 96, 357.
- 'Raptu, de, Proserpinæ' of Claudian, remarks on, v. 24.
- Rare and new expressions used by Horace, instances of, xv. 77.
- Rasche, Rev. J. C., his German Antiquarian and Numismatical work, noticed, vi. 314.
- Rathbone, his Oxford Prize Latin poem, 'Vis Magnetica,' xix. 216.
- Ray's Proverbs, xvii. 50.
- Raynal, The Abbé, quoted in illustration of remarks upon the Emerald, i. 327.
- Reading, on a course of, by Grotius, i. 765.
- Rechabites, The, mentioned by Jeremiah, 'probably the ancestors of the Abyssinians, xii. 293.
- Recherches, critiques, sur la langue de l'Egypte, i. 101. Sur Apollon par J. B. Gail, xii. 115.
- Recitationes Oratoriæ, xvii. 144.
- Recueil des Portraits des Hommes illustres de l'Antiquité, par Visconti, notice of, vii. 209.
- Rees's Cyclopædia, on the article Grammar, in, iii. 408.
- 'Regenerati,' meaning of the word illustrated, xiii. 196.
- Regnard, a French traveller and poet, Lines inscribed by him on a rock on the shore of the Icy Sea, ix. 593.

- Regulæ præcipuæ Græcorum Accentuum*, Lamberti Bos, vi. 338.
- Rehearsal, passage in the, imitated from Lucian, xi. 179.
- Reid, Dr., an observation of, quoted, on the origin of language, i. 424. Reference to his essays, vi. 88. His doctrines on the selfish principles examined, 252. An assertion of, combated, xvi. 12. An observation of, in his analysis of Aristotle's Logic, refuted, 295. xvii. 331.
- Reiske quoted in illustration of passages in Demosthenes, i. 594. iii. 150, 152.
- Reizius, his doctrines with regard to Greek accents quoted, xii. 321.
- Rejand language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 110.
- Reland quoted in illustration of remarks on the calumny of the Asinine worship of the Jews and primitive Christians, iv. 49.
- Religion, Druses, on the founders of the, vii. 213.
- of the ancient Egyptians, on the, xviii. 2.
- Remarks on Aristophanes by Seager, i. 496, 704. On the English version of the Old Testament by Sir William Drummond, 872. On detached passages in Demosthenes, i. 594. iii. 150. On the introductory lines of the Iliad, 314. On Sir W. Drummond's version of some English names in the Old Testament, 366. iv. 369. On Professor Moor's Essay on Greek Prepositions, iii. 420. On the Preface to 'Musæ Cantabrigienses,' iv. 78. On H. Stephens' Greek Thesaurus, 443. On the antique ring, 454. On Sir W. Drummond's derivation of the word Pharaoh, 468. On the observations on ancient and modern authors, ix. 90. On the topography of ancient Troy, answer to, x. 273. On Potter's Archæologia Græca, xi. 143. On an error in the Periplus, 154. On 1 Tim. ch. 3d, vs. 16, xii. 247. On some statements of Sir William Drummond, 256. On the Cambridge MSS. of the four Gospels, and the Codex Bezae, xii. 276. On the Oriental MSS. in the Royal Library at Munich, by Professor Franck, xiv. 341.
- Remedies and Medicines, on the, used by the ancient Egyptians, xviii. 4.
- Renaudot's Travels of two Mahometans, on the authenticity of, x. 333.
- Rennell's Topography of ancient Troy, answer to, ix. 605. x. 273. His authority adduced by Dr. Vincent in his remarks upon ancient commerce, iii. 61. Observations on the Troad, xvi. 63.
- Repetition of certain words, on the, applied to the illustration of English, Latin, and Greek writers, and of the New Testament, viii. 336.
- Reply to various critiques on the first part of Dr. Adam Clarke's Bible, iii. 423. Of a Frenchman to Mr. Boyd's articles concerning some verses of Racine and Voltaire, xv. 361. To Col. Leake on the inscription on the Diocletian column at Alexandria, 374. Of Scævola, the great Roman lawyer, xv. 368.
- Report of the Committee of the House of Commons respecting Dr. Burney's library, xvii. 429.
- Ind. Cl. Jl.—Suppl. to No. XL.*

- Researches, Asiatic, Critique on Vols. VI. and VII., v. 237. Of the German literature on subjects connected with ancient history and general literature, account of, drawn up by C. Villiers, iii. 348. iv. 139. v. 1. vi. 313. In Greece, by Major Leake, answer to observations on, x. 402. Made among the ruins of Pompeii, xv. 320.
- Resemblance of Ossian's Temora to the greatest epic poems, xvi. 344.
- Retributive vengeance, notion of, among the American Indians, ix. 215.
- Reuven's illustration of Ovidii Heroides, vi. 40, 205.
- Revelations ch. 1st, vs. 18, explained, xi. 92.
- Revenue of the Thracian kings, computation of the, xv. 297.
- Review of Reviewers of Ophion, v. 418. The Critical Review on this article reviewed, 420. The Antijacobin, 422.
- of Illustrations of Homer, vi. 262.
- Reviewer, advice to a, vi. 49.
- Reviews, anonymous writers in, complaint against, by Mr. Bellamy, xviii. 210.
- 'Rex Britanniarum,' on the title of, i. 192.
- Reynolds', Sir Joshua, Discourse at the Royal Academy referred to, i. 278.
- Rhapsodists, on the antiquity of, xvi. 359.
- Rhea, on the mythological opinions of the Chaldeans concerning, xvii. 246.
- 'Rhenus,' an Oxford Lat. Pr. Poem, by W. Herbert, xviii. 26.
- Rhetoric, precept of Grotius with respect to the study of, in the course of reading, recommended by him, i. 769.
- 'Rhetoricians, The,' a MS. of, xvii. 433.
- Rhodians, singular custom among the, at the first appearance of the swallow among them, xi. 347.
- Rhythm, definition of, iii. 36. Aristotle's, Cicero's definition of it, 37. Its divisions, 38. Distinction between ancient and modern, 39. Rhythm and tone, equally comprehended in the term prosody, xi. 72. On the, of Alcaic verse, xv. 234. Horace's strict attention to it overlooked by modern poets, and an instance of its violation cited from Musæ Cantabrigienses, 235.
- Ribaldry, frequent in Theocritus, xviii. 292.
- Rich's Memoir on the Ruins of Babylon, notice of, xii. 287. Notice of his second memoir on the same subject, xviii. 179.
- Richards, H., Lat. verses on the death of, ix. 603.
- Richterum ad Godofr. Epistola Richardi Bentleii, xv. 171.
- Ring, drawing of a gold antique, discovered by Mr. Smith, iv. 128. Remarks on, 454. v. 177.
- , among the nations of antiquity used as a mark of authority, x. 232.

- Rivalship, on the, between Oxford and Cambridge, xvi. 5.
- Rivers, on the, of Troy, x. 278. xvi. 57. Of Paradise, on the locality of the, xvii. 4.
- Roberts' Reply to Sir William Drummond's Remarks upon Balaam, xiv. 65. Observations on the Reply, 337. Answer to the observations, xvi. 372.
- Robertson, character of, as an historian, ix. 1.
- , extract from, on the Parian Chronicle, xvi. 123.
- Robinson Crusoe, notice of Goffaux's translation of, into Latin, ix. 522.
- Robinson, Mr. William, his correspondence with Persiani, relative to the Modern Greek language, iv. 342.
- , Mrs., mentioned, iv. 341.
- Robinson's Greek Sapphic Ode on the Death of Dr. Craven, Master of St. John's Coll. Cambridge, xii. 185.
- Robortelli Animadversiones in Æschylum, xvii. 340.
- Roc, The, a fabulous bird, account of, xvi. 91.
- Rochefort, M., his observations on Æsop's Fables, xi. 221.
- Rochester, education of, among the Puritans, ix. 4.
- 'Roma Alarico, Gothorum rege, spoliata,' Oxford Prize Latin poem, by Benwell, i. 121.
- Romaic, Lord's Prayer in, v. 401. Authors, list of, by Lord Byron, vi. 122. Observations on the language, vii. 377. Verse, on the metre of, x. 405.
- Roman and Grecian Coins, observations on, iii. 89.
- history, perhaps originally recorded in verse, ix. 39.
- Romans, on the respect paid by the, to old age, iii. 142, 324.
- , The Epistle to the, Annotations upon various passages of, i. 763. v. 309.
- Romanos literis mandasse, tum senatorias tum forenses actiones, quâ de causâ, xvii. 143.
- Romulus and Remus, designated in Lycophron as twin lions, xiv. 43.
- Rooinga language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, 110.
- Rosenmüller, a learned German, an account of his biblical works, v. 3.
- Rosetta Stone, remarks on the inscription on the, x. 66.
- Rossaun language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 107.
- Rossi, de, mentioned as a learned Hebrew scholar, iii. 254. Defence of, against the censures of Mr. Bellamy, v. 63.
- Rotermund's continuation of Adelung's universal history, notice of, xi. 68.
- Rowley's Poems, publication of, adduced as a flagrant instance of literary forgery, xvi. 136.
- Roxburgh Sale, prices of the principal books at the, v. 431. vi. 414.
- Royal Shepherds of Egypt, mentioned by Josephus, ix. 559.

- Royston's, Lord, translation of Lycophron's Cassandra, xiii. 1. xiv. 1.
 Rumus' violation of the rule of Terentianus Maurus, instances of, i. 290.
 Rubicon, inscription of the, a fabrication, xi. 361.
 Rubriquis, Monk-William de, description of a Tartar test in the travels of, iv. 34.
 'Ruere,' on the meaning of the word in the Roman poets, viii. 128. On the general use of the word, x. 396.
 Rufi Ars Rhetorica, cum Tib. Rhetor. ed. J. F. Boissonade, notice of, xii. 198.
 Ruhakeniana Opuacula, i. 613.
 Ruhnkenii animadversiones in Xenophontis Memorabilia, iii. 444. iv. 129.
 'Ruhnkenius D. Viro Clarissimo J. H. Fungio S. P. D.,' i. 613.
 Ruins of Pompeii, researches made amongst the, in 1813, account of, xv. 320.
 Rumsen, language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 117.
 'Run, to,' various Latin poetical expressions for, list of, xii. 84.
 'Run a muck,' the phrase illustrated, v. 296.
 Runga language, iv. 351. Ten Numerals of the, 119.
 Ruperti's Juvenal, notice of, viii. 236.
 Rural pleasures, the taste for, natural, xvii. 74.
 Rural descriptions happily introduced by Theocritus into subjects of a different kind, xviii. 35.
 Rusca's Oration, 'In inauguratione amulæ Lat. Soc. Lugd. habita,' xiv. 260.
 Russ language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 112.
 Russell's, Dr., History of Aleppo quoted, iii. 280. Mistake relative to, rectified, iv. 222.
 Russian language, iv. 349.
 ——— Bible Society, proceedings of the, xvi. 195.
 Rzevski, Count Venceslas de, letter from, to M. de Hammer, vii. 162.

- 'r, rough and most sonorous of the Greek consonants, xi. 120.
 'ρχα, xi. 38.
 'ῥογῆς, on the, of the Athenians, xi. 140.
 'ρυσσάμενος, xii. 209.
 'ρυσσῆν, &c. xii. 404.

S. . . .

S, on the inceptive power of, x. 22. On the quantity of a final short vowel before a word beginning with, followed by a consonant, i. 71, 233.

Sacred dramas, dramatic title of the Acts of the Apostles, xii. 453.

Sacrifices, Human, probable origin of, xiv. 352. Pretended to have been ordered by Euphantides, xvii. 104.

Sacy, M. De, his remarks on De Murr's History of the Jews noticed, v. 4.

Saguntum, autographs of inscriptions found at, i. 657. And Sir William Drummond's observations on them, ib. Sequel to his Remarks, No. I., iv. 263. No. II., vi. 4. Additional inscriptions found at, v. 270. With an autograph, vi. 153. Additional inscriptions with autographs, vii. 226. viii. 30.

Saladin and Malek Adhel, on the characters of, by Hammer, xii. 112.

Sales of classical books, see Prices.

Sallier, Abbé, The, his account of the Vulgate Bible of 1469, referred to, iv. 475. His letter to Sir R. Ellys, v. 385. To Professor Ward, 389.

Sallust, note on a passage of, by Professor Porson, vi. 393. Notice of a MS. of, and Eutropius, in Bibliotheca Rostochiensis, x. 144. On his merits as an historian, xi. 361.

Salt, Mr., an inscription at Axum discovered by, an account of it, i. 83. His dissertation on the Adulitic inscription, x. 464.

'Saltatione, de,' Cicero, Sallust, Corn. Nepos, Herodotus quoted, xii. 421.

'Salvation by faith without works,' quotation from the Bishop of Durham on the doctrine, xii. 458.

Salvatori, Sign., an account of a journey into Persia by, ix. 661.

Samians, the, of Arabia, descended from the ancient Zabā, xviii. 289.

Samos, Greek Inscription at, communicated by Mr. Renouard to Dr. E. D. Clarke, x. 171.

Samothrace, notice of a German Treatise on the deities of, xiv. 59. Account of the Cabiri of, 60.

Samothracian Mysteries, in the, the minister of the gods is named Camillus, xiii. 19.

Sampson, remarks on Mr. Bryant's criticism on the history and character of, vi. 324.

Sanadon's violation of the Rule of Terentianus Maurus, instances of, i. 291:

Sandford's Latin verses, a translation of an ode of Anacreon, quoted in the notice of 'Musa Etonenses,' vi. 422.

Sanscrit, on the language, iv. 348. Ten Numerals of the, 107. Parallel

- between, and the Latin and Greek, vi. 375. ix. 219, 529. On the Grammar, ib. On the origin of, xi. 4. Notice of a poem in the language, xii. 432. On the deities of the country, xviii. 53.
- Santander Dict. Bibliog. Choisi, quoted, iv. 477.
- Sapphic metre, remarks on the theory of the, advanced in the preface to the 'Musæ Cantabrigienses,' iv. 79. Canon adduced with respect to the Elision in, 85. Observations on the composition of the Greek, Ode, v. 120. Synopsis of its Scansion, 121. On the structure of, 122. On the prosody of, 123. Farther observations on the composition of the Greek, Ode, vii. 163. On the metre, xiv. 361. xv. 105, 221. xvi. 49. On the Greek Ode of Sir William Browne's institution at Cambridge, xviii. 373. Canons proposed for it, 376.
- Sappho, fragments of, metrically arranged by Holt Okes, i. 139. The just prototypes for the Greek Sapphic Ode, iv. 79. Error pointed out in a late publication of the fragments of, viii. 18. Translation of the celebrated ode of, into Spanish, xi. 180. Emendation of, xv. 157. MS. of, xi. 91.
- Sarcophagus at Alexandria, autograph of an inscription on a, iv. 406.
- Sardonic laugh, the proverb alluded to in the Odyssey, i. 608.
- Sartorius, Professor, of Gottingen, his history of the Hanseatic league announced, iv. 318.
- Satire, a, on the heathen mythology, Latin verses, iv. 362.
- Sava language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 110.
- Savanarola, J., Latin verses on his death, xvi. 185.
- Savary's letters on Egypt quoted, illustrating the patriarchal habits of the country, iv. 143.
- Saxe Gotha, Duke of, his patronage of learned men, iv. 153.
- Saxons, on the ancient language of the, xix. 224.
- Saxony, Jubilee of the king of, Odes in commemoration of the, xix. 77.
- Sayers, Dr., Epitaph on, xix. 189.
- Sc, sp, on the quantity of a vowel, in Latin verse, at the end of a word preceding, ix. 341.
- Scaliger, his violation of the Rule of Terentianus Maurus, instances of, i. 286. On the derivation of the name, 250. Bentley's acknowledgment to, iv. 515. Quoted in illustration of remarks on the Hebrew descent of the Abyssinians, xii. 296. His character, ix. 46. Observations on his work 'de Causis Ling. Lat.,' ib. His critical character, 525. Some of his smaller essays noticed, xiii. 184. Greek lines by, xv. 367.
- Scamander, on the meaning of the name, i. 761. Observations on the situation of the, ix. 617. xvi. 58. xviii. 148.
- Scape Goat, and customs analagous to it in Eastern countries, xiv. 246.

- Scauro pro, pro Tullio, pro Flacco, orationes Ciceronianæ dictæ, xvii. 136.
- Scazontics, remarks on Greek and Latin, ix. 342.
- Scepticism, derivation and meaning of the word, ix. 125.
- Schæfer, Thesaurus Criticus Novus by, notice of, viii. 371. His edition of Porson's four plays of Euripides noticed, iv. 142. His Herodotus, 143. His Dionysius Halicarnassus, 145. Notice of his edition of Brunck's Anacreon, xii. 27. Barker's epistles to, 'de quibusdam Hesychnii Glossis,' 393. xiv. 294.
- Schecorah, on the meaning of the Hebrew, xv. 194.
- Schelling, J. Fr., his translation, into the German language, of Solomon's works noticed, v. 4.
- Schlætzter Augustus Louis, Prof., his translation of an historical work from the Slavonic language noticed and commended, vi. 315.
- Schlegel, M., of Heidelberg, an account of his Indian work on antiquities, iv. 153.
- Schleusner's Lexicon of the Greek Testament, third edition announced, v. 7.
- Schleyermacher, M., his elaborate translation of all the works of Plato commended, iv. 148. His doubts respecting the authenticity of the 1st epistle to Timothy, attacked by Mr. Plank of Gottingen, v. 7.
- Schmidt, M., his history of Germany brought to a conclusion, by M. Milbiller, vi. 318. His lectures on Pasigraphy noticed, and his theory explained, xvi. 27.
- Schneider, his Lexicon, and other critical works, noticed, iv. 146.
- quoted passim in Stackhouse's emendations of Ælian's Natural History, xiii. 445. xiv. 289. xv. 359.
- Scholarship, at Cambridge University, an account of the exercises for the Candidates in an examination for, xvi. 280.
- Scholiast, on Hephæstion, illustrated, vi. 94. On Cicero, the numerous errors of the, xi. 358. On the Plutus of Aristophanes emended, xvii. 455.
- Scholiasts, Latin, Wasse's observations on the, i. 452. A list of the authors cited by them, 458.
- Schools, a defence of public, viii. 187, 441. ix. 1. On the errors and abuses of, xix. 295.
- Schottus, Andrea, quoted in illustration of an historical account of the Vulgate Bible of 1450, iv. 474.
- Schultz, Mr. David, of Halle, his dissertation on the last chapter of Xenophon's Cyropædia noticed, iv. 145.
- Schultze, Professor, of Halle, noticed, as the editor of the history of the Indian Missionaries, iv. 153.
- Schutz, mentioned as a commentator upon Æschylus, i. 22. His edition of Æschylus mentioned, iv. 141. And quoted in illustration of a pas- sage in the Prometheus, 219. Notice of his edition of Æschylus by Porson, vii. 280. Of his 'Euripidis Phœnissæ,' xiii. 177.

- Schwabe, M., his edition of Phædrus noticed and commended, iii. 357.
- Schwartz, testimony of, in reference to the Vulgate Bible of 1450, iv. 475.
- Science of the Egyptians and Chaldeans, dissertation on the, xvi. 148. 362. xviii. 1, 298.
- Science, as it regards public schools, viii. 441. Inquiry into the state of, among the ancient nations of the world, x. 251.
- Sclavonic language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 112.
- Scotch Metaphysicians, their attacks on the philosophical doctrines of Aristotle reprobated, xvii. 231.
- Scott, Professor, of Aberdeen, Essay on the origin of writing and language, i. 37. His death announced, iii. 79. His character by Dr. Skeene Ogilvie, iv. 191. His Essays, 'An Enquiry into the causes of the diversity of the human character in the different nations of the earth,' vi. 82, 248. vii. 1. ix. 63. x. 237. xii. 41, 263. xiii. 305.
- Scott's, Walter, Minstrelsy of the Scottish Border, quoted, to illustrate observations in Nugæ Grammaticæ, iii. 12.
- Scott's, Mr., annotation on Exodus, chap. xxv. ver. 18, referred to, in illustration of remarks on the Cherubim, iv. 417.
- Scottish Review on Barker's edition of Cicero's tracts answered, vii. 175.
- Scribo, on the government of, vi. 60.
- Scrinum Insulæ on the Western coast of Italy, xiv. 13.
- Scriptural Glosses in Hesychius, discovered by Bentley, x. 180.
- account of the creation corresponding with that of Greece and Rome, vi. 299.
- expressions paralleled in Euripides and Milton, xviii. 238.
- Scriptures, the, illustration of, iv. 465. Horne's introduction to, noticed, xvi. 194. An account of the Eastern translations of, 195.
- Scriverius, testimony of, relative to the Vulgate Bible of 1450, iv. 474. Coincidence between and Diogenes Laërtius, and Pope, xiii. 166.
- 'Sculpture, on,' Oxford Prize English Essay by Grattan, iv. 20.
- Scutari, the ancient Chrysopolis, ix. 632.
- Scylla destroyed by Hercules, and restored to life by her father, xiii. 11.
- 'Scyllam, incidit in,' on the origin of the Proverb, xviii. 233.
- 'Scytharum, de sedibus,' Bayeri dissertatio, x. 259.
- Scythians, on the ancient language of the, xi. 359.
- Seager's remarks on, and emendations of Aristophanes, i. 496. His emendations and explanations of Lucian, vi. 125. ix. 158. xi. 199. xiii. 71. xiv. 77. xv. 151. xvi. 232. xvii. 326. xviii. 48, 317. xix. 24.

- His observations on passages in ancient and modern authors, vii. 125, 240, 442. His collection of parallel passages from ancient and modern writers, xiii. 165. His commentaries upon Euripides, xx. 78, 217.
- Seals made of worm-eaten wood, used by the ancients before the invention of cutting metal or gems, xiv. 6.
- Seatonian Prize Poem, 'The Shipwreck of St. Paul,' by Hoare, xv. 269.
- Secker's, Archbishop, letters to Pilkington on the revision of the translation of the Old Testament, xx. 188, 225.
- Secular Games among the Romans, xvii. 351.
- Secundus, Johannes, a stanza from one of his odes quoted, and instanced as a happy imitation of a beautiful passage in Horace, xv. 67.
- Secus, rarely occurs as a preposition, xi. 182.
- Sedulius Scottus, his specimen of a Greek psaltery adduced on a Palæographical question, i. 87. The same work referred to, in a dissertation on Greek and Latin accents, xii. 308.
- Selden, where educated, ix. 4.
- Self-love, remarks on, vi. 251.
- Selfish Principles, Dr. Reid's observations on, noticed, vi. 252.
- Sempiternus, in Latin Prosody, on the quantity of its second syllable, ix. 340.
- Seneca, his observations on the punishments of Parricides quoted, iv. 430. His description of excessive anger, ix. 66. Coincidence between, and Milton, xiii. 167. and Pope, ib. Quoted by Klotzius to illustrate the meaning of audax, when applied to a peculiar style of writing, xv. 61. to illustrate the meaning of φιλήτης, 216. His philosophy reviewed, xviii. 70.
- Seneca, in Hippolytum, animadversiones Justi Lipsii, v. 57. Opera, Edit. Muretus, critical notice of, vi. 139. Bencii Præfatio, ib.
- Seneca, the tragic author, Withof and Bentley coincide in their corrections of his poems, xvii. 13.
- 'Senectute, de,' Cicero's tract, Collatio MS*i.*, from Mr. Barker's edition, iv. 301. Critical notice of Mr. Barker's edition of, v. 188, 424. Additional notes to this edition, vi. 155, 274. Conjecture on, vindicated by Mr. Barker, x. 306. Illustration of a passage in, xii. 72.
- Sens, an inscription at, copy of, i. 161.
- Sensual views ascribed to 'the Song of Solomon,' not authorised by reference to the original Hebrew, xv. 190.
- 'Septem Contra Thebas,' of Æschylus, Barker's critical and philological remarks on, vii. 398.
- Septuagint, historical and critical account of the, ix. 475. Hints re-
- Ind. Cl. J*l.—Suppl. to No. XL.

- lative to the study of the, 479. New edition of it, xvii. 216. Critical account of Holmes' edition of it, xix. 367.
- Seraphinus' edition of 'Cicero de Naturâ Deorum,' critical notice of, vii. 415.
- Serawollics language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 118.
- Seria Biblica, vi. 320.
- Serica, the China of the Classics, Inquiry relating to, iii. 295.
- Sericus Oceanus, supposed by many authors to be 'the Chinese Ocean,' i. 54.
- Sermon by Bishop Pearson, before the University of Cambridge, vii. 86.
- Sermons by Dr. Valpy, critical notice of, iv. 503.
- Servius Grammaticus quoted, on the meaning of the word γράφειν, xv. 34.
- On final common syllables in Latin Prosody, 101.
- Seven, instances of a peculiar use of the number, by scriptural and classical authors, viii. 363.
- Sevenfold ablution, xviii. 276.
- Sexual tendencies, x. 254.
- Shaarreeke, the Hebrew meaning of the word, xv. 197.
- Shaftesbury, Lord, anecdote of, viii. 446. His character as a writer, ix. 80. Proof that he assisted Locke in his 'Essay on Toleration,' 595.
- Error of, with respect to the decline of the Fine Arts, xi. 362.
- Shah Nameh, or, 'Book of Kings,' a Persian poem, by Ferdusi, account of, i. 420.
- Shakspeare, illustrations of passages of, vii. 129. His 'Tempest' referred to, xi. 55. Translation into Greek Iambics of a passage from Henry IV., xvi. 178. From Henry VIII., xviii. 196. From Coriolanus, xx. 104. And Dryden, coincidence between, xvii. 354.
- Shanfari, an ancient Arabian poem, an account of, i. 69.
- Sharpe, Granville, Dedication of the Chart of Numerals in two hundred tongues to, iv. 114.
- Sharpe, Dr. Gregory, his opinion on the origin of Hebrew points quoted, iii. 261.
- Sheffield, Lord, critical notice of his edition of Gibbon's works, xi. 356.
- Shelling's Treatise on the Deities of Samothrace, critical notice of, xiv. 59.
- Shenstone, an imitation by him of two lines of Theocritus, xviii. 182.
- Sheridan, where educated, ix. 5.
- Sherlock, Bishop, where educated, ix. 4.
- Shield of Achilles, remarks on the, By Sir William Drummond, vi. 6.
- Observations on the remarks, viii. 409.
- Shilhi language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 106.
- Shiloh, observations on the meaning of the word, iii. 255, 394.

Shimar, the, on Prof. Carlyle's account of, in the plains of Troy, ix. 608.
Shinar, the plains of, after the flood the abode of all the human race,
xix. 67.

Ship, called 'a horse of the floods,' xvii. 356.

'Shirin and Ferrad,' a Persian poem, extract from, x. 332.

Shoes taken off upon an introduction to princes, as a mark of respect,
xii. 70.

Shuster, in geography, is it the ancient Susa? ix. 455.

Siam, language of, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 107. Its ordinals and cardinals, 348.

Sicily, the reverses of the Carthaginians in their invasions of it, xv. 115.

Sicinus, sent to Xerxes by Themistocles,—was he a Persian? xvii. 104.

'Siculi Diodori Bibliothecæ Historiæ Libri,' notice of, ix. 471.

Siculus, on Greek pastoral poetry, xx. 200.

Sidmouth, Lord, where educated, ix. 5.

Sidney, Sir Philip, mistake relative to, corrected, ix. 5. Where educated, ib.

Sidneyensis, on Bibliography, iv. 456. On the syntax of τὸν, v. 186.

Reply to, 377. On the controversy between, and Mr. Barker, vi. 224.

Vindication of Prof. Porson, viii. 88. On bibliography, x. 316. On the prosody of Greek verse, xii. 208. Observations on Prof. Duport's Greek Prayer Book, xvii. 410. 'The English Liturgy illustrated by its version into the Latin and Greek languages, xix. 178.

Sidonius Apollinaris, instance of false quantity in his verses, ix. 528.

Sight, on the use of, in study, vii. 363.

Signs, original, inquiry relative to, i. 43. On arbitrary, visible, 429.

Silium Italicum in Emendationes Bentleii, iii. 381.

Silk, identified with the Golden Fleece of Medea, i. 180. Inquiry relative to the knowledge of the ancients of, and the silk-worm, iii. 295.—vii. 33.

Similarity of worship in different countries of the Pagan world, essays on the, xiii. 410. xiv. 350. xv. 88. xvi. 205. xviii. 52.

Simile in Homer, observations on a remarkable, xvi. 183.

Simois, The, of Troy, inquiry respecting its locality, ix. 617. Identified by Pococke with the Shimar, x. 280. Its situation discussed, xviii. 148.

Simonds, in his notes to Sidonius Apollinaris quoted on the title of 'Rex Britanniarum,' i. 194.

Simonides, his definition of a picture noticed, iii. 223. Illustrations and emendations of, xvi. 218. Translation of one of his Odes into Latin verse, xvii. 454. 'Sur Simonides de Céos,' extracted from Millin's Annales Encyclopédiques, xix. 115.

- Simourg, the, a fabulous bird of the Persians, a symbol of the revolutions of time, xvi. 94.
- Sinæ, the China of the Classics, iii. 295.
- Sindbad the Sailor, Tale of, translated from the original Arabic by M. Langlès, an account of, xii. 259.
- Sindon, in the Septuagint, true meaning of the word, ix. 156.
- Sionita, Gabriel, one of the editors of the Paris Polyglott Bible, short account of, xi. 70. Remarks on this account, xii. 254.
- Siris, description d'une médaille de, x. 358.
- Skinner, Rev. J., his collection of Latin and English poetical pieces noticed and commended, i. 674.
- Skipú, account of inscriptions at, xiii. 331.
- Slaves, on the treatment of, in Athens and Sparta, xiii. 315.
- Sleusneri Opuscula, notice of, viii. 185. Lexicon, by Smith, critical account of, ix. 223.
- Smaragdi, various kinds of, i. 325.
- Smirke, Edward, English Prize Poem by, xi. 145.
- Smith, Adam, his dissertation on the origin and progress of language quoted, i. 41. His observation on the structure of the Greek language noticed, iv. 359. His answer to the objection frequently made against classical education, vi. 238.
- , Miss, translation of the Book of Job by, critical notice of, i. 162. A beautiful emendation in her work pointed out, 188. Farther observations on it, 369.
- , Dr. Robert, unjustly stigmatised by Lord Monboddo, iii. 35. quoted in 'Critical Remarks on Longinus,' 344.
- , J. W., his account and description of a ring found in Yorkshire, iv. 128.
- , Dr. James, edition of Sleusner's Lexicon, critical notice of, ix. 223.
- 's Version of Bishop Jewell's Apologia, xii. 456.
- Smyth, J. C., Classical Criticism by, xi. 19.
- Sneezing, on the origin of the custom of saluting a person when, ix. 526, x. 55.
- Society, Royal, its formation, xvii. 116.
- Socrates, the characteristics of his morality, ix. 71. Explanation of Aristophanes' Satire on his character, xiv. 277. Archdeacon Nares on the Dæmon of, xv. 205. Thomas Taylor's Remarks on the same, xvi. 160.
- , MS. of, xi. 91.
- 'Sodalis,' on the etymology of the word, x. 389. xi. 297. xiii. 428. xv. 140.
- 'Sodalitates,' on the origin and meaning of the word, xv. 147.
- Solinus, examination of a passage of, πρὸ τοῦ πολυμωτος, xv. 7.

- Sotadean verses, Instances of, xv. 111.
- Sotades, the inventor of Sotadean verses, ix. 527.
- Sothic-Cycle, why so called, vi. 12. year, Explanation of, xv. 8.
- Soul, The, according to the Pythagorean Philosophy freed by sleep from the Body, xi. 214. On the, of the World, xiv. 119. The immortality ascribed by Euripides to the human, 124.
- Southey, a passage in his 'Curse of Kehama' similar to one in Æschylus, xviii. 232. An assertion in his Amadis de Gaul controverted, 233.
- Sp, on the propriety of a final short vowel being lengthened preceding, in Latin verse, ix. 341. xii. 10.
- Spain, on the Antiquities of, v. 263.
- Spalding, Professor, of Berlin, account of his edition of Quintilian, iii. 356. His 'History of the Kingdom of Jerusalem' noticed, vi. 315. His opinion on Cicero's Oration pro Marcello, xvii. 137.
- Spanish Language, iv. 349. Ten numerals of it, 112. Its affinity to the Welsh, 267. Its resemblance to the English, ix. 120.
- Spanish Coast, description of the, v. 111.
- Sparta, on the Houses in, xiii. 310. Regulations concerning their structure, ib. Contrast between its Laws and those of Athens, 313.
- Spartans, the respect paid by them to old age, iii. 144. Noted for perfidy, xi. 8.
- Speech, observations on the Faculty of, i. 37.
- Spelman, the Translator of the Greek Historians, where educated, ix. 4.
- Spencer, Earl, a beautiful copy of the Vulgate Bible of, 1450, 1455, in his Library, iv. 471.
- Sphinx, The, observations on, v. 241.
- Splendescere, applied to sound, xii. 74.
- Splendide, meaning of the word, vi. 48.
- Spohn, G. L., collatio Versionis Syriacæ Peschito, &c., xii. 124.
- Spon, Mr., his 'Researches d'Antiquité' quoted, on the talents of Campanella as a Physiognomist, i. 427.
- Spondaic lines in Homer, examples of, xvi. 352.
- Spondee, as a foot in verse, grave and majestic, xi. 123.
- Spurzheim, on the anatomy of the Brain, x. 180. On his Craniological notions, ib.
- Squire's, Rev. Edmund, Greek Verse Exercise Book, announcement of, xx. 406.
- Stackhouse's Emendations of Ælian, xiii. 455, xiv. 289, xv. 359, xviii. 139. His remarks on an error in the Periplus, xi. 154.
- Stael, Mad. De, a compliment paid by her to the English Universities, ix. 592.
- Stainforth, G., Cambridge Prize Latin Ode, xii. 189.
- Standard, essay on the, Labarum, iv. 223.

- Stanleii, Notæ in Callimachum, xvi. 164, xvii. 190, 362, xix. 50.
- Stanley, referred to as a Commentator upon Æschylus, i. 18. His Explanation of πλακταὶ στίχοι in the Prometheus, iv. 33. His Translation of part of a chorus in the same Play, 218. His commentary upon Æschylus commended, v. 300.
- Stanley, Thomas, Esq., an honest vindication of, and his Notes on Callimachus, ix. 349.
- Statius quoted, in illustration of Remarks in an Essay on the Offices of Mercury, xvi. 226. Reading of a passage of, compared with Virgil, xviii. 238.
- 'Statue of the dying Gladiator,' Oxford Prize Poem, English, by Chinnery, i. 437.
- Statues of Marsyas, common at Rome; and their usual attitudes suggest an improvement in the reading of a passage in Juvenal, xv. 300.
- Staunton, Sir George, his travels quoted in Illustration of Juvenal Sat. xiii. v. 162, i. 702. His 'Ta Tsing Leu Lee' noticed, 585, 702. Remarks on his Penal Code of China, 887. His account of the Persian Embassy quoted, iii. 267, iv. 489.
- Steberus, Letter from, to Professor Ward, v. 392.
- St. David's, the Bishop of, answer of Mr. Bellamy to, xiii. 226.
- Steele, Mr., on accents quoted and referred to, i. 365, 845.
- Stelocopas, on an Inscription on an Elgin marble, xiv. 187. On the Orchomenian Inscription, xvi. 392.
- Stephens, H., Mots omis par, indiqués par J. B. Gail, xii. 215, 463; xiii. 101, 406. xiv. 380.
- Stephens' Greek Thesaurus, on the projected new Edition of, iv. 443. Lord Grenville's Letter to the Editors of, 513. Hints to the Editors of, by T. M. W. vii. 362. Materials for the Improvement of the New Edition, x. 193, 413. Preface to the New Edition, xiii. 202. Dibdin's, Mr., observations on, and Commendation of, xvi. 400. Critique of Professor Hermann on, xviii. 169. Observations on the Critique, 381, xix. 103.
- Stephens's, Chas., Translation of Adrish's Address to departing Spirits, viii. 21.
- Stetichorus, one of the earliest writers in the Doric Dialect, xvii. 83.
- Stewart, Dugald, some of his philosophical principles examined, xvii. 118, 335.
- St. Helena, Greek Epigram on, xiii. 198.
- Stigellius, Repartee of, xiv. 386. Epitaph on, 387.
- Stillingfleet, Bishop, where educated, ix. 4. Monumental Inscription on, x. 343. Remarks of, on Literary Forgeries, xvi. 123.
- St. John Mawe, English Prize Poem by, xii. 273.
- Stobæus, Remarks on a passage of, xvii. 455.

- Stolborg, Count, his translations into German of some of the works of the Greek Tragedians commended, iv. 147. *
- Stolen Goods, singular method of recovering, in Lapland, x. 293.
- Stoltz, Dr., of Bremen, one of the German Literati,* his Theological work noticed, v. 6.
- Stones, unction of, as a religious ceremony, probable origin of the custom, ix. 217.
- St. Quentin, notice of his French and English Grammars, vii. 148.
- Strabo, Falconer's Edition of, Examination of a Criticism on, vi. 45. Observations on the Examination, vii. 151. Two letters from Thos. Falconer on the Edinburgh review of the Oxford, 445.
- Strabo, his Testimony adduced in a description of the offices of the ancient Druids, iii. 181. His account of the ancient Britons, iv. 45. On the Emerald Mines of Arabia, 165. On the variety of Languages used in ancient Spain, 271. Remarks on some passages of, ix. 113. His Inaccuracy in describing the Troad, noticed, xvii. 146.
- Strada's contest of the musician and the nightingale, imitations of, xvii. 180.
- Strafford, Earl of, where educated, ix. 5.
- Strenua Inertia, excellent Game for the Exertion of, ix. 527.
- Strictures on Plutarch, xvii. 102.
- Struvius's notion respecting the casting of printing types noticed, iv. 475.
- Studies, course of, pursued at Oxford, vi. 305.
- 'Studiorum, quæ in Academia Cantabrigiensi instituta sunt, laus et utilitas.' Cambridge Prize Latin Essay by Ashbridge, iv. 179.
- 'Study of the Fathers,' remarks on the, viii. 368.
- Study, on the judicious direction of, vii. 86. Not prejudicial to the Constitution, xv. 207.
- Sturtz, F. G., his Classical Works noticed and commended, iv. 142. His Edition of Pherecydis Fragmenta, critical notice of, viii. 126.
- Stutzman, Mr., Erlangen, noticed as the Editor of Plato's Republic, iv. 144. His Historical and Philosophical Works, v. 10.
- 'Suavium,' distinguished from 'osculum,' ix. 319.
- Subjunctive Mood, observations on the, vi. 53.
- Sublime passages in Theocritus, xviii. 290.
- Substantive one, used with another instead of an adjective, ix. 159.
- 'Sudum,' the meaning of the word,* v. 103.
- Suetonius collatus cum MSto. Dunelmensi, ix. 143, 386.
- Suetonius quoted, on the Existence of Pigmies in the ancient world, iii. 346. On the punishments of crimes among the Germans, iv. 427.
- Suicer, Enquiry concerning his critical MS. x. 198.
- 'Suicide, The,' translation of Vincent Bourne's, xv. 366.
- Suidæ Lexicon, Suidas who? iii. 268.

- Suidas quoted, on arsis and thesis in lyrical rhythm, iii. 56. On the meaning of the word ὑπερῆνς, 105. of the word ταραχουίτης, 151. Quoted to illustrate a passage in the Prometheus of Æschylus, 276. Observations on, vii. 456. His ὀρέτης, whether Horace, ix. 600. Corrected, xi. 323. Latin Translation of, xii. 210.
- Sumatra, Language of, iv. 349. Ten numerals of the, 111.
- Summarius Orationis pro Marcello, xvii. 391.
- 'Summo de Bono,' Heumannus, viii. 277.
- Sumner's, Dr., Concio ad Clerum, x. 43.
- Sun, The, when and why elevated on high? v. 35. The reduction of its disk by the Sect. of Epicurus, 103. Worshipped by the Persians as Mithras; by the Phœnicians as Baal, xii. 73. Ancient opinion on its Substance, xiv. 306.
- Superiority of the Ancients to the Moderns asserted and maintained in the Essay 'Vindiciæ antiquæ,' xvi. 6.
- Superstition, in alliance with Luxury, ix. 349. Its prevalence in the Heathen world, xv. 123, xvi. 206.
- Supines, observations on the Latin, i. 434.
- Supplement to Sir W. Drummond's Dissertation on Genesis the 49th, v. 30. Concerning Ammon, v. 407.
- Supplices Æschyli, Emendationes in, i. 801, iii. 182, 414. Observations . . . iii. 183. iv. 154. Critical Notice of Hermann's Edition of, viii. 417. ix. 49.
- Sura, an Arabian writer, quoted, on the superstitious practices of the Pagan Arabs, xvi. 208.
- Surnames, Remarks on the derivation of, i. 248.
- Surrey, Lord, where educated, ix. 4.
- Susiana, observations on the Geography of, ix. 449.
- 'Swallow, Money for the,' the custom relating to, illustrated, xi. 349.
- 'Sweaten,' authority for the word, x. 175.
- Swedish Language, iv. 349. Ten numerals of the, 111. Similarity between it and the English, xi. 15.
- Swift, Dean, quoted in Nugæ Grammaticæ, as using the Indicative mood after a Conjunction, iii. 6.
- Sydney, Algernon, letter to his father, x. 120.
- Sydney, Ten numerals of the language of, iv. 111.
- 'Syllabis, de, et verbis addendis ac tollendis, et de Glossis.' Gulielmus Canterus de Arte Emendandi, v. 363.
- Syllables in Latin Prosody, observations on Short, viii. 21.
- Sylloge Inscriptionum antiquarum, vii. 425.
- Syllogistic form of reasoning, whether to be preferred? xvii. 118.
- 'Symbola Critica,' Dr. Crombie's, critical notice of, x. 384. Remarks on the notice of, xi. 296. Observations on the remarks, xii. 167.

- Symbolic Hieroglyphics, enumeration of, in a review of Bailey's Essay on the origin and use of Hieroglyphics, xvi. 317.
 Symmachus' translation of the Bible, xviii. 215.
 Symmons, Dr. Charles, on Milton's Latin Poetry, ix. 338.
 Sympathy, on the power and principle of, vii. 2.
 Synagogues, first existence of, enquiry relative to the, x. 27.
 Synenclitidis, de, xv. 56.
 Synesius, observations on his hymns, ix. 88.
 Synonyma, Biblical, vii. 202. ix. 214. x. 228. xii. 67. xiv. 241.
 Syracuse, Inscription on a Greek Theatre at, vi. 391.
 Syriac version, remarks on Dr. Holmes's preface to the, of the Old Testament, vii. 195. Collation of the, by G. L. Spohn, xii. 124.
 ——— MSS., xviii. 255.
 Systems of ancient philosophy, xviii. 330.

- ς, falsely doubled in κύνισιν, καλίσσατο, &c. in Homer's poetry, ix. 379. If frequently used in Greek, very offensive, xi. 190. Double, xvii. 350.
 Σαίνο, on the etymology of, vii. 287.
 Σαφήνεια, a rhetorical word, xii. 200.
 Σίβας, vrai sens du mot, xviii. 138.
 Σῆμα, xiii. 165.
 Συγματίσματα, xvii. 86.
 Σίδη, Σίδιον, malus Punica, xiv. 87.
 Σις, terminating nouns, implies action, xii. 216.
 Σκαφιῶν, explanation of the word, xv. 130.
 Σκυτάλη, on the Lacedæmonian, iii. 108.
 Στάτης, equivalent to μνά, xii. 158.
 Σταύρωσις Χριστου, Greek Ode, v. 282.
 Στιφάνου μίλαντος διάλογος, v. 283.
 Στιφος, meaning ὄψ, xi. 323.
 Στιχηγέριον, xi. 325.
 Στιχομύθειν et στιχομυθία, xi. 325.
 Συκᾶμινος explained, ix. 137.
 Συκοφάντης, explanation of, iii. 106.
 Συνθήσκουν, xii. 219.
 Σύστημιμα, Σύστημα, Συντήρησις, xi. 323.
 Σχοῖτος, xvi. 270.
 Σῶμα, peculiar signification of, xviii. 202.
 Σώστηον, on the word, x. 29.
 Σωχάτης, in Plutarch, a false reading for σωφάνης, xv. 311.

F.

- 'Ta Tsing-Leu Lee,' remarks on the work, i. 585.
- Tabernacle, on the construction of the, in the religious worship of the Hebrews, xviii. 301. Worship among the Jews, its antiquity proved. 274.
- Table of Prosody for the Alcaic Metre, xvi. 51. Of the ancient measures in relation to the English foot, 267.
- Tacitus, critical remarks on detached passages of, i. 473. iii. 159. v. 358. Illustrated by Mr. Barker, i. 581. A passage in the 'Germany,' illustrating 1 Cor. ch. 11th., i. 100. Remarks on a passage of, iii. 133. His account of the statue of the Paphian Venus at Cyprus quoted, 189. Quoted to illustrate the meaning of the word 'Vallum' in British antiquities, iv. 45. Remarks on a passage in his Hist. Lib. V., 48. On his 43d chapter of Germany, 89. Quoted on the method of punishments among the ancient Germans, 426. Enquiry as to the sources whence his information was drawn, viii. 244. Illustrated and emended by Mr. Barker, ix. 101. On the probability of his being the author of the 'Dialogus de Oratore,' 162. Quoted by Sir William Drummond on the existence of the Phoenix, xv. 7. His account of the sacred groves of the Semnones, in his Germany, noticed, xv. 89, 92. His account of the bards among the ancient Germans quoted, xvi. 211. A passage of, translated by Mr. Pitt, xviii. 202.
- Tailong language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 107.
- Tainay language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 107.
- Taiyay language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 107.
- Talleyrand's Sale of Books, prices at, xx. 209.
- Talma, his reformation in the theatrical costume instanced, vii. 61.
- Tamul language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 107.
- Tancut, North of Thibet, on the language of, iv. 348.
- Tarragona, copy of a Roman inscription at, xvi. 387.
- Tashkand, asserted by Dr. Hager in his Chinese Pantheon to be the Ἀθῆναι πύργος of Ptolemy, i. 178.
- Taste, essays on the standard of, i. 267, 274, 752. Definition of, i. 223. Mr. Alison's essays on quoted and commended, 290.
- Tate, Rev. James, Letter to the editor of the Classical Journal, i. 896. His remarks on Professor Moor's essay on Greek prepositions, iii. 470. Extract from a letter of, to the editor of the Classical Journal on the history of metre, iv. 515. His remarks on the composition and structure of the Greek Sapphic Ode, v. 123. vii. 163. His observations on a note in Dalzel's Collectanea, v. 128.

- Tatius, the mistakes of, relative to the scientific knowledge of the ancient Egyptians, pointed out by Sir W. Drummond, vi. 9.
- Tau, or the Crux ansata, observations on the, xx. 178.
- Tavernier, Voyages des Indes quoted, i. 68.
- Taylor, Dr., quoted, on the meaning of δίκαιος, iii. 156, 344. Dawes's letter to, on the formation of letters in ancient Greek inscriptions, x. 349.
- , J., Pettingall's letter to, on Dr. Mead's emendation of Juvenal, Sat. xiv. vs. 97, x. 107.
- , T., extract from his Dissertation on Aristotle's Philosophy, xv. 279. His Remarks on the Demon of Socrates, xvi. 160. On the use of arches among the ancients, xvi. 184. Collection of Chaldean and Zoroastrian oracles, 333. On some Orphic unedited remains, xvii. 158. On the Chaldean oracles, xvii. 243. His 'Adversaria Literaria,' 457. xix. 364. Extract from, in vindication of Aristotle, xviii. 333. Note on the peculiar signification of δύμας and σῶμα, 202. On the word πελώριον, 237. Remarks on the antiquity of alchemy, xx. 75. On the planet Jupiter and Jupiter Demiurgus, 324.
- , Thomas G., Cambridge Prize Latin Ode by, xii. 206.
- Tchoutki language, iv. 350. Ten Numerals of the, 115.
- Teemoor, the Persian, wrote a treatise upon omens, xvi. 209.
- Tehran, the imperial residence of the present sovereign of Persia, ix. 632.
- Teifashi, an Arabian writer upon jewels, i. 65.
- Teignmouth, Lord, his Life of William Jones referred to, iii. 432. iv. 328.
- 'Telegraph, the Classical,' Letter of Isaac Casaubon, v. 105.
- Telescope, its use unknown to the ancients, xvi. 150. Conjecture on the antiquity of its invention, 151.
- Temere, in Latin Prosody, on the quantity of its last syllable, ix. 340.
- Temora, Ossian's, critique on, shewing its resemblance to the poems of Homer, Virgil, and Milton, xiv. 269. xvi. 344.
- Tempe en Thessalie, Inscription sur une roche à, xiii. 156.
- Tempe, on the present state of, by Dr. Holland, xiii. 179. Assimilated to St. Vincent's Rock below Bristol, ib.
- Temper, remarks on the regulation of the, ix. 70.
- Temple, Sir William, where educated, ix. 5. His observation on the excellence of the ancient writers quoted, xvi. 6.
- Temple at Parchia, Inscription on a ruined, iv. 406.
- Temples, conjecture relative to the structure of the earliest, ix. 218.
- 'Templum Vacuæ,' Latin verses, by Joy, v. 225.
- Tennant, Rev. Mr., his objection to the missionary labors of Maurice, Gladwin, Jones, &c., reprobated, iv. 442.

- Tense, peculiar use of a, in Greek, Latin, and French, xi. 46.
- Tenses, on the, of the English verb, i. 773. Their connexion with Moods, xix. 340.
- 'Tentamen de Metris Æschyleis,' by Dr. Burney, critical notice of, i. 643.
- 'Tentamen de Poetis Elegiacis Romanis,' by Addison, ix. 346.
- Teraphim, description of the, v. 31.
- Terence, Andria, Emendation of a passage in, x. 172.
- Terentianus Maurus, on his Rule respecting the quantity of a final short vowel before a word beginning with s followed by a consonant, i. 71. Collection of examples from different authors in determination of its justice, 72. Instances of the violation of his Rule by the modern Latin poets, 283. Quotation from, relative to apers and thris, iii. 42. Remarks on his metrical canons, xii. 10.
- 'Terga dare,' in a metaphorical sense, xi. 60.
- Terra del Fuego, Captain Cook's description of the inhabitants quoted, in illustration of remarks on the diversity of the human character in different parts of the world, x. 248.
- Testament, Old, remarks on the English version of the, by Sir William Drummond, i. 872. iii. 166. iv. 63.
- , New, remarks on some errors in the English translation of the, ix. 137. On the idea that it was originally written in Hebrew, x. 28. Correction of some mis-translations in our version, xiii. 145. xiv. 148, 374. xvi. 274.
- 'Testamentum Vetus Græcum,' a Roberto Holmes, edit. Parsons, critical notice of, ix. 475.
- Testamenti Noyi, de Græcis accentibus, xv. 39.
- Teuberi, C. A., notice of his 'Tractatus de Utilitate Linguæ Anglicæ in explicatione Sanctæ Scripturæ,' ix. 466.
- Teucher's edition of Antoninus Liberalis, account of, vii. 284.
- Teutones, the, remarks on the history and language of, y. 7.
- Teutonic and Celtic languages, on their resemblance to the Latin, iii. 117.
- Th, pronounced like the English by the Icelanders, xv. 296.
- Thales, on the time in which he lived, vi. 10.
- Thamyris mentioned, as one of the earliest of the Grecian Poets, ix. 363.
- Theatre, essay on the costume of the, vii. 60.
- Theban women, at all times celebrated for their beauty, xvii. 348.
- Thebes, considered as a well-regulated State, from a passage in Sophocl. Œdip. Colon., xv. 299.
- Themistius, a MS. of, mentioned, xi. 92.
- Themistocles, remarks on Plutarch's life of, xvii. 102.

- Themius, the name of Homer's schoolmaster, xi. 230.
- Theocritus, praise of, iv. 180. A passage in, compared with one in Virgil, v. 179. MS. of, mentioned, xi. 92. Bentley's Emendations of, xiii. 248. Remarks on his particular genius, xvii. 74. xviii. 35.. Whether he imitated, in his Idyllia, the Song of Solomon, 30. His exquisite taste, 38. On the character of the Shepherds of his Idyllia, 285. Harmony of his versification, 293. His humour of moralising, 286. His observance of the slighter shades of nature, 280. Often pathetic and sublime, 288. Objections against, refuted, 292. Peculiar felicity of his language, 294. His frequent use of proverbs, 288. Remarks of M. Gail on a passage of, xix. 351. The subjects of his Idyllia arranged, xx. 124. Analysis of them, 125.
- Theognis, criticism on a passage of, by Mr. Barker, xv. 220. xvi. 217, 224.
- Theogony, the heathen, attempts made to explain it by the Mosaic Records, xviii. 325.
- Theological studies assisted by classical learning, vi. 225. xviii. 320.
- Theologies, ancient, remarkable coincidence between the various, xiv. 165. xvii. 263.
- Theology, remarks on the origin of the heathen, ix. 216. Uniformity of doctrine prevailing in the ancient, xvii. 263.
- Theophilus Sincerus quoted, in an historical account of the Vulgate Bible of 1450, iv. 475.
- Theophrastus, on the probability that he drew the characters of several of his cotemporaries in his description of virtues and vices, xi. 232. MS. of, noticed, 92.
- Theophylact Asonas, enquiry relative to, vii. 319. Mr. Barker's reply to viii. 90.
- Theophylus Indus, anecdotes of, vii. 382.
- Thersites, probably drawn by Homer from an individual character, xi. 230.
- 'Thesaurus criticus novus,' critical notice of, viii. 351.
- Thesaurus, Stephens,' materials for the improvement of the new edition of, x. 198, 413.
- Theseus, treacherously murdered by Lyeomedes, xiv. 48.
- Thesis, in versification, Terentianus Maurus on, iii. 42. On the, adopted by Homer, ix. 375.
- Thesmophoriazusæ of Aristophanes, remarks on the, i. 499. Bentley's emendations of, xiv. 130.
- Thessalians, the, noted in ancient times for their perfidy, xi. 8.
- Theurgists, Chaldean oracles delivered by the, xvii. 248.
- Thiersch, Professor, of Gottingen, his grammatical publication men-

- tioned, iv. 146. His Greek Epitaph on Heyne, x. 174. Latin and Greek verses by, 339, 341.
- Thina, the China of the Classics under the appellation of, iii. 295.
- 'Thorns,' in the English version of the New Testament, an incorrect translation of the Greek ἀκάνθαι, ix. 137.
- Thoth, an Egyptian deity, ix. 218. The inventor of several sciences, xvi. 150.
- Thou, Du, Letter from Grotius to, i. 770. On his controversial writings, ib.
- Thoughts on the perusal of Wrangham's Sermon 'on the best method of translating the Christian Scriptures into the Eastern languages,' iv. 438.
- Thracians, in antiquity, were a mingled nation, xii. 388.
- Thrale, H., Latin epitaph on, viii. 139.
- Thrale, Mrs., remarks on Johnson's epitaph on, xii. 6.
- 'Through,' on the etymology of the word, x. 123.
- Thucydides quoted to illustrate the meaning of τῶν ὑπαρχόντων, iii. 151. In opposition with Plutarch, xvii. 113. His coincidence with Sophocles, 348.
- Thysius, observation of, on the supposed asinine worship of the ancient Jews, iv. 49.
- Tibboo language, iv. 351. Ten Numerals of the, 119.
- Tiberius Rhetor, critical notice of Boissonade's edition of, xii. 198.
- Tibullus, Vossius, edition of, critical notice of, xi. 369. Emendation of Eleg. 1st, vers. 28, ix. 590. The fascinating powers of his poetry, 346.
- Tiefenau, M. Gœldlin de, his history of the ancient constitution of Switzerland noticed, vi. 318.
- Tigris, various names of the river, xvii. 5.
- Tilloch, Mr., munificence of, to Dr. Hager, i. 57.
- Timmanee language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 119.
- Timocreon, his poetical, gastronomic and pugilistic abilities, xv. 314. Translation from, 313. Epitaph on, 315.
- 1 Timothy ch. 3d, vs. 16. observations on, xii. 247.
- Timour, March of, ix. 457. Farther notice of it, 459.
- Tippoo Saib, parallel between and Darius, xviii. 236. His innovations in the names of cycles and years, &c., compared to those of the French democracy, and paralleled by those of Clisthenes of Sicily, and of some of the Roman emperors, ib.
- Tiro on a passage in Virgil, Æn. iii. 340, vii. 82.
- Tittman's vindication of Ernesti from Wyttenbach, xi. 124, 222.
- 'Titus Hierosolymam expugnans,' Prize Poem, xviii. 96.
- Tocat, description of the city of, in Salvatori's Journey to Persia, ix. 635.

- Foghrai Carmen, mentioned among Weston's fragments of Oriental Literature, x. 293.
- Tomb of Ilus, on the site of the, in an 'Examination of certain opinions respecting the Troad,' xvi. 68.
- Tomline, Mr., his Cambridge Greek Prize ode, characterized by perspicuity, iv. 123.
- Tone and Rhythm, both comprehended in the Term Prosody, xi. 73.
- Tongue Language, ten numerals of the, iv. 113.
- Tooke, Horne, quoted on the comparative affinity of the Latin to the Teutonic and Celtic Languages, iii. 117, 119. His Theories of Languages not always defensible, 124. His opinions combated, 408. Prices at the public Sale of his books, vii. 283. His Theory of Language denied to be of universal application, xii. 432. His ἱστορία πρὸς τὴν γλῶσσαν noticed as constituting an æra in the history of Philology, ix. 121.
- Tooke, the Rev. Wm. cited as an eminent Linguist in illustration of remarks on the chart of ten numerals in two hundred Languages, iv. 248, 334, 336.
- Topography, Bibliographical, xi. 326.
- Torches used in the Eleusinian mysteries, and in the sacrifices to Proserpine, xiv. 40.
- Torre's Winchester Prize Poem, viii. 387.
- Tostatus, his assertion noticed, that the Teraphim of the Hebrews were heads of Images used by Astrologers, v. 31.
- Toup, his Criticism on a passage of the Epist. to the Corinthians noticed, i. 100. Remarks on the word ἀρχαιολογία as used by Longinus, 822. His Emendations of Suidas quoted, iii. 145. Remarks on his criticism on the Homeric word τάπη, iv. 83. A note of Markland on him adduced, xvii. 458.
- Townley's, Mr., Collection of Gems mentioned, iv. 164.
- Townleianus lapis, xvii. 388.
- Townsend's Cambridge Prize English Poem, xvi. 167.
- Townsend, Rev. George, Faber's and Bryant's Hypotheses respecting the Prophecies reconciled, xix. 65. Critical notice and commendation of his 'Œdipus Romanus,' 323.
- Tragicorum Græcorum in Carmina Monostrophica Commentarius, vii. 167, 369. viii. 120.
- Tragœdiarum, oratio de constitutione, Boxhornii, ix. 9.
- , oratio de lectione, D. Heinsii, xii. 340.
- Traité des airs et des eaux d'Hippocrate, xvii. 458.
- Transcript of Mr. Brunck, of an ancient Soros in Mr. Townley's Collection, i. 560.
- Translation, New, of obscure Passages of the Bible, iv. 1. Incorrect of many passages in the Bible pointed out, xiii. 227. Specimen of a new Translation of the Bible and remarks on it, xvii. 221. xviii. 209.

- Opinions of various authors in favor of one, 211. The present English, at variance with the Hebrew and the Septuagint, 221. The necessity of it, xix. 257.
- Translations from the Greek into German, summary account of, iv. 147.
 ——— from the Greek and Latin Classics, project for a history of, vi. 201. Disadvantages of reading an author in a translated dress, 225.
- Translation of Arrian's Periplus, controversy on the, xv. 317.
- Transmigration of Souls, remarks on the Pagan notion of the, xviii. 60.
- Travels in Turkey, critical notice of, i. 221. In Persia, by Dourri Effendi, 414. 'Of two Mahometans,' on the authenticity of, x. 332.
- Tre, in the Cornish dialect, signifies a house, xvii. 450.
- Tressling's 'Adversariorum criticorum specimen,' notice of, viii. 389.
- Treuttel and Wurtz, Booksellers, address of, iii. 241.
- Trial by Ordeal, supposed to be derived from the ancients, xv. 369. Account of the proceedings in the, 370.
- Tribrach, the foot, never admitted by Homer, ix. 377. Its characteristic, colloquial without grandeur, xi. 123.
- Tricoupi, S., 'God save the King' translated into Greek metrical Lines by, xviii. 255.
- Trinities, on Pagan, in four letters from Mr. Barker to the Rev. Mr. Maurice, iii. 195. iv. 89, 484. v. 240.
- Trinity, arguments from Scripture to support the doctrine of the, iii. 462.
- Tripods, on the antiquity of, by Dr. Hager, i. 182.
- Tripodes, summary account of Cambridge, xix. 131. Essay on, xiii. 83.
- Tripod Papers, Cambridge, Cambridge Characters, v. 412. Downing College, ix. 504. By Marmaduke Lawson, 507. Glossary to the last, 513. Insania, xi. 171. Ma-l, 338. Art of building, 340. On Tripodes, xiii. 85. For 1816, xiv. 162. By Littlehales for 1789, xv. 84. Mathematicians, 86. Ægyptus, xvi. 381. Mola Juventutis Restauratrix, xvii. 210. Sophs' Exercises, 240. On Beddoes' factitious air applied to Consumptions, xviii. 165. Skaiting, xix. 132. The White Bear Tavern, 134.
- Friethemius on the Origin of Printing, quoted, iv. 472.
- 'Tristia,' character of Ovid's work, xii. 88.
- Troad, The, Essays relative to the Controversy respecting, xv. 325. xvi. 57. xviii. 143. An accurate survey of it still wanting, 144.
- Troades of Euripides, remarks on Mr. Burges's Edition of the, i. 314. Illustration of a passage in the, v. 202.
- Trochee, the foot in Prosody softer and more ignoble than the Iamb, xi. 123.
- Trochi et Turbinis, de Ludo, v. 73.
- Troilus, loved by Achilles, and slain in consequence of his Insensibility, xiii. 27.

Trojan Cause, general bias of Homer's readers to the, ix. 626. Controversy, Leake's Remarks on, xviii. 141. War, was it a real or a fictitious event? 144.

Tropic, The, Smoke the symbolic Hieroglyphic of, xvi. 317.

Troy, on the Existence of, v. 14. Mr. Bryant's opinions, that the whole tale is fictitious, approved and established, 18. These hypotheses controverted by the testimonies of various travellers, vi. 25. The Iliad considered by the ancients as a history of unquestionable veracity, vii. 109. Remarks on Major Rennell's observations on the topography of the plain of, ix. 605. Remarks on the situation of, xv. 333. On its naval station, 336. Its Rampart, 340. Its Rivers, xvi. 57. In its plain the Barrows of the Troad, 67. The Tomb of Ilus, 68.

Tryphiodorus, a Greek Poet of the 6th Century, ix. 527. Quoted, x. 159.

Tscherkassian and Osses Language, iv. 348. Ten numerals of the, 109. Tumuli of the Heroes of Troy, ix. 626.

Turkey and Sicily, two annual Harvests in, ix. 335.

Turkish Language, Ten numerals of the, iv. 112.

Turner's, Capt., Travels quoted to illustrate a passage in Job, iii. 142.

His reception, in his Embassy to Tibet, on a visit to Soopoon Choomboo, 320.

Turton, Dr., of Swansea, Gold Medal presented by, for the best Latin Poem, ix. 102. The Prize Latin Poem, 'Mors Nelsoni,' ib.

Tweddell, his Prize Greek Ode distinguished by an exquisite union of the Phrase of Greek, with English poesy, iv. 123. Greek Epitaph on, by Mr. Walpole, x. 171. Enquiry as to the meaning of one of his Greek Epigrams, xiii. 49. Example of his Greek prose writing, 187. His Greek verses, addressed to his master, the Rev. Matthew Raine, xv. 180. Answer to the Enquiry relative to his Greek Epigram, 308.

Twelve Tables, dissertation on the Laws of the, contained in a review of Dr. Valpy's Sermons, iv. 504.

Twynne's Essay on the origin of Degrees in Universities, i. 838.

Tyas, Cambridge Prize Greek Ode, vi. 353.

Tychius, probably drawn by Homer from an individual, xi. 230.

Tycho Brahé, error of, noticed, xvii. 29.

Tychsen, M., of Rostock, his History of the Jewish records in China noticed, v. 4.

Tyrian inscription, observations on the, vi. 191. vii. 147, 276.

Tyrsheni, observations on the Laws of the, i. 527.

Tyrwhitt, Thomas, summary account of, vi. 45. Quoted, on the Ictus in Latin Prosody, xv. 99.

Tytler's observations on Strada's Philomela, xvii. 181.

Tzetzen, Notæ in, ex Epist. Critic. J. Ad. Nodell ad C. G. Hayne, x. 156.

Tzschucke, M., notice of his Edition of Mela, v. 13.

Θάλασσα, applied by Homer to the Ægean Sea, ix. 373.

Θηρίον, xiv. 281.

Θράκη, et τὰ ἐν τῇ Θράκῃ, xii. 217.

Θράκη, ἡ, xiii. 410.

Τάπειπτα, pro τὰ ἐπειπτα primam syllabam producit, ut τὰμὰ, τὰδικὰ, xii. 160.

Τάρως, xiii. 164.

Τέλειος, xii. 115.

Τι, canon respecting the Enclitic, ix. 64. On Adverbs ending in, xi. 246.

Τι μαθόν, τι παθόν, examen de ces formules, xviii. 136.

Τυδείδης, Dawes' canon with respect to the Homeric use of the word, ix. 345.

τῶν, used for ὧν, ix. 55.

U.

Ucalegon, on the ancient Greek Epigram, xv. 212.

Uffenbach's testimony on the Vulgate Bible of 1450 adduced, iv. 474.

Uirets Ælets Æleuth, Ten numerals of the Language, iv. 113.

Ulphilas, Bishop, discovery of a MS. of, in the Ambrosian Library at Milan, xix. 373.

Ulysses, a mistake of M. Brent respecting, corrected, vii. 49. Death of by the hand of his son Pelegonus, xiv. 21. Made a treaty with Æneas, 45.

Umbra, on the metaphorical use of the word, ix. 245.

Uniformity of nature in our climate proved, vi. 300.

Unitarians, on their history and their doctrines, lii. 462.

Unity poetical, requisites for the observance of, xiv. 371.

Universities, on the origin of degrees given at, i. 824. On the qualifications requisite for admission to the, ix. 525. Mad. de Staël's high compliment to the English, 592. Account of the different systems of studies pursued at the, xvi. 1, 3, 180.

University honors, how obtained, vi. 305.

University at Durham, which was once intended to have been founded there, an account of the, xiii. 82.

Upsilon, on the pronunciation of the Greek, by the Modern Greeks, i. 97.

Urbanus the VIIIth, dialogue on his Installation, xii. 456.
 Ursa Major, observations on the Star  $\epsilon$  in the Constellation, vi. 10.
 Usher, Bishop, where educated, ix. 4.
 Usurpation, that succeeded to the reign of Darius, omitted entirely by Mitford in his Grecian History, xv. 300.
 'Ut,' on the difference between 'quod' and, vi. 57.

'Υπερ, doctrine inexacte de Valkenaer sur, xviii. 138. Used with an accusative, x. 100.
 'Υπερ, peculiar usage of, x. 165. Remarques sur le vrai sens de, xviii. 138.
 'Υποθήκη, προφήτης, xii. 123.
 'Υποχρέωσις, meaning of, xviii. 138.
 'Υποχρεώσεις, etymology of, ix. 128.

V.

Valart's Emendations of Horace, xvii. 19.
 Valckenaërii, annotationes in Xenophontis Memorabilia, No. I. iii. 444.
 No. II. iv. 129. Oratio de moribus Atheniensium, vi. 359.
 Valckenaër, corrected, viii. 286.
 'Vale,' Latin verses by Joy, vii. 414.
 'Vale of Tempe,' an erroneous appellation, xiii. 179.
 Valentia, Lord, an Inscription found at Axum by, i. 83. at Damietta, 151,
 Valentine's Day, Latin verses on, vi. 394.
 Valerius Maximus quoted, in illustration of remarks on the respect paid to Old Age by the ancients, iii. 145. An observation of, on the same subject, 328.
 Valerius Flaccus quoted, to illustrate the meaning of λαμπρῆς, xv. 38.
 'Valetudo,' on the meaning and use of the word, x. 397.
 Valhallo, the Paradise of Odin, description of its delights, x. 256.
 Vallancey, Col., on the ancient Irish worship of Bacchus, iii. 179. On the affinity of the Irish and Punic Languages, iv. 265. On the origin of the Irish and their Language, 328.
 Valpy's, Dr., Sermons, critical notice of, iv. 503. Commendation of his Latin and Greek Grammars, 338. His elucidation of the use of the Æolian digamma noticed, vi. 384.
 Van Ess, German Translation of the New Testament by, critical notice of, xiv. 328.
 Vanity, distinct from Pride, vi. 254.
 Variorum Horace, the Review of it, extracted from 'the British Critic,' of January, 1794, v. 164, 336. vi. 97, 279.

- Varrerius quoted, in observations on literary forgeries, xvi. 142.
- Vasari's valuable work on ancient and modern sculpture referred to, iv. 26.
- Vater, Professor, of Halle. His Hebrew Grammar, and Grammars of Oriental languages noticed, iv. 151. His observations on the Pentateuch, v. 2.
- Vau, opinion of Dawes on the Ionic, ix. 366. It disappeared before the time of Homer, 367.
- Vauvilliers, M. de, his remarks on an ancient MS. of Æschylus' Persæ preserved in the Royal Library at Paris, i. 57.
- Velleius Paterculus corrected, xii. 203.
- 'Venaavah,' the Hebrew explanation of, xv. 195.
- 'Ventorum præsagia diversa,' xviii. 22.
- Venus de Medicis, Statue of, mentioned, iv. 146.
- Venus, remarks relating to the worship of, ix. 282. Called Zerinthian, from a cavern in Thrace, xiv. 3. In his engraving of her, Bartolozzi seems to have had his eye upon a Greek epigram in the Anthology, xii. 262.
- Verb, on the peculiarities of the English, i. 773. iii. 1.
- Verbeianus, a translation into English of an old Greek Scolium of Timocreon by, xv. 313.
- Verbis, de, Græcorum, i. 151.
- Verbs, on the connexion between, and Substantives, ix. 124.
- Verses, extemporary Latin, v. 144.
- Verses, in writing and reading, motives for the ancient use of, xi. 269.
- Versification of Homer, remarks on the, ix. 361.
- , Imitative, essays on the nature of, xi. 119. xii. 329. xiii. 273. Ancient, remarks on, xv. 96.
- Version, observations on the English, of the Old Testament, i. 872. iii. 166. iv. 63.
- , Syriac, remarks on Dr. Holmes' Preface to the, vii. 196. Critical notice of the Collation of the, xii. 124.
- Veretegan's derivation of the English 'Lord' and 'Lady,' v. 313.
- 'Vespæ' of Aristophanes, remarks on, by Seager, i. 713. Bentley's emendations to, xiii. 133.
- 'Vesperam, ad,' Latin verses, v. 224.
- Vest, on Christ's, iii. 358.
- Vesta, essays on the ancient worship of the goddess, xv. 123, 257. xvi. 321.
- Vestal Virgins in ancient Rome, their number, xv. 258. Qualification for their admission into the office, 259. Laws concerning them, 260. Their privileges, 261. Their religious duties, 263. Their period of - holy servitude, 265. Honors adjudged to them, 267. xvi. 322. Their offences and punishments, 325.

- Vesuvius, ancient traditions of its eruptions, vii. 47.
- Victorinus quoted, on the meaning of 'percussio,' used by Latin writers on Prosody, iii. 45.
- Vida's violation of Terentianus Maurus's Metrical Canon, instances of, i. 283.
- Viger quoted, on the use of ἡν ἀπαρχήντων, iii. 150.
- Viglius, Latin epitaph upon, xv. 367.
- Villers, Charles M., account of the present literary state of Germany in a Report drawn up for the French Institute by, iii. 348. iv. 139. v. 1. vi. 313.
- Villars, Marshal, Epigram on his title of Hector, ix. 593.
- Villoison, M. de, his additions to the Recherches sur les Mystères du Paganisme, referred to, xv. 122.
- 'Vincii Laudes,' iv. 187.
- Vincent's, Dr., Comment upon the Adulitic Inscription commended, i. 85. Corrections and additional remarks to his work on Ancient Commerce, 'Periplus of the Erythrean Sea,' iii. 60. His translation of the Periplus referred to, and commended, 298, 304. iv. 249, 271. A note on Longinus communicated by him to Mr. Barker, v. 41. Mr. Barker's correspondence with him, vi. 206. Observations on his 'China of the Classics,' vii. 32. His anecdotes of Theophilus collected from Philostorgius, 382. Observations on the Geography of Susiana, ix. 449. Vindication of public schools, 5. An error in the translation of the Periplus rectified, x. 323. Heyne's Epistle to, xi. 169. Latin Hexameters addressed to Warren Hastings, xiii. 177. His Life, 221. xiv. 190. His epitaph, xvi. 200.
- Vindication of M. Clavier, xv. 384. Of Dr. Vincent's translation of the Periplus of Arrian, 317. Of Dr. Lemprière as Master of Exeter School, xix. 192.
- Vindiciæ Antiquæ, xvi. 6, 288. xvii. 114, 330. xviii. 67.
- Virgil, emendations and illustrations of, iii. 48, 473. v. 107. vi. 386. vii. 82. x. 57, 387. xi. 364. xv. 124. Observations on his 4th Eclogue, v. 55. Fond of mathematics and the science of Nativities, 56. His Georgics, when first published, vi. 119. Observations on a passage in his 8th Eclogue, v. 179. Vindication of, viii. 106. Conjectural criticism on a passage in his 3rd Georg., x. 391. Observations on his Eclogues, 309. On supposed interpolations in, 310. His style unites ease with poetical dignity, xi. 238. Imitation of Homer, xii. 262. Not cited by Dionysius Halicarnassensis, 338. Comment upon his descriptions of the morning, xviii. 234. Compared with Statius, 238. Contrasted with Ovid, ib. Notice of a remarkable contradictory statement in, xix. 325.

Virgilianus Codex Romānus, its prints published by Langlès, xvii. 182.

Virgin Mary, on the early idolatrous worship of the, ix. 389.

Visconti, critical notice of Iconographie Ancienne, by, vii. 209. His opinion of some of the Elgin marbles, xiv. 99.

Vitruvius, his excellence as an architect, iiz. 219.

Vocatives, Latin, accented on a short penultima, xi. 78.

Vocum de conjunctione et disjunctione, v. 367.

Vodhena, Inscription on a Soros at, xiii. 334.

Volborth's Chrestomathia, critical notice of, xi. 23.

Voltaire, his 'Taureau Blanc' adduced, as an instance of the impropriety of taking all Scripture facts in their literal sense, iii. 499. Anecdote of, on a representation of his Œdipe, ix. 40. Literary petulance of, 173. On a singular line in his Nanine, 589.

Vossius, John Gerard, de tribus Symbolis, i. 194. His German translations of some of the principal classics, high character of, iii. 147. Inquiry relative to his critical character, x. 199. Critical notice of his edition of Tibullus and Lygdamus, xi. 369. His remarks on the 'Nubes' of Aristophanes, xiv. 276. His Epistle to Salmasius, xvii. 376.

Votum Senile, Latin verses, v. 333.

Vowels, in Latin Prosody, short before sc, sp, &c., ix. 341. Remarks on Greek long, 372. Hebrew, distinct from the letters of the alphabet, 395. Essential to every language, 398. Their quantity in Latin words as connected with accent, position and derivation, xi. 80. Final short before sp, &c., xii. 10.

Vulcan, the same as the Egyptian Phtha, x. 78.

Vulgate, Greek, of 1450-1455, critical and historical observations on the, iv. 471.

'Vulpium Combustio,' a Roman festival, time of its celebration, vi. 325. illustrating one of the acts of Sampson recorded in Scripture, ib.

W.

Waddington, G., Cambridge Prize Latin Ode, iv. 57.

———, Hor., Cambridge Prize Greek Ode, xx. 97. His translation of a passage from Shakespeare's Coriolanus for Porson's Prize, 104.

Wagner, M., Professor at the Caroline College of Brunswick, his publications on Greek Literature, iv. 146. His historical works, v. 10. Quoted, xv. 290.

Wahabis, account of the, viii. 280. Their formidable hostilities with the Ottoman Government, 234. Their chief slain by a Persian, 235. Their respect for the English, ib.

Wait, D. G., observations on Mr. Patrick's 'Chart of Numerals,' vi. 218. His specimen of Persian poetry, vi. 44, 294. Parallel between the Latin, Greek, and Sanscrit languages, 375. On Persian poetry, vii. 196. On the origin of the Druids, 172. viii. 225. xi. 1. On the name of Zoroaster, vii. 220. On the similarity of worship among the different nations of the Pagan world, xiii. 410. xiv. 350. xv. 88. xvi. 205. xviii. 52.

Wainwright, Rev. L., 'the literary and scientific pursuits, which are encouraged and enforced in the University of Cambridge, briefly described, and vindicated, xvi. 1.

Wakefield; Gilbert, on his acceptance of the word ἄγγελος, i. 100. His correct and ingenious translation of, ix. 3. Romans, 112. On his promised division of the Latin language into two dialects, Greek and Teutonic, iii. 120. His translation of the New Testament referred to, 197. Spoken of as a high authority in Biblical criticisms, 287. His incorrect conception of the first lines of Homer's Iliad, 315. High character of, as an amiable and accomplished scholar, v. 338. His commendation of Dr. Ashton, ib. Remarks upon his character as an Editor of Greek Tragedies, viii. 204. His inscription on a blank leaf of his edition of Bion and Moschus, x. 342. Error in the Latinity of a passage in the preface to his Bion and Moschus, 64. Extracts from his correspondence with Mr. Fox, xi. 187. Remarks on his Cambridge Tripos, xiii. 84.

Walckenaër, on ancient geography, xvi. 267. He coincides with Tyrwhitt, in a correction of Callimachus, xvii. 11. His Collection of all the editions of Ptolemy, 320.

Wales, Prince of, Latin Eclogue on his marriage, xiv. 248.

—— New South, language of, iv. 349.

Walker's, Will. Sidn. Translation into Greek Iambics of a passage in Shakespeare's Henry VIII., for the Porsonian Prize at Cambridge, xviii. 196.

'Wallace,' a Cambridge Prize Poem, English, xii. 145.

Wallis, Dr. on the degrees of comparison of adjectives, i. 225. His 'Grammatica Anglicana,' quoted, 776, 781. His limitation of the number of tenses in the English verb, 793. Again quoted on an English grammatical question, iii. 2. On his 'wonderful' powers of abstraction and intellectual retention, xi. 179. On the meaning of ἀγάρ in Ancient Music, xv. 146.

Walpole, where educated, ix. 4.

Walsingham, where educated, ix. 5.

Walpole, Mr., his dissertations in the Herculanensia, noticed and com-

- mended, i. 546. His Greek Epitaph on Tweddle, x. 171. Inscriptions copied by, iv. 87, 456.
- Walton's Polyglott, dedication of it to Charles II., iv. 355. Omission in his account of the Samaritan Version of the Old Testament, iii. 166. Observations on his Polyglott, 240.
- Wanley's observations on 'the Aquarius' of the ancients, xii. 453.
- Ward, Professor, his letter to M. Sallier, v. 369. To M. Stœber, 393.
- Warton, in his Latin Verses, instances of his violation of the metrical canon of Terentianus Maurus, i. 298. His letter to Merrick on Greek Indexes, xx. 247.
- 's, Mr., error respecting the decline of the Roman fine arts, xi. 362.
- Anachronism of, 364.
- Washitah language, iv. 349. Ten Numerals of the, 411.
- Wasse, his historical account of the Latin Schollasts, i. 452.
- Watch, anecdotes relating to a, x. 170.
- Water the first work of the Deity, in the opinion of the ancients, x. 228.
- Watson, Bishop of Landaff, quotation from his apology for the Bible, illustrating a fact recorded in Genesis, iv. 18.
- Watts's, Dr., 'Improvement of the mind' quoted, i. 785. iii. 6. Uses of huic and cui as dissyllables, xviii. 238.
- Watts's observations on Mr. Patrick's Chart of Numerals, vi. 218.
- Waygiou language, Ten Numerals of the, iv. 111.
- Weber, M., of Winnenden in Suabia, author of some valuable Biblical works, v. 6, 8.
- Wedekind's, M., modern historical works alluded to, vi. 313.
- Weiske, M., of Saxony, author of some Grammatical works, iv. 146. Remarks on the orations 'pro Ligario,' et 'pro Marcello,' xvii. 137.
- Wellesley, the Marquis, where educated, ix. 5.
- 'Wellingtonus, Regionem Gallicam, Pyrenæis subjectam montibus, despiciens,' Greek Ode, x. 80.
- Welsh College, plan of the Bishop of St. David's for the foundation of, noticed, i. 184.
- Welsh language, remarks on the, iv. 107. Its affinity to the Biscayan, 267. Ten Numerals of it, 348. Its connexion with the Celtic and Cornish, xvii. 446.
- Welsh Poem, 'Gwawd Lludd y Mawry' xiii. 420.
- Wesseling's Edit. of Diodori Siculi Bibliothecæ Historicæ Libri, critical notice of, ix. 471.
- Westminster Prologues and Epilogues to Terence's Plays, as they are performed at the School, i. 11, 13. v. 157. vii. 52. xi. 16. xiii. 119. xv. 158. xx. 383.
- Weston, S., conjectura in Tacitum, ix. 162. Emendation of Eurip. Phœnissæ, v. 336. x. 99. On the conformity of the Greek, Sanscrit, and - Latin Languages, ix. 219. x. 291, 317. Conjectural criticism on Virgil, 292. Account of Oriental Literature, 293, 317.

- Wette, M. de, of Heidelberg, author of some remarkable biblical works, v. 3.
- Whateley, Richard, Oxford Prize English Essay by, i. 439.
- , Solomon, Author of 'An Answer to a late Book written against Dr. Bentley,' ix. 173.
- Wheelwright, notice of his Poems, and extracts from them, i. 676.
- Whewell's Cambridge Prize English Poem, x. 87.
- Whitbread, Mr., where educated, ix. 5.
- Whitby, the commentator on Scripture, his application of the word ἄγγελος, i. 100. His explanation of ἀνέθιμς in Romans ixth, v. 3rd, v. 114.
- White's, Mr., Classical addition to the Grammatical structure of the English verb noticed, i. 776.
- Whitelocke, the Republican, where educated, ix. 4.
- Wilford, Capt., his Essay on the White Islands, quoted by Dr. Vincent in his remarks on ancient Commerce, iii. 62. A reference to his papers in the Asiatic researches, 176, 247. His account of the China of the Classics, 302. Singular imposition practised upon him by a learned Hindoo, 432. On the origin of the Grecian Mythological fable of Prometheus, iv. 221. Quoted, upon Eastern Languages, 333.
- Wilken, Professor in the University of Heidelberg, author of an historical work on the Crusades, and Grammars of the Oriental Languages, iv. 150. vi. 315.
- Wilkins' Coptic Pentateuch referred to, on the word P'hont, iv. 407. His observation on the Coptic version of the Bible, 416.
- Wilkinson, Franciscus, Latin Inscription on, vii. 141.
- Willett, Ralph, Esq., Prices of the most remarkable Books at his sale, xii. 473.
- Wilson's Translation of the 'Megha Duta,' Persian Poem, critical notice of, xii. 432.
- Wilsoni, Joh. S. T. P., ex Testamento, oratio habita in Sacello Trin. Coll. Cantab., a Gulielmo Maskelyne, xii. 241.
- Winckleman, M., a learned German, his Archæological Researches highly commended, v. 9.
- Windham, Mr., where educated, ix. 5.
- Wine, observation of a physician to Alexander on the use of, xi. 176.
- Wintle, his New Translation of the Book of Daniel, quoted, iv. 6.
- Withofius and Bentley coincide in their Critical remarks, xvii. 10.
- Witnesses, on the three, in the first Epistle of St. John, i. 869. iii. 226.
- Witsius, his Dissertation on a passage in the Epistle to the Romans referred to, i. 113.

- Woide's Coptic Lexicon, Extract from, iv. 370.
- Wolf, M., of Munich, an historical work by, noticed, vi. 315.
- Wolfe, Painting of the Death of General, iii. 327.
- Wolffius, on the meaning of τὴν ἐναγχιότητα, iii. 150. Observation on a passage in Demosthenes, 154. Alluded to, as the Editor of Homer, iv. 139. De quatuor orationibus Ciceronis, xvii. 150, 394. xviii. 113, 241. xix. 55.
- Wolffii Analecta Græca, xviii. 294, 344.
- Wollaston, the Chymical Professor, commendation of, iv. 187.
- , his moral system discussed, ix. 79. Coincidence between him and Pope, xiii. 168.
- Wolsey, Cardinal, where educated, ix. 5.
- Woltmann, M., Becker's Historical work continued by, noticed, vi. 313.
- Words, memoir on the Etymology of certain, expressive of the moral affections, ix. 126. Use of common, enfeebles Composition, xii. 333.
- World, the Chinese, by the Rev. R. Patrick, iii. 16.
- , on the ancient opinions relative to the boundaries of the, ix. 133. The eternity of the; maintained by the ancient Zabbii, xiii. 286.
- Worship of Jews and Christians, on the Calumny of Tacitus relative to the, iv. 48.
- Worship, on the similarity of, among the different nations of the Pagan world, xiii. 410. xiv. 350. xv. 88. xvi. 205. xviii. 52.
- Wrangham, Franciscus, 'ad Bruntonam e Grantâ exituram,' Hendecasyllabi, i. 183.
- Wrangham, Rev. Francis, 'thoughts on the perusal of the Sermon of the, iv. 439. 'Stasileii notæ quædam in Callimachum,' xvi. 164. List of European words derived from the Persian, xi. 343.
- Wren, Bishop, Eulogy of Bishop Pearson on, xvii. 164.
- Wright, Walter, Extract from his 'Horæ Ionicæ' on the Modern Greek Language, vii. 377.
- Writing, advantages of a Good Style of, vi. 246.
- Wunderlich, M., of Gottingen, Editor of Tibullus, and author of Notes on Æschylus, iv. 141.
- Wurdswain, quoted in the historical account of the Vulgate Bible of 1450, iv. 479.
- Wytténbach, refutation of the Charges of, against Ernesti, xi. 124, 229. His modern historical works noticed, vi. 349.

X.

Xenophon, his Cyrôpædia quoted, in illustration of remarks on the respect paid to old age by the ancients, iii. 144. His Œconomica cited

- on the same subject, 148. Quoted in illustration of Remarks on the Demon of Socrates, xvi. 167.
 Xenophon, Œuvres complètes de, Grec-Latin-François, annoncé, par
 M. Gail, xv. 175.
 Xenophontis, in Memorabilia, animadversiones Davidis Ruhnkenii, iii.
 444. et L. C. Valckenaerii, iv. 129.
 Xenophontis Œconomicus, critical notice of Kuster's Edition of, vii. 403.
 Xerxes, bridge of, over the Hellespont, xvii. 105.

Y.

- Yakuts Language, Ten numerals of the, iv. 113.
 Yatana, a Chinese bird, answering to the Phoenix, xvi. 90.
 Yereekayike, meaning of the word, xvi. 201.
 Yezidis, an account of a Persian sect of that name, vii. 143.
 Young, Patrick, letter to, from Hearne's diaries, v. 125.
 Young, the Poet, coincidence between, and Bacon, xiii. 166.
 Youth, a person's merits enhanced in consideration of, v. 379.
 Yuche Stone, i. 178.
 Yukagir Language, iv. 349. Ten numerals of the, 113.

Z.

- Zabianism, traces of, among the Hindoos, Chinese, and other Eastern nations, xiii. 289.
 Zabii, account of the ancient, xiii. 284. Worshippers of fire, 284. Pre-adamites, 286.
 Zachariah, passages in the 7th and 9th Chapters of his prophecies referred to, i. 149, 150.
 Zechetschen, Ten numerals of the Language, iv. 109.
 Zeland, New, Language of, iv. 349.
 Zell, Ulric, testimony of, in favor of the vulgate Bible of 1450—1455, iv.
 472.
 Zeno, the philosopher, his doctrines favorable to the interests of Society,
 vi. 83.
 Zeune, M., his Edition of the Grecian Antiquities of Lambert Bos noticed, v. 10.
 Zimmerman, Ernest, of Frankfort, notice of his Edition of Euripides, iv.
 142.
 Zodiack, the signs of the, painted upon the banners of Israel, iii. 289.
 Zoppo de Gangi, mentioned, as an eminent Sicilian artist, v. 26.

- *Zoroaster, questions and doubts respecting, vii. 220. Probably not an individual character, 223. A Collection of the oracles of, xvi. 338 xvii. 129, 243. Peculiarities of his doctrines noticed, xvii. 128. An account of some of his philosophical opinions, xvii. 129, 243.
- Zurck, of Haarlem, quoted on the use of the word Britanniarum, i. 193.
- Z, the Greek, how pronounced, xvii. 207.

A D D E N D A.

- Ælian, xiii. 445, &c. xiv. 289, &c. xv. 173, 359, &c. xviii. 139.
- Æschines, xii. 202.
- Æschylus i. 27, 57. ii. 649, 801. iii. 76, 183, 277, 288, 414. iv. 154. v. 20, 37, 303, &c. 362. vi. 221, 343. vii. 141, 168, 169, 369. vii. 454. 457. viii. 17, 181, 347, 393, 400. xi. 64, 215, 243. xii. 348. xvii. 31.
- Alceus, viii. 395.
- Alexis, xii. 440.
- Alpheus, Inscription in the, i. 329.
- Ammonius de Diff. Voc. iv. 387.
- Anaxilas, xii. 450.
- Andocides, v. 363.
- Antiphanes, xii. 440.
- Antipho v. 367.
- Antoninus Liberalis, vii. 285.
- Apollodorus, xi. 179. xii. 448.
- Apollonius Rhodius, xiii. 391. xviii. 370.
- Aratus, xviii. 236.
- Arcadius Grammaticus, xv. 312.
- Archilochus, xv. 216.
- Aristænetus, v. 367. ix. 599.
- Aristides, v. 205, 361.
- Aristophanis Scholiast. xvii. 454.
- Aristophanes, ii. 499, 704. v. 137. vi. 74, 222. vii. 95, &c. xi. 133, 348. xii. 104, 352, 440. xiii. 33, &c. 132, &c. 336, &c. 371, &c. xiv. 130, 225, &c. xv. 286, &c. xvi. 33, &c. xvii. 11, 297. xviii. 367. xix. 125, 315.
- Aristotle, v. 367. xiii. 48.
- Artemidorus, iii. 456.
- Athænaus, iv. 386. v. 208, &c. 364. vi. 74. xii. 203.
- Aulus Gellius, v. 269.
- Axum, Inscription at, i. 83.
- Beroot, Inscription at, viii. 185.
- Biblical Criticism, ii. 800. v. 188.
- Bion, xiii. 249.
- Cæsar, xi. 15.
- Callimachus, ix. 299. xvii. 361.
- Catullus, x. 169.
- Chionides, xii. 441.
- Cicero, iv. 131. v. 428. vi. 376. xi. 15, 56, xvii. 13.

- Claudian, xviii. 232.
 Clemens Alex. v. 212, 361.
 Conjecturæ Criticæ, ii. 892.
 Cornelius Nepos, xi. 58.
 Crates, xii. 444.
 Cratinus, xii. 455.
 Curtius, Quintus, v. 427.

 Damietta, Inscription at, i. 93.
 Delian Inscription, i. 94.
 Demades, v. 368.
 Demosthenes, vi. 74. xii. 204.
 Dinarchus, v. 210.
 Dioclet, xii. 443.
 Diodorus, v. 207.
 Dionys. Perieg. ix. 301.
 Diphilus, xii. 446.

 Epicharmus, iv. 384. xii. 442.
 Epiphanius, v. 209.
 Etymol. M. iv. 389.
 Eubulus, xii. 445.
 Eunapius, v. 367.
 Eupolis, xii. 442.
 Euripides, i. 133, 263, 340. ii.
     563, 609. v. 202. vi. 76, &c.
     324. vii. 303, 37, 407. viii.
     81, 141, 205, 389, 391,
     420. ix. 16, 50, 293. x.
     14, 34, 99, 369. xi. 11, 27.
     xii. 30, 213, 445. xiii. 178.
     xvi. 38. xvii. 299. xviii. 344.
     xix. 273. xx. 78, 80. 272,
     &c.
 Eustathius, vi. 74. ix. 300.

 Fiorillo on the Greek Inscription in Chio, i. 117.

 Gorgias, v. 368.
 Græca Inscriptio, xi. 183.
 Gregorius Nyssenus vii. 127.

 Heliodorus, v. 206, 364.
 Hephæstion, vi. 147.
 Heracides Ponticus, xv. 81.
 Hermippus, xii. 448.
 Hermogenes, vi. 409. viii. 157.
 Herodotus, iii. 456. v. 363.
     viii. 127. ix. 490. xviii. 240.
 Hesychius, iv. 387. v. 305.
     vii. 368. viii. 436. ix. 289.
     x. 62. xii. 446. xiv. 304.
 Hierocles, vi. 74.
 Homer, vi. 47. vii. 409. viii. 5.
     ix. 38, 604. xi. 11. xvii. 270.
     xx. 11.
 Homeri Schol. y. 198.
 Horace, iv. 501. vi. 97, &c.
     145. ix. 526. xvi. 383. xvii.
     17. xviii. 126.

 Inscriptio Actiaca, xvii. 367.
 Ionic Temple, Inscription on,
     ii. 521, 897.
 Isæus, v. 363, &c.

 Juilian, iv. 52. vii. 441.
 Juvenal, v. 416. vi. 125. vii.
     236. xi. 14. xv. 22.

 Libanius, xi. 53.
 Livy, v. 427. xi. 54. xv. 368.
     xix. 326. xx. 7.
 Longinus, ii. 818. iii. 64. v. 40.
     vi. 74. xvii. 349.
 Longin. Fragm. xvii. 205.
 Longus, vi. 74.
 Lucan, xvii. 14.

Lucian, vi. 126. ix. 158. xi. 52,
199. xiii. 71, &c. xiv. 77,
&c. xv. 151. xvi. 232. xvii.
326. xviii. 48, 317. xix. 24.

Lysias, v. 363.

Lysippus, xii. 448:

Menander, xvii. 102. xii. 439.

Minucius, Felix, ix. 94, 235.

Moschus, xiii. 249.

Nichandri Theriac. Schol. iv.
389.

Nicocharas, xii. 444.

Nonnus, vi. 74.

Ovid; ii. 740. xi. 178, 334. xix.
168, 258. xiv. 205.

Panyasis, xiii. 981.

Pausanias, xiii. 320. 323.

Persius, viii. 175.

Phædrus, xiii. 368. xvi. 75, 78,
&c.

Phavorinus, xi. 323.

Pherocrates, xii. 443.

Philemon, xii. 449.

Philippides, xii. 448.

Philostratus, xi. 33.

Philyllas, xii. 441.

Photius, xi. 323. xvi. 388.

Phrynichus, xii. 443.

Plato, xii. 447.

Plautus, x. 184.

Pliny, vi. 158.

Plutarch, xi. 322. xii. 200,
201.

Pollux, Julius; iii. 453, 459.
xii. 185, 438.

Polybius, v. 208, &c. 364.
ix. 300.

Polyzelus, xii. 442.

Posidippus, xii. 446.

Procopius, vi. 74.

Propertius, vii. 405. xiii. 200,
415. xiv. 216.

Sappho, i. 140. iv. 81. xii.
446. xv. 15.

Schol. Soph. viii. 127.

Shakspeare, vii. 129.

Simonides, xiii. 170, 382, &c.
xvi. 219, 220, &c. xvii. 323.

Solon, xii. 445.

Solonis fragmentum, xix. 190.

Sophocles, i. 331. v. 36. vi.
74, 343. vii. 244, 406.

viii. 83, 390, 393. ix. 465.
x. 12, 294. xii. 445. xiii.

245. xv. 371. xvii. 52. xx.
199, &c.

Sophonon, iv. 386, &c.

Stobæus, vi. 79. xii. 446. xvii.
435.

Strabo restored, ix. 113.

Strattis, xii. 441.

Suidas, xi. 323.

Synesius, v. 204. 363.

Tacitus, ix. 101.

Teleclides, xii. 448.

Theocritus, ix. 297. xiii. 248.

Theognis, xv. 220. xvi. 217,
224.

Theopompus, xii. 449.

Thucydides, ii. 592. v. 364.

Timocles, xii. 443.

Varro, iii. 452.

Velleius, xii. 203.

Virgil, x. 57, 387. xi. 364.

Xenophon, iii. 451, &c. iv.
131.

